Overview & Current Events

Kontoor Brands is an apparel company that focuses on what it calls “lifestyle apparel”. The company, which was spun off from V.F. Corporation (VFC) in 2019, owns some of the world’s most iconic denim brands, including Wrangler, Lee, and Rock & Republic. Kontoor Brands is a US-focused company, just around 30% of its revenues are generated outside of the United States. Kontoor is headquartered in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Kontoor Brands reported its second quarter financial results in August. The company reported that its revenue grew by 25% compared to the previous year’s quarter, to $610 million. Revenues came in $10 million lower than what the analyst community had forecasted. Kontoor Brands’ revenues grew thanks to strong consumer spending in the quarter, but the growth rate also was high due to an easy comparison with the weak Q2 of 2021.

Kontoor Brands’ earnings-per-share totaled $1.09 during the second quarter, beating the analyst consensus estimate by a sizeable $0.13. Kontoor Brands’ revenue growth could be turned into an attractive earnings growth rate. In fact, Kontoor Brands’ earnings-per-share more than doubled compared to the previous year’s quarter. This can be explained by margin expansion, stemming primarily from higher operating leverage that was driven by the revenue gains during the period. Inflation played a role as well, as it allowed for price increases that helped drive revenue and protect margins. Kontoor Brands delivered strong earnings-per-share considering the environment where other consumer discretionary companies missed profit estimates, while Kontoor beat the analyst consensus. For the current year, management is now forecasting earnings-per-share of $4.40 to $4.50, which is a small decrease versus the previous guidance range, and which means that profits will rise meaningfully during the current year as long as Kontoor Brands manages to hit the guidance range in 2022.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
EPS	N/A	$3.84	$2.61	$4.28	$4.45	$5.03
DPS	N/A	$2.24	$0.96	$1.66	$1.84	$2.13
Shares<sup>1</sup>	N/A	57.9	58.4	58.8	59.0	60.0

Kontoor Brands was spun off not too long ago, thus there is no long-term data available. Due to the nature of the industry Kontoor Brands is active in, it has to be expected that this is a vulnerable business during recessions.

For 2020, Kontoor Brands forecasted solid results before the coronavirus emerged, although the divestment of some business lines was seen as a headwind to revenues and profits. Management had previously forecasted revenue growth in the low-single-digits for 2020 and 2021, before the pandemic emerged.

The spread of the virus in the US and around the world hurt Kontoor Brands’ fiscal 2020 results badly, although the back half of the year was not too bad, thanks to the fact that stores started to reopen, which allowed Kontoor Brands to sell more merchandise. This allowed the company to still be profitable in 2020, despite major headwinds. With the impact of the pandemic passing, Kontoor has recovered to substantially higher profitability levels once again.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/E	N/A	10.9	15.7	11.9	8.1	11.0
Avg. Yld.	N/A	5.3%	3.9%	3.3%	5.1%	3.9%

Finding a fair value for Kontoor Brands is difficult because it does not have a long history as a standalone company. We can, however, look at the historical valuation of its prior parent company. V.F. Corporation has mostly traded at a high-teens multiple in the past. Since Kontoor Brands was created to separate V.F. Corporation's slow-growing legacy brands from its faster-growing core businesses, Kontoor Brands should trade at a discount to that. Based on our current earnings estimate, shares are trading below fair value at the current high single digits earnings multiple.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	N/A	58.3%	36.8%	38.8%	41.3%	42.4%

Kontoor Brands' investment case was primarily centered on a high dividend yield that looked like it was covered in a solid way before the pandemic, which devastated the industry. The dividend has been reinstated following a suspension during the peak of the pandemic, but the new payout is lower compared to pre-crisis dividend levels.

Kontoor Brands' competitive advantage lies in its ownership of some of the world's most popular denim brands, Lee's and Wrangler in particular control a large amount of market share in the denim category. The company is vulnerable to economic downturns, which is being showcased during the current pandemic.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Kontoor Brands is a consumer goods company that was created through a spin-off of some low-growth businesses. We believe that the company's earnings and revenues could continue to grow slightly in the coming years. Shares are trading below our fair value estimate right now, and forecasted total returns look compelling, at more than 12%. We therefore rate Kontoor Brands a buy at current prices.
