RPM International manufactures, markets and distributes chemical products to industrial, retail and specialty customers. The majority of sales are made to industrial customers. RPM was founded in 1947 and employs almost 13,000 people today. The company has a current market capitalization of $8 billion, with annual sales of $5.6 billion.

RPM released financial results for the second quarter of fiscal 2019 on 1/4/2019. The company earned $0.52 per share, $0.15 above estimates, but a 25% decline from the previous year. Revenue grew 3.6% to a second quarter record $1.36 billion, though this was $13 million below what analysts expected. Organic growth was 3.3% during the quarter.

RPM's industrial segment grew 2.1%, with organic growth of 3.3%, primarily due to gains in corrosion control coatings, concrete admixture and repair products. Sales for the company's consumer division grew 4.1%, with 2.8% organic growth, due to price increases initiated in the first quarter. The specialty division had quarterly sales growth of 7.6%, with 2.3% organic growth, as wood coatings, powered coatings and fluorescent colorants all had strong demand. RPM's financial results were negatively impacted by currency translation and higher costs for raw materials, freight, labor and energy. SG&A expenses improved 30 bps.

RPM released financial results for the third quarter of fiscal 2019 on 4/4/2019. Earnings-per-share totaled $0.14, $0.03 higher than anticipated, but a 52% decline from the prior year. Revenue grew 3.4% to $1.14 billion, with 4.3% organic growth. Foreign exchange reduced sales by 3% during the quarter.

Revenues for the company's industrial segment were higher by 2.1%, with 4.8% organic growth, as the North America region businesses were strong. Sales for the consumer segment increased 6%, with organic growth of 5.3%, because of gains in the small project paints category. Specialty revenues were up 2.7%, with organic growth of 0.6%, as demand improved for fluorescent colorants and marine coatings. Financial results were once again negatively impacted by currency translation and increases in raw and labor costs.

Through the first nine months of fiscal 2019, RPM's free cash flow has improved 3.3% and the company spent $400 million on share repurchases. We expect RPM to earn $2.56 per share in fiscal 2019, down from our previous estimate of $3.33 due to currency translation and increased input costs.

The last recession had a severe impact on the RPM's earnings, which saw a decline of 42% from 2008 to 2009. It was not until 2013 that RPM's earnings numbers recovered above 2008's total. In recent years, growth has been much steadier. From 2008-2017, earnings per share grew at a rate of 3% per year. Coming off the lows of the last recession, earnings have grown at a rate of 10%. In order to account for the likely declines in earnings during the next recession, we feel comfortable forecasting a 5% EPS growth rate going forward. Organic growth is expected to be the primary contributor.

Growth slowed during the last recession, but RPM was able to maintain and increase its payments to shareholders even in an adverse economic climate. The company has increased its dividend for the past 44 years. RPM increased its dividend by 9.4% for the October payment, well above the company's 10-year CAGR of 5.2%.

Valuation Analysis

| Year      | 2009 | 2010 | 2011 | 2012 | 2013 | 2014 | 2015 | 2016 | 2017 | 2018 | Now  | 2024 |
|-----------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|
| Avg. P/E  | 15.2 | 12.9 | 14.5 | 14   | 15.9 | 17.7 | 19.8 | 17.3 | 21.2 | 15.9 | 23.8 | 16.1 |
| Avg. Yld. | 4.9% | 4.4% | 4.0% | 3.7% | 3.1% | 2.5% | 2.2% | 2.4% | 2.2% | 2.6% | 2.3% | 3.4% |

Shares of RPM have increased $1, or 1.7%, since our October 7th update. Due to our reduction in expected EPS for the current year, the price-to-earnings ratio is 23.8. Mean reversion to our target price-to-earnings ratio of 16.1 implies a 7.5% annual valuation contraction if it occurred over a 5-year time period.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

| Year   | 2009 | 2010 | 2011 | 2012 | 2013 | 2014 | 2015 | 2016 | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 | 2024 |
| Payout | 75%  | 57%  | 58%  | 52%  | 49%  | 44%  | 43%  | 41%  | 48%  | 47%  | 55%  | 55%  |

RPM is not recession proof, as shown by the company's decline in earnings, and in the time that it took for EPS growth to return to the company. The company also has a high level of debt that could make acquisitions or high dividend growth difficult if earnings were to weaken.

RPM is a leading manufacturer and distributor of paints, coatings, construction chemicals, colorants and adhesives to consumers, contractors or construction businesses. These businesses perform well when the economy is growing due to the increases in construction and home improvement spending. However, RPM is very susceptible to recessions.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

While RPM International's share price has increased slightly since our last report, we have lowered our expected earnings-per-share for the fiscal year. Currency translation and higher raw costs had impacted the company's bottom line. We now expect that RPM can offer a total return loss of 0.2% annually through 2024. This estimate is based off of earnings growth (5%), dividends (2.3%) and multiple contraction (7.5%). Due to lower expected EPS, we have decreased our 2024 price target $15 to $53. RPM earns a sell recommendation for Sure Dividend at this time.
