Overview & Current Events

National Fuel Gas Co. is a diversified energy company that operates in five business segments: Exploration & Production, Pipeline & Storage, Gathering, Utility, and Energy Marketing. The company's largest segment is Exploration & Production. National Fuel Gas was founded in 1902 and has grown to a market capitalization of $4.9 billion. With 48 years of consecutive dividend increases, National Fuel Gas qualifies to be a Dividend Champion.

In early May, National Fuel Gas reported (5/2/19) financial results for the second quarter of fiscal 2019. The company benefited from 6% production growth, primarily thanks to 8% growth in Appalachian natural gas output, and a 2% increase in average price of natural gas over last year's quarter, after the effect of hedging. Moreover, the utility segment grew its earnings 7%. However, the expiration of a large transportation contract in the interstate pipeline business resulted in a 4% decrease of the earnings-per-share, from $1.11 to $1.07. As the company missed the analysts' estimates by $0.07 per share, we revised our earnings-per-share forecast for this year by 1%, from $3.55 to $3.51.

Management reduced its guidance for production growth in this fiscal year, from 24% to 18%, and thus it now expects production of 205-215 Bcfe (instead of 220 Bcfe). Nevertheless, management reiterated its earnings-per-share guidance of $3.45-$3.65 for fiscal 2019. Moreover, given the large undeveloped acreage position of the company, management expects sustained production growth over the next decade.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Shares	80.5	82.1	82.9	83.3	83.7	84.2	84.6	85.1	85.5	86.0	87.0	90.0

National Fuel Gas' earnings have barely grown over the last ten years. Earnings-per-share have compounded at a rate of 0.5% per year over the last 10 years. With that said, this includes a difficult ten-year stretch that includes both the 2007-2009 financial crisis as well as the precipitous drop in natural gas prices that began in 2014. We are forecasting 2% long-term earnings-per-share growth for this Dividend Champion, which allows us to calculate a 2024 earnings-per-share estimate of $3.88.

Investors should note that 90% of the production of National Fuel Gas is natural gas. Therefore, as the Exploration & Production segment generates about half of total earnings, the earnings of the company greatly depend on the price of natural gas. As a result, there is always great uncertainty in the long-term forecasts of the earnings of this company.

fair value for this blue-chip Dividend Champion. If the company returns to fair value over the next five years, annualized returns will receive a 2.1% boost.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2024
Payout	50.8%	51.3%	45.3%	54.8%	47.1%	43.2%	---	---	49.7%	50.3%	49.0%	49.5%

National Fuel Gas has a healthy balance sheet while its interest coverage level stands at a decent level, around 6.0. Moreover, its dividend payout ratio is sufficiently low to enable continued dividend growth even if earnings stall temporarily. Management has always targeted a dividend payout ratio around 50% in order to have a high margin of safety against the wide fluctuations of the price of natural gas. As the 3.0% dividend yield of National Fuel Gas is much higher than the yield of S&P (1.8%), the stock may entice income-oriented investors. However, these investors should be aware of the company's high dependence on the price of natural gas.

Qualitatively, National Fuel Gas' competitive advantage is its combination of regulated and stable businesses (like pipelines and utilities) with cyclical and potentially higher-growth sectors (like exploration & production). This allows the company to endure difficult operating environments with less difficulty than its peers who may focus exclusively on the more cyclical areas of the energy sector.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Thanks to its sustained production growth and lower operating costs, National Fuel Gas could offer a 7.1% average annual return over the next five years. However, this return expectation is lackluster, particularly given the poor financial performance of the company in recent years and its heavy dependence on the price of natural gas. We rate National Fuel Gas as a hold at current prices.
