Overview & Current Events

Founded in 1941 by Sid Jacobson, MSC Industrial Direct (MSM) is one the largest direct marketers and distributors of metalworking and maintenance, repair and operations (MRO) products in North America. The company has 12 fulfillment centers (8 in the U.S., 3 in Canada and 1 in the U.K.) and 99 branch offices. MSM is a $4.0 billion market cap company that employees over 6,500 people.

On July 10th, 2019 MSM reported Q3 fiscal year 2019 results. Net sales came in at $867 million, a 4.6% increase compared to the prior year period. Operating income totaled $111 million, a decrease of 4.2% year-over-year.

Diluted earnings-per-share for the quarter was $1.44, a 3.6% YoY gain, but lower than management guided for at the end of the last quarter. For the year-to-date, MSM's earnings have fallen 11%. Management has expressed their disappointment in their current earnings and are implementing a three-part action plan to lift earnings.

The company has increased the quarterly dividend by 19% to $0.75 per share beginning with the July dividend payable in August. Guidance provided for the next quarter calls for sales growth of 2.2% and diluted EPS of $1.21 to $1.27, representing a 3.9% drop from the same period a year ago.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2024
EPS	$2.00	$2.37	$3.43	$4.11	$3.91	$3.94	$3.78	$3.76	$4.00	$5.10	$5.23	$6.84
DPS	$0.80	$0.82	$0.88	$1.00	$1.20	$1.32	$1.60	$1.72	$1.80	$2.22	$2.76	$3.52
Shares	63	63	63	63	63	62	62	57	56	56	55	50

Dating back to fiscal year 2008 (one year prior to what you see above and totaling $3.04 per share), MSM had grown earnings-per-share by a compound annual rate in the 5% to 6% range, and we rate this a fair expectation going forward. Unfortunately, product demand has dropped in the second half of 2019 and uncertainty remains in the pricing environment largely due to tariffs and trade. The company still struggles to increase margins even after completing a stream of acquisitions and investments, and efforts to reduce headcount and other expenses. The three-part action plan being implemented aims to improve sales execution and new account implementations, increase profitability in supplier programs and further increase expense control and productivity. On the bright side, pace of new accounts and vending implementations are growing quickly. The emergence of Amazon is a threat; however, MSM's business is difficult to replicate and the company has thrived over the last several years.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	Now	2024

During the past decade shares of MSM have traded hands with an average P/E ratio of about 19 times earnings. We credit this premium multiple to three basic items: a solid and growing business, a conservative balance sheet and a large family stake. MSM is effectively a third-generation company (the founder's grandson is now CEO) with the family owning about a fourth of the economic interest of MSM and having majority of the voting power. It’s not uncommon to see a premium valuation when you combine those factors. We have tempered this expectation slightly, but still notice that shares are trading at a below average multiple historically.

It’s also worthwhile to note that MSM paid a special dividend in 2005, 2011 and 2015. The company has been moderately active on the share repurchase front, but this is another type of “release valve” for excess capital.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2024
Payout	40%	35%	26%	24%	31%	34%	42%	46%	45%	44%	53%	51%

MSM’s competitive advantage stems from its superior scale and execution. The company has over 1.6 million skus and yet boasts of a 99% same day order fulfillment rate. It is true that Amazon is a formidable threat, but thus far MSM has been able to ward off attacks through its niche market relationships. A greater overall threat to the business is the possibility of American manufacturing, especially metalworking, moving overseas.

During the last recession MSM’s performance was average, posting earnings-per-share of $3.04, $2.00, $2.37 and $3.43 for the fiscal years ending 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 respectively. Earnings are likely to be cyclical in the future, but the overall trend has been largely positive. As of the last quarterly report, long-term debt stood at $285 million against underlying earnings power north of $300 million. This company appears safe and conservatively financed.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

MSM is one of those companies that can easily slide under the radar unless you’re directly involved in the supply chain. The general public doesn’t see a strong brand fronting the business, so it can be difficult to conceptualize the company’s competitive position. Yet due to MSM’s scale, dependability and niche relationships the company has developed a consistent profit machine. Moreover, the business has growth opportunities as a highly fragmented industry consolidates to the larger players. Total returns going forward are estimated at 13.7%, which includes a 4.1% dividend, 4.1% growth from multiple expansion, and 5.5% growth in earnings. Due to expected total returns exceeding 10% and the stock price trading 20% below fair value, we rate MSC Industrial Direct a buy.
