Overview & Current Events

RLI Corp. is an insurance company that operates the following business units: Casualty (healthcare & transportation insurance), Property (fire, earthquake, difference in conditions, marine, etc.) and Surety (contract surety coverage, licenses, and bonds). RLI was founded in 1965 and is currently valued at $4.3 billion.

RLI Corporation reported its third quarter earnings results on October 16. The company reported revenues of $237 million for the quarter, which represents a decrease of 1.5% compared to the revenues that RLI Corporation generated during the previous year's quarter. Gross written premiums rose by 16% year over year, while investment income rose by a solid 7% compared to the prior year's quarter. The revenue decline can be attributed to a lower level of realized gains in RLI's equity portfolio, while underlying growth, showcased by the increase in written premiums, remained at an attractive level.

RLI Corporation earned $0.57 per share on an adjusted basis, which was 24% more than the earnings-per-share that RLI Corporation generated during the third quarter of the previous year. The strong profit growth rate in Q3 was not an absolute outlier, as RLI also performed well during Q1 and Q2, which makes it likely that 2019's earnings-per-share will come in higher than RLI Corporation's earnings-per-share during fiscal 2018.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

RLI Corp. has not been able to grow its profits consistently over the last decade. Profitability remained high through the last financial crisis, which is a positive, but since then, earnings have gone up and down without any clear direction. This is, in large part, because low interest rates have reduced the income RLI can generate with its insurance float.

Rising interest rates were a positive for the company's profitability over the last couple of quarters, but now that the Fed has gone back to a more dovish policy, this tailwind will likely disappear. Tax legislation changes are a tailwind for RLI Corporation, as this has increased the company's net earnings relative to the operating profits that the company generates. We believe that RLI Corporation should be able to grow its profits slightly going forward, as written premiums continue to grow, which provides some revenue growth tailwinds over the coming years. Due to the company's choppy earnings history, we do not forecast a high long-term earnings-per-share growth rate, though; instead we believe that 2% annual earnings-per-share growth is realistic.

RLI has increased its dividend by 6% annually through the last decade, which was primarily possible due to a steady increase in the company's dividend payout ratio. Since the payout ratio is still quite low, RLI should be able to keep its dividends growing going forward, even with only modest expected earnings-per-share growth ahead. RLI has, in addition to its regular dividends, made many special dividend payments over the last couple of years.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	Now	2024
Avg. P/E	10.8	10.4	11.0	16.9	15.6	17.2	21.1	31.1	34.3	33.7	38.0	17.0
Avg. Yld.	2.1%	2.1%	1.9%	1.8%	1.7%	1.6%	1.4%	1.2%	1.4%	1.3%	1.0%	2.5%

RLI Corporation's price to earnings multiple has been moving in a very wide range over the last decade. Shares were valued at a low-double-digit price to earnings multiple shortly after the financial crisis, but the company's valuation exploded upwards over the last couple of years. Shares trade at a massive premium relative to how shares were valued in the past, which is why we see huge downside risk for RLI Corporation's share price.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2024
Payout	23.0%	21.4%	21.4%	31.2%	26.1%	27.1%	29.6%	38.0%	49.7%	42.4%	36.8%	42.5%

RLI Corporation has raised its regular dividend very steadily over the last couple of years, which was possible due to ongoing increases in the company's payout ratio. RLI Corporation still pays out less than half of its profits in the form of regular dividends, which makes the payout look sufficiently safe for the foreseeable future. Due to RLI Corporation's very low dividend yield we do not believe that shares are attractive for income investors.

Many financial corporations, including some insurers, experienced significant difficulty during the last recession. RLI remained profitable, and its earnings-per-share actually increased during the 2008 to 2010 time frame. We believe that RLI Corporation will be relatively stable during future recessions as well. Compared to other corporations from the financial industry, RLI Corporation thus looks like a more stable, lower-risk pick.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

RLI Corporation is a smaller insurance company which produced strong underlying results year to date, with written premiums and investment income rising substantially. Earnings will likely continue to grow during the next couple of years, but we see substantial deceleration in its earnings growth, as RLI Corporation does not have a strong track record when it comes to generating earnings-per-share growth. We believe that shares are heavily overvalued today, and because of this, RLI Corporation earns a sell recommendation from Sure Dividend at current prices.
