Overview & Current Events

Sanofi, a global pharmaceutical leader, incorporated in 1994. The company develops and markets a variety of therapeutic treatments and vaccines. Pharmaceuticals account for ~72% of sales, vaccines makeup ~15% of sales and consumer healthcare contributing the remainder of sales. Sanofi is truly a global leader, with a third of sales coming from the U.S., a little more than a quarter coming from Western Europe, and the remainder of sales coming from emerging markets/rest of the world. Sanofi produces more than €34 billion annual revenues.

Sanofi is incorporated in France, but U.S. investors have access to the company through an American Depositary Receipt, or ADR. Sanofi's ADR are highly liquid and easily invested in through almost any broker. The stock has a market capitalization of nearly $114 billion in the US.

In addition to research and development, Sanofi has also used acquisitions to produce growth. The company paid $11.6 billion for Bioverativ, which closed in March of this year, and $4.8 billion for Ablynx, which closed in June of 2018. These purchases have given Sanofi access to the markets for rare blood disorders, one of the higher growth markets in pharmaceuticals. These acquisitions also give the company a large presence in emerging markets, as well as new diabetes and skin cancer drugs.

Sanofi reported earnings results for the third quarter on 11/1/2019. Unless otherwise noted, all figures are listed in U.S. dollars and constant exchange rates. Revenue of $10.6 billion was down 0.4% from the previous year, but was $96 million higher than expected. The company earned $1.07 per ADR share during the quarter, topping estimates by $0.03 and growing 3% from the prior year.

The pharmaceutical division grew 1.5% as a 19.5% increase in the company's specialty care business offset a 17.5% drop in primary care. Immunology continues to be the main driver of growth, as sales for these drugs improved 140%.

Dupixent, which was approved in the third quarter of last year for treatment in the U.S. for patients with moderate-to-severe asthma, grew 142% due to rapid uptake. Dupixent is now approved for use in 30 countries, seven of which have approved the product for multiple indications. Oncology sales improved more than 9%. Sales for Jevtana, which treats prostate cancer that has spread to other parts of the body, increased 8.5% due to higher demand in the U.S. and Japan. Rare diseases grew 33% and was led by a 7.7% increase for Myozyme/Lumizyme, which treats Pompe disease. In diabetes, sales for Lantus, which is used to improve blood sugar control in adults and children with diabetes, were lower by 17.5% due to lower net pricing and an increased contribution to the coverage gap related to Medicare Part D. Sales for vaccines dropped 10%, though this was mostly due to U.S. flu vaccines being stockpiled for the fourth quarter instead of the third quarter. Emerging markets were up almost 10%.

Sanofi SA (SNY)

Updated November 1st, 2019 by Nathan Parsh

Sanofi saw earnings growth during the last recession, though there has been some variance in results in the past few years. This is the case with many ADRs and is often a result of currency fluctuations. We expect the company's pharmaceutical segment to continue to show growth in the coming years, leading to a 4% annual increase in earnings and dividends per share through 2024.

The fluctuations in dividends received for the ADR is, again, due largely to currency exchanges, as Sanofi has increased its dividend for 25 consecutive years in its local currency. Sanofi pays an annual dividend each June.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	Now	2024

Shares of Sanofi have increased $3, or 7%, since our 7/29/2019 update. We maintain our 2024 target price-to-earnings ratio of 16, which is in line with peers. Based off of guidance for earnings-per-share for 2019, shares trade with a price-to-earnings multiple of 14.1 today. If the stock expanded to its historical average, investors would see an additional 2.5% in annual returns through 2024. The stock's 3.8% yield is double the yield of the S&P 500.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2009	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2024
Payout	48%	53%	59%	65%	85%	96%	89%	93%	70%	58%	53%	53%

Sanofi's specialty care division, especially in the areas of rare disease and immunology, have demonstrated high rates of growth. These areas are likely to be continued sources of strength for the company. Several of these products, such as Dupixent, are just starting to gain traction. Sanofi has also showed a willingness to use acquisitions to fund its growth. Given Sanofi's products are used to treat diseases, and thus, shouldn't be dependent upon strong economic conditions, we see Sanofi as a defensive play for when the next recession strikes.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Following third quarter earnings results, Sanofi is expected to return 9.8% per year through 2024, down from 12.1% previously. The company produced another strong quarter in specialty care. Top products continue to grow, which were again highlighted by growing demand for Dupixent. Vaccines were down due to flu vaccines in the U.S. shifting from the third quarter last year to the fourth quarter this year. We remain bullish on Sanofi due to these factors and maintain our buy rating on the stock. Investors looking for an international health care company should consider buying the stock at the current level.
