Overview & Current Events

Verizon Communications was created by a merger between Bell Atlantic Corp and GTE Corp in June 2000. Verizon is one of the largest wireless carriers in the country. Wireless contributes three-quarters of all revenues, and broadband and cable services account for about a quarter of sales. The company's network covers $\sim 300$ million people and $98 \%$ of the U.S. Verizon has now launched 5 G Ultra-Wideband in several cities as it continues its rollout of 5 G service. At the end of July 2019, customers in parts of Atlanta, Detroit, Indianapolis and Washington, D.C. were able to access the company's $5 G$ network. 5 G service for Dallas and Omaha was activated on 10/25/2019. Verizon is the first of the major carriers to turn on 5 G service.
Verizon reported earnings results for the second quarter on $7 / 24 / 2020$. Revenue decreased $5.3 \%$ to $$ 30.4$ billion, but topped estimates by $$ 420$ million. Adjusted earnings-per-share declined $$ 0.05$, or $4.1 \%$, to $$ 1.18$, but was $$ 0.03$ ahead of estimates. Wireless revenue was down $1.7 \%$ to $$ 15.9$ billion. Total retail postpaid net additions were 352 K , including 287 K postpaid smart phone net additions. At just $0.78 \%$, retail postpaid churn remains very low. Consumer sales were down $4 \%$, but this segment had net additions of 72 K . Fios, which has struggled recently, had 10K net additions during the quarter. Media sales, however, were down $24 \%$ to $$ 1.4$ billion. Business revenues were down $3.7 \%$, but added a net 280 K postpaid net additions. Verizon reiterates its belief that the company will have adjusted earnings-per-share growth in a range of $-2 \%$ to $2 \%$ for 2020.

Verizon has seen its earnings-per-share grow at a rate of almost 5\% per year for the past 10 years. We have lowered our forward growth rate to $4 \%$ from $5 \%$ due to the company's guidance of low-single-digit earnings growth. While a lower growth rate is not an ideal situation, Verizon is a clear beneficiary of a lower tax rate. Free cash flow generation remains sizable, with Verizon generating around $10 billion annually. The company's effective tax rate should be ~24\% in 2020. Applying our expected earnings growth rate to the company's guidance for 2020 means that shares of Verizon could earn $$ 5.85$ per share by 2025.
Verizon increased its dividend $2.1 \%$ for the 11/1/2019 payment. We have reduced our expectations for annual dividend increases to $2 \%$ from $4 \%$ given the company's history of low-single-digit growth.

Updated July 24th, 2020 by Nathan Parsh
Shares of Verizon are flat since our 4/24/2020 update. Based off of the current share price and expectations for 2020 adjusted earnings-per-share, Verizon has a forward P/E of 11.9. We have reaffirmed our target P/E ratio of 13 due to low growth projections. If shares were to return to this ratio by 2025, the valuation could add $1.9 \%$ to total annual returns over this period of time. With a dividend yield above 4\%, Verizon's stock offers investors a yield that is more than double that of the S&P 500.

While investors aren't likely to see a sizeable pickup in earnings growth, Verizon offers a very high and stable dividend yield. The company has seen its cash flow increase dramatically thanks to a lower tax rate. While the current net debt level is still high, it has been reduced recently.
One of Verizon's key competitive advantages is that is often considered the best wireless carrier in the U.S. This is evidenced by the company's wireless net additions and very low churn rate. This reliable service allows Verizon to maintain its customer base as well as give the company an opportunity to move customers to higher-priced plans. Verizon is also in the early stages of rolling out 5G service, which will give it an advantage over other carriers. Another advantage for Verizon is the stock's ability to withstand a downturn in the market. For example, the stock weathered the selloff in late 2018 very well, gaining almost 7\% for the year while the S&P 500 dropped 6\%.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Following second quarter earnings results, Verizon Communications is projected to return 9.4\% annually through 2025, matching our previous estimate. The ongoing COVID-19 pandemic did result in store closures during the second quarter, but the company's financials held up decently well. This should serve as a reminder that Verizon is very much a defensive company. Verizon did see positive net additions despite store closures and the company's churn rate remains very low. We maintain our 2025 price target of $$ 76$ as well as our buy rating on the stock. Verizon is an excellent addition to any conservative portfolio.
