Overview & Current Events

United Bankshares was formed in 1982 and since that time, has acquired more than 30 separate banking institutions. This focus on acquisitions, in addition to organic growth, has allowed United to expand into a regional powerhouse in the Mid-Atlantic with a $3.5 billion market capitalization, more than $25 billion in total assets, and annual revenue of nearly a billion dollars.

United reported second quarter earnings on July 24th, with both revenue and earnings coming in ahead of previouslylowered expectations. Earnings came to $53 million in Q2, down from $67 million in the year-ago period. Merger-related expenses from the Carolina Financial Corporation acquisition and higher loan loss provisions weighed on results. The bank forecasts potentially significant losses from the COVID-19 crisis. Earnings-per-share came to $0.44 on a fully-diluted basis, down from $0.66 in the same period last year.

Annualized return on average assets was just 0.87% in Q2, which is extremely low for a regional bank. In last year's Q2, ROAA was 1.38%.

Net interest income was $171 million in Q2, up $20 million, or 13% from the same period last year. The gain was due primarily to the Carolina Financial acquisition, but the bank also funded $1.3 billion in Paycheck Protection Program loans. Average earning assets rose 26% to $4.5 billion year-over-year due to these factors.

Average cost of funds for Q2 plummeted 84bps year-over-year as rates fell sharply during that period. However, the average earning yield on assets was down 97bps, more than offsetting the gain in cost of funds. Net interest margin came to 3.18%, down 35bps year-over-year.

We've slightly boosted our estimate of earnings-per-share to $2.10 for this year after decent Q2 results.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Earnings-per-share have been steadily moving higher in recent years with the exception of 2017, the product of higher noninterest expense from integrating Cardinal. However, that was a one-time blip as Cardinal was a huge acquisition for United and thus, going forward, we are expecting 2% annual earnings-per-share growth.

United can achieve this growth through continued asset base growth as well as margin expansion. Its asset base has grown on average by 11% annually in the past decade, and we expect that to be a primary source of growth moving forward. It grows organically but the main source of its success has been acquisitions, something it has proven willing and able to do on a large scale, including the recent purchase of Carolina Financial. In addition, continued low funding costs with rising market rates have allowed United to boost its margins, although this did not play out in 2019's results, nor at the beginning of 2020. We note that inverted yield curves generally don't last very long, so we still see interest margins as a long-term tailwind, even if short-term results are weaker. Investors should also keep in mind United funds acquisitions with stock, so the share count will likely continue to rise moving forward.

Valuation Analysis

|-----------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|
| Avg. P/E  | 15.7 | 15.5 | 15.9 | 16.4 | 16.6 | 19.4 | 19.3 | 23.6 | 14.7 | 14.6 | 12.8 | 12.0 |
| Avg. Yld. | 4.6% | 4.8% | 4.8% | 4.5% | 4.0% | 3.4% | 3.4% | 3.8% | 3.8% | 3.7% | 5.2% | 5.6% |

Given some concerns over peer valuations, as well as the current crisis, we moved our estimate of fair value to 12 times earnings from 13. We see increased risk for United given the relatively weak performance of the company's net interest margin in the past few quarters, and we think investors will pay slightly less for the stock as a result. The yield on the stock is still 5.2%, so it is a strong choice for income investors, and we think the dividend will rise at low single-digit rates over the intermediate-term.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

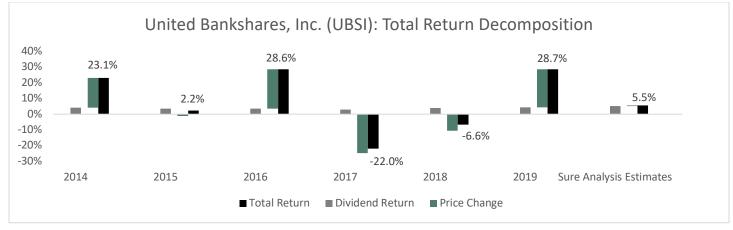

| Year   | 2010 | 2011 | 2012 | 2013 | 2014 | 2015 | 2016 | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 | 2020 | 2025 |
| Payout | 73%  | 72%  | 75%  | 73%  | 64%  | 64%  | 66%  | 87%  | 56%  | 54%  | 67%  | 67%  |

United's dividend payout ratio is now up to 67% of earnings, and we expect it will remain there for the foreseeable future. We see United's dividend as safe and able to weather an economic downturn, as it did during the Great Recession. The higher share count makes the dividend more costly, but United has raised its payout for nearly three decades with similar payout ratios.

United's competitive advantage is in its strong market position in the areas it serves. It is headquartered in West Virginia where competition is relatively light, and it is expanding into more densely populated areas like northern Virginia. That does not make it immune from recessions, but its performance in 2008 and 2009 was exemplary.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The recent selloff in the stock has increased the attractiveness of it from our perspective. We see total annual returns of 5.5% going forward, consisting of the current 5.2% yield, 2% earnings-per-share growth and a headwind from the valuation moving down over time. As a result, we are reiterating United at a hold rating.
