Overview & Current Events

1st Source was founded back in 1863 and since that time has grown into a regional bank with $7.3 billion in total assets. The company is headquartered in Indiana and has about 80 branches to service its customers. 1st Source's market capitalization is $861 million, and it is expected to produce in excess of $320 million in revenue this year. 1st Source also has an exceptional dividend increase streak that stands at 32 years, which very few banks can match.

1st Source reported third quarter earnings on October 22nd, with results coming in mixed, but generally in line with expectations. Net interest income was down $2.3 million, or -4.1%, year-over-year. Noninterest income rose $2.3 million, or 8.8%, from the year-ago period, more than offsetting lower net interest income, which was down due to lower average yields. Noninterest expenses were down fractionally against the same period a year ago.

Average loans and leases were up $104 million, or 1.9%, from this year's Q2, and up $578 million, or 11.4%, from the year-ago period. As with other banks, the Paycheck Protection Program saw the bank's loan book move drastically higher, but with very low average yields.

Average deposits were up $79 million, or 1.4%, from Q2, and rose $526 million, or 9.8%, year-over-year. Net charge-offs were $3.8 million, and nonperforming assets to loans and leases were 1.33%. Provisions for loan losses were $9.3 million, more than double from the year-ago period. Net income was $20.1 million, up 8.4% from Q2, but down -17.9% year-over-year. On a per-share basis, earnings came to $0.78, up from $0.72 in the previous quarter, but off from $0.95 in the same period last year.

After Q3 results, we've boosted our earnings-per-share estimate for this year to $3.00.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2025
EPS	$1.10	$1.78	$1.84	$2.03	$2.17	$2.17	$2.22	$2.52	$3.16	$3.58	$3.00	$3.31

Shares¹	27	27	27	27	26	26	26	26	26	26	25	23

Earnings-per-share growth has been robust since the bottom in 2009. Recent growth has been fueled by gains in the company's asset base, averaging 7%+ in the past four years. 1st Source's strong balance sheet growth has been accompanied by expanding margins and prudent operating expenditures, allowing for a rise in returns on its asset base. However, we are forecasting 2% growth, given the lending margin headwinds banks are facing, which are showing no signs of abating. 1st Source is trying to build more fee revenue, but its business is still heavily dependent upon lending margins, and we think growth will slow because of the unfavorable interest rate environment. Q3 results showed this in action as the loan book saw its value move meaningfully higher, but net interest income was lower.

Our expectation for the dividend is now $1.24 in 2025 as we think COVID-19-related economic weakness will force banks to conserve capital.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	Now	2025
Avg. P/E	14.5	10.9	11.3	11.8	12.8	13.9	15.3	18.4	16.4	13.1	11.6	11.5
Avg. Yld.	3.5%	3.0%	2.9%	2.6%	2.3%	2.2%	2.1%	1.6%	1.9%	2.4%	3.2%	3.2%

1st Source's price-to-earnings multiple has been fairly steady, all things considered, for the past decade. It is trading for 11.6 times earnings today, which is below its historical valuations. We therefore expect essentially no change from the valuation in the coming years. Likewise, we see the yield remaining about where it is today, at 3.2%.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2025
Payout	50%	33%	33%	31%	30%	32%	34%	30%	30%	31%	37%	37%

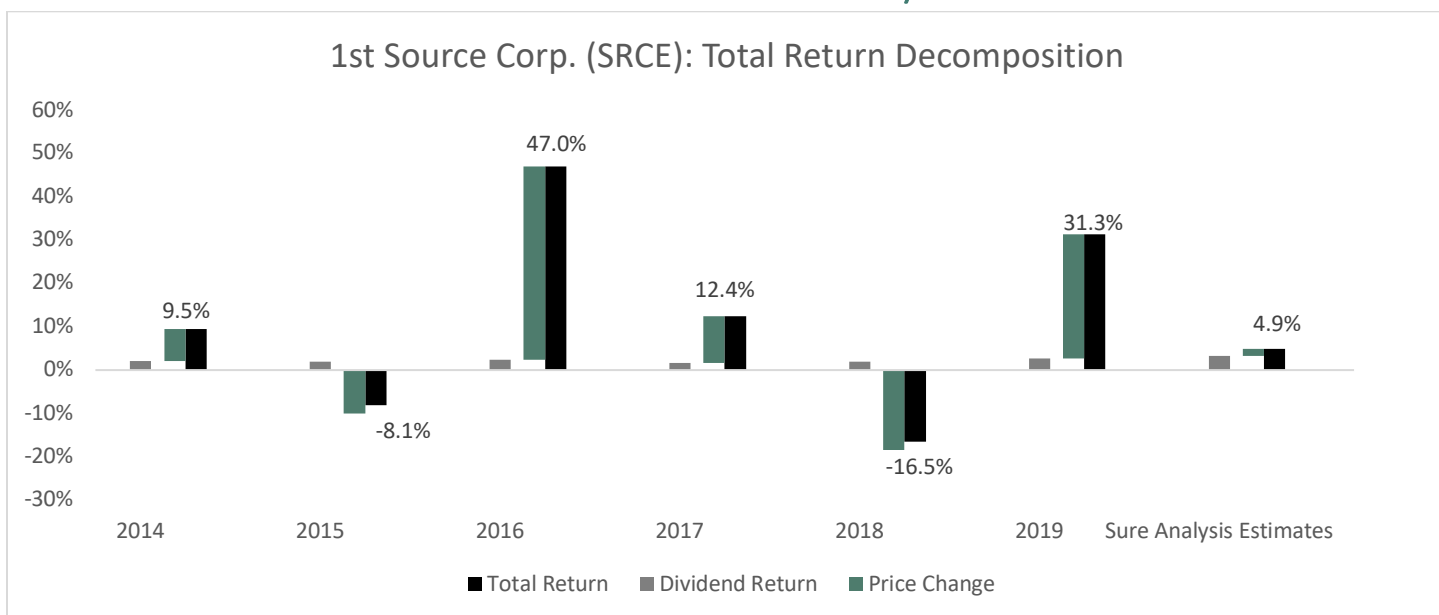

The payout ratio should be in the area of one-third of normalized earnings, given that dividend raises will likely be in line with earnings growth in the coming years. We see the dividend as safe and with a lot of room to grow given 1st Source's commitment to raising the payout, as well as the low payout ratio, and the bank's decent earnings growth rates.

1st Source's competitive advantage is in its clean balance sheet, strong profitability metrics and robust market position in the areas it serves. The advantage of a community or regional bank is that it can generate sizable market share in lots of small markets, creating a sustainable competitive advantage. It is obviously not immune from recessions but given its performance during the Great Recession, 1st Source looks well positioned for this economic downturn.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

We believe total returns for 1st Source investors could be 4.9% annually, consisting of the current 3.2% yield, a moderate tailwind from the valuation and low single-digit earnings-per-share growth. 1st Source is a high-quality bank stock, but we are reiterating our hold rating. 1st Source is one of the best regional banks in our coverage universe and we see the company as attractive, but there are much cheaper bank stocks for this unique environment. While we believe that 1st Source is coming through this crisis quite well, it is already priced as such.
