Overview & Current Events

The Gap Inc. is an American clothing and accessories retailer with a presence worldwide. The company was founded in 1982 by Nick Taylor, Donald Fisher, and Doris F. Fisher, and headquartered in San Francisco, California. The company has a market capitalization of $7.1 billion. The Gap operates six business lines: Gap, Banana Republic, Old Navy, Intermix, Hill City, and Athleta. The company has 3,814 stores worldwide.

Third-quarter earnings for Fiscal Year (FY)2020 were reported on November 24th, 2020. Online sales saw significant improvement for the company. Online sales rose year over year (YoY) by 61%, which added over 3.4 million new customers during the quarter; however, it was offset by a (20)% decline in-store sales. Thus, 40% of company sales were online in the third quarter. In total, revenue was down (0.1)% YoY, which is essentially flat. For the nine months of the year, revenue is down (19.9)%, from $9,376 million in FY2019 to now $11,709 million. Net Income saw a profit of $95 million vs. $140 million that was made last year. The company reported a net income loss of $(899) million for the year so far compared to a net income gain of $535 million for the first nine months of 2019. Thus, diluted earnings came in $.25 per share for the quarter and $(2.41) for the year thus far.

In comparison, The Company made $0.37 per share for the third quarter of 2019 and $1.41 per share for the nine months in 2019. The gross margin was 40%, which is a 160-basis point improvement versus last year. Operating expenses were 36.2% of sales, an increase of 270-basis points versus last year, reflecting in higher marketing investment across all brands and in spending to support health and safety measures in all stores. The company also ended the quarter with $2.5 billion cash and cash equivalents compared to $788 billion last year at the same time.

Because of the current environment, GAP's management team does not provide fiscal year net sales or earnings outlook. However, the general consensus is expecting earnings for the full year to come in negative. Since negative earnings are difficult to calculate the fair value and expected return rate, we will use the past five-year normalized earnings of $2.19 for our calculations.

The Gap has been experiencing operating margin compression over the past ten years. Operating margins ranged between 9.9% and 13.4% during the period from 2009 to 2014. The subsequent four years saw operating margins decrease to a range of 7.7% and 9.6%. As a result of rising operating costs through store closures and initiatives to revitalize its portfolio of brands, operating expenses will increase, resulting in lowered profit expectations. We believe that diluted earnings per share will decline over the next three years until the store closures and cost optimization initiatives are completed, increasing somewhat over a longer five-year horizon. The company has suspended the regular quarterly cash dividend for the remainder of the year. We do not know if the company will reinstate the prior quarterly dividend of $0.2425 sometime next year. Thus, we will assume that no dividends will be paid out until 2025.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	Now	2025
Avg. P/E	11	12.4	13	14.4	14.5	15.3	12	12.4	11.3	10.1	8.8	9.0
Avg. Yld.	1.9%	2.3%	1.6%	1.6%	2.1%	2.7%	3.8%	3.5%	3.3%	4.9%	---	---

The 2019 P/E of 10.1x fully reflects an extended period of slow growth and operational headwinds. We expect the effects of revitalizing the brands and optimizing store operating profits to begin after completing store closures in the fiscal year 2020. Consumer confidence has also taken a hit because of COVID-19. Hence, we expect a 5-year growth estimate of 0% over the next five years for now. This growth estimate will change as time goes on. Considering expectations of a marginal earnings decline in the near term and subsequent growth after that, we assume a fair 2025 P/E of 9.0x instead of the historical average PE of 12.2x.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2010	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2025
Payout	22%	21%	29%	21%	26%	31%	38%	46%	43%	49%	---	---

The Gap Inc. manages a portfolio of brands and has the size and capital strength to acquire new brands to bolster its business or engage in aggressive share repurchases. Inorganic growth through acquisitions may represent an upside to investors. The Gap can also capitalize on the retail industry's weaknesses by buying distressed brands and assets. An example would be the purchase of high-end children's clothing line Janie and Jack from a bankrupt retailer, Gymboree, for $35 million. The company's balance sheet has deteriorated with a debt/equity ratio of 3.4 for 3Q20 compared to 2.1 in FY19. However, during the last financial crisis, the company displayed resiliency in its business. It reported a net income of $967 million in 2008 and $1,102 million in 2009 while maintaining its dividend during those years.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The company is undergoing a transformation in which costs will be incurred to restructure the business and grow through organic initiatives or inorganic acquisitions. We estimate 0% EPS growth annually over the next five years and a 0.5% annualized in the P/E from 8.8 to 9.0 in 2025. The Gap has a 1.7% expected total return. Thus, we rate The Company a Sell for investors as there is other better opportunity in this market.
