Overview & Current Events

Essex Property Trust Inc. (ESS) was founded in 1971 and became a publicly traded real estate investment trust (REIT) in 1994. The trust invests in west coast multifamily residential properties where it engages in development, redevelopment, management and acquisition of apartment communities and a few other select properties. Essex has ownership interests in 246 apartment communities consisting of over 60,000 apartment homes. The trust has about 1,800 employees and produces approximately $1.4 billion in revenue.

On April 27th, 2021 Essex reported first quarter results. Core FFO-per-diluted share declined by 12% to $3.07 during Q1. Same-property gross revenue fell by 8.1% and same-property net operating income fell by 12.3% from Q1 2020. Three apartment communities were sold during the quarter for a contract price of $275.5 million. The company also issued $450 million of 7-year senior unsecured notes due in 2028. Meanwhile, ESS reaffirmed its full-year guidance for core FFO per share guidance of $11.86 to $12.46.

Essex Property Trust has achieved impressive growth for several decades on the back of the strong west coast property market, but growth has been slowing in the past few years. Like many REITs, the trust historically has issued new shares to fund rapid growth. In 2014, the trust merged with BRE Properties, which drastically increased the trust's size and shares outstanding. Since then, the trust's rate of growth has slowed, and they have maintained a more static number of shares outstanding.

Consensus analyst expectations prior to the COVID-19 outbreak were for mid-single digit growth in FFO per share between in the coming years. We conservatively estimate mid-single-digit growth over the next five years from 2021 through 2026, following the recent trend of slowing growth and because several major west coast cities have seen a recent dip or flattening out of property values, which could put pressure on rent prices.

Essex Property Trust currently trades for 23.2x FFO, which is below its recent historical average. While it is reasonable to pay up for a trust of this level of quality, we consider the historical valuation to be rich compared to the trust's growth rate and current headwinds. Therefore, we believe the fair value should be closer to 18 times FFO moving forward, making the trust overvalued at present.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	72%	66%	64%	65%	59%	58%	59%	58%	58%	64%	69%	60%

Essex Property Trust is a high-quality apartment REIT that has raised its dividend for 26 consecutive years from the time it first became a publicly traded trust. Real estate has a natural moat and Essex's exposure to high-value cities with strong technology cultures further widens that moat. However, apartments generally have a more elastic supply than single family homes, which offsets some of that protection. This was shown during the previous recession, when the trust's FFO fell, but not by an extreme amount, and Essex was able to continue raising its dividend.

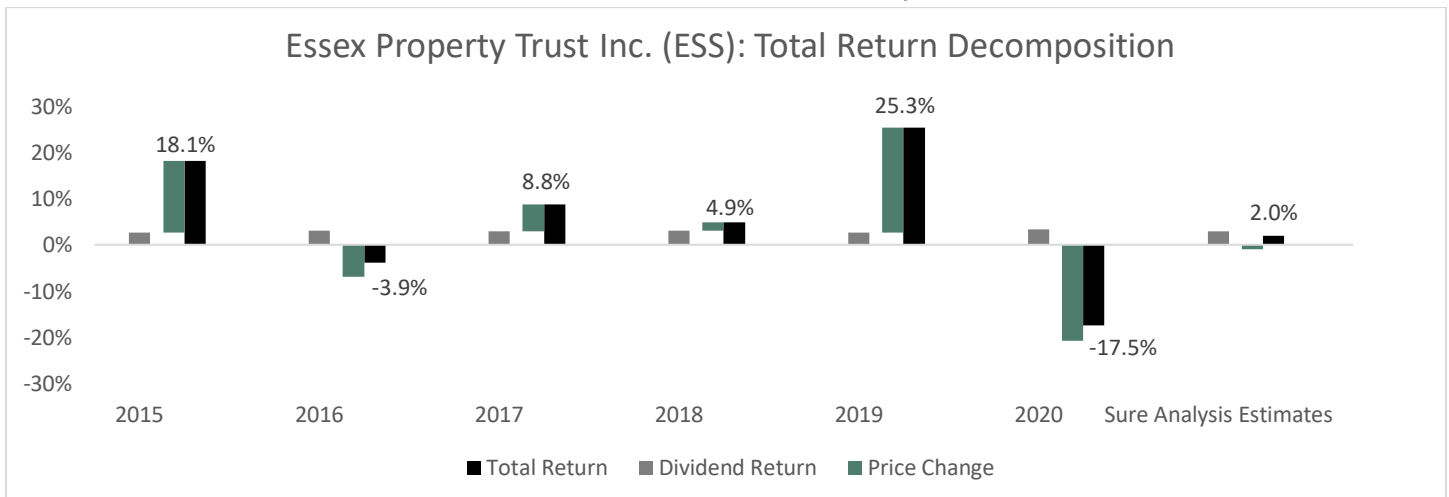

The trust has a solid BBB+ credit rating and currently has an interest coverage ratio of over 450%, which provides a very large margin compared to their debt covenant requirement of 150% or higher. Net debt to adjusted EBITDA is ~5.5x, which is solid. Like many real estate businesses, Essex Property Trust uses a substantial but fair amount of leverage and maintains a relatively safe balance sheet. Its weighted average interest rate is under 4.0%, which is quite low, reflecting the trust's strong credit metrics.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Essex Property Trust has been a strong outperformer in terms of total returns since it went public in 1994 due to a combination of good management and a tailwind from the fast-growing west coast property market on the back of a strong technology industry in the region. However, property values in popular west coast cities are now some of the highest in the country and are showing some signs of peaking, or at least slowing growth. The growth rate of Essex Property Trust has been slowing lately, and the trust has at least moderate downside risk as the country continues to grapple with COVID-19 related headwinds.

With just 2% expected annualized total returns over the next half decade, we rate shares as a sell, though they remain a somewhat attractive hold for conservative dividend growth investors given the solid yield, dividend growth track record, strong balance sheet, and sustainable payout ratio.
