Overview & Current Events

Marathon Petroleum Corp. (MPC) was spun off from Marathon Oil Corp. (MRO) in 2011. After the acquisition of Andeavor Logistics in October of 2018, MPC has become the largest U.S. refiner, with 16 refineries and a refining capacity of 3.1 million barrels per day. It also has a marketing system that includes ~6,800 branded locations, ~3,900 convenience stores (~2,740 are Speedway), and ~1,000 direct dealer locations. In addition, MPC owns a midstream MLP, (MPLX), which has gathering and processing assets as well as pipelines for crude oil and light products. Marathon Petroleum Corp. has a market capitalization of $38.5 billion.

In early May, Marathon Petroleum reported (5/4/21) financial results for the first quarter of fiscal 2021. The pandemic continued to weigh on the business of MPC. The demand for refined products remained suppressed and hence it caused a -14% decrease in the refining margin and a refinery utilization of only 83%. Notably the midstream segment grew its operating income 7% over last year's quarter thanks to stable, fee-based earnings and contribution from growth projects. However, the hefty losses of the refining segment led the company slightly widen its adjusted losses per share from -$0.16 in last year's quarter to -$0.20. Thanks to the massive distribution of vaccines, we expect the pandemic to subside in the second half of the year. In addition, MPC has already observed early signs of improved demand in the running quarter, and we now expect it to earn $0.60 per share this year instead of losing -$0.30 per share.

On August 2nd, 2020, MPC announced the sale of its Speedway business to 7-Eleven for $21 billion in cash. The deal is very close to completion and includes a 15-year fuel supply agreement for about 7.7 billion gallons of fuel per year. The after-tax proceeds are estimated around $16.5 billion. As this amount is 43% of the market cap of the stock, it is of paramount importance. MPC will use the proceeds to reduce its debt and enhance its shareholder returns.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

MPC greatly benefits from the inland location of some of the refineries of Andeavor. Thanks to the oil supply glut, these refineries usually buy their crude oil at a deep discount to WTI, so they enjoy high margins. Furthermore, when the pandemic subsides, U.S. refiners will benefit from the new international marine rules, which have come into effect since January 1st, 2020. As per these rules, vessels that sail in international waters are forced to burn diesel or ultra-low sulfur fuel oil instead of heavy fuel oil. As the former are much more expensive than the latter, they should boost refiner earnings. MPC is properly positioned to benefit from the new marine rules. Thanks to a series of past investments, the refiner can upgrade about 600,000 barrels per day of low-value residue to diesel. We expect the pandemic to subside and the demand for oil products to recover in the second half of this year thanks to the massive vaccination program that is underway. However, due to the sale of the Speedway business, we expect MPC to grow its earnings-per-share only 1.0% per year on average off its mid-cycle level (average 2015-2019) of $4.59.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	Now	2026
Avg. P/E	5.4	4.7	11.6	10.0	9.6	18.2	14.4	10.8	11.8	---	12.9	10.7
Avg. Yld.	1.3%	2.6%	2.0%	2.1%	2.3%	3.4%	2.8%	2.5%	3.6%	6.2%	3.9%	4.7%

Marathon is currently trading at 12.9 times its mid-cycle earnings-per-share of $4.59. This valuation level is higher than its historical average of 10.7. If the stock reverts to its average earnings multiple over the next five years, it will incur a -3.6% annualized drag in its return.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	6.9%	12.1%	23.2%	21.0%	21.7%	61.5%	40.3%	34.8%	42.9%	---	50.5%	50.5%

The acquisition of Andeavor has greatly enhanced the geographic diversification of Marathon and its potential to take advantage of fluctuations in price spreads among different types of crude oil and the dynamics of export markets. The acquisition will thus increase the earnings of the company and its resilience during downturns in the long run.

On the other hand, refining is a highly cyclical business, hence refiners are vulnerable to recessions. This was evident in the Great Recession, when the demand for oil products deteriorated and refining margins plunged. MPC was caught with a significant amount of debt in the current downturn due to its acquisition of Andeavor. The company solved the problem with the sale of Speedway, but its dividend could be cut if the pandemic does not subside this year.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

We expect the pandemic to subside and the energy market to recover later this year. However, MPC has more than doubled in about seven months thanks to the enthusiasm of the market over the recovery and the major sale of the Speedway business. As a result, we expect the stock to offer a mediocre 5-year average return and thus rate it as a sell.
