Overview & Current Events

SEI Investments was founded in 1968 and over the last 50+ years has grown into a market capitalization of $8.8 billion. SEI is a global provider of investment processing, investment management, and investment operations solutions for financial institutions and advisors. SEI has about $280 billion in assets under management and about $820 billion in assets under administration. The company should produce about $1.9 billion in revenue this year.

SEI reported first quarter earnings on April 21st, 2021, with results coming in ahead of expectations on revenue, but coming up in-line on profits. Revenue was up 10% year-over-year to $456 million in Q1 on broad strength in the company's segments. Revenue from asset management, administration, and distribution fees increased from higher assets, which was attributable to market appreciation and positive flows from both new and existing clients. Average assets under administration soared 21% to $822 billion in Q1. Assets under management were up 18% to $280 billion as well.

Operating expenses were up due to increased consulting costs related to new business, as well as personnel costs to service new clients. SEI continues to invest heavily in future growth.

Earnings rose 24% on a per-share basis, rising to 89 cents, due to the above-mentioned factors, as well as a net gain from investments of $332,000, which was up sharply from a loss of $4 million in the year-ago period.

The company repurchased 1.2 million shares of stock for $67 million.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

From 2013 to 2019, SEI managed to double its earnings and looking forward, we believe that strong growth can continue. SEI saw higher earnings-per-share in each year since 2011, until the COVID-impacted 2020. We are forecasting 6% earnings-per-share growth over the next five years as 2021 should provide decent growth rates moving forward. We see SEI achieving this result through continued revenue expansion as more customers adopt its SEI Wealth Platform, and its relatively newer IT services, as well as assets under management and advisement growth. We see mid-single-digit revenue growth as the primary driver of earnings going forward. SEI also buys back stock at low single-digit rates and is seeing margin expansion with its higher revenue. The key is revenue growth as SEI invests heavily in its future.

SEI's dividend growth has been decent in recent years but it is not a high-income stock at this point. We see dividend growth going forward, but keep in mind that investors own SEI for the earnings growth potential, not for the yield, and that is not going to change anytime soon. Indeed, the payout ratio remains very low and given how much SEI invests in its platform on a regular basis, in addition to share repurchases, we expect the payout ratio to remain fairly constant.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	Now	2026
Avg. P/E	18.1	17.4	18.4	19.0	24.4	22.6	22.3	20.3	15.8	18.3	16.5	17.0
Avg. Yld.	1.3%	1.5%	1.4%	1.3%	1.0%	1.2%	1.0%	1.0%	1.2%	1.3%	1.2%	1.3%

SEI's price-to-earnings multiple has come up slightly since our last report, and it is now trading at 16.5 times this year's earnings, which is fairly close to our estimate of fair value at 17 times earnings. Thus, we are forecasting a small tailwind to total returns from the valuation in the coming years. The dividend is not a priority for SEI as it continues to spend cash on its products and services to fuel future growth. This is not a stock one owns for the yield.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2026
Payout	24%	11%	33%	12%	23%	24%	25%	20%	21%	24%	20%	22%

The payout ratio is very low as earnings-per-share expansion has outpaced dividend growth in recent years, something we think will continue. There may come a time when the dividend is a significant source of returns, but SEI is understandably focused on growth today.

SEI's competitive advantage is in its platform and services, which allow it to drive efficiencies and lower risk for its clients. That does not make it immune from economic downturns, however, as the Great Recession dinged revenue and earnings meaningfully. Given the industry SEI serves, it is reasonable to expect material weakness during a recession, so that is something investors should take into account.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Overall, SEI looks like a slightly undervalued stock with lots of growth potential. We are forecasting 7.8% total annual returns going forward, comprised of the small current yield, a small tailwind from the valuation, and 6% earnings-per-share growth. SEI may become an income stock in the future, but it is still very much in its growth stage, so that is a long way off. After Q1 results, and the resulting higher share price, we are downgrading SEI from buy to hold on lower projected total returns.
