Overview & Current Events

V.F. Corporation is one of the world's largest apparel, footwear and accessories companies. The company's brands include The North Face, Vans, Timberland and Dickies. The company, which has been in existence since 1899, has a market cap of $31 billion and generated over $9 billion in sales last year. On May 22nd, 2019 V.F. Corp separated its VF's Jeanswear organization, including the Wrangler, Lee and Rock & Republic brands. The separation was completed via a 100% distribution of shares to V.F. Corp shareholders, with the new entity named Kontoor Brands trading as an independent, publicly traded company under the "KTB" ticker.

On October 16th, 2020 V.F. Corp announced a $0.49 quarterly dividend, representing a 2.1% year-over-year increase and marking the company's 48th consecutive year of increasing its payout.

On May 21st, 2021 V.F. Corp released Q4 and full year fiscal 2021 results for the period ending April 3rd, 2021. For the quarter revenue came in at $2.6 billion, a 23% increase compared to Q4 2020, driven by V.F. Corp's largest brands, e-commerce growth and an extra week. Adjusted operating income equaled $172.6 million compared to $138.2 million in the year ago quarter, while adjusted earnings-per-share equaled $0.27 versus $0.21 prior.

For the year V.F. Corp generated revenue of $9.2 billion, down -12% compared to fiscal year 2020, driven by store closures and lower consumer demand as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. Adjusted operating income equaled $741.8 million compared to $707.3 million in the prior year, while adjusted EPS equaled $1.31 compared to $1.24 previously.

V.F. Corp also introduced a fiscal 2022 outlook. For this year the company expects revenue of $11.8 billion and adjusted earnings-per-share of approximately $3.05.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2026

Note that while V.F. Corp has already completed fiscal year 2021 (ended in April 2021), we are electing to display the above information closer to the actual calendar year. In addition, the above historical numbers include the Jeanswear business, whereas results from 2019 forward do not – explaining the fall in earnings and the dividend, in that year.

Through fiscal 2019, V.F. Corp had grown earnings-per-share by an average compound rate of 10.5% per annum. This result was driven by strong sales growth (basically doubling) along with a solid uptick in the company's operating and net profit margins. Continued success can come from these areas, but there could be enhanced volatility due to the company becoming more of a "pure play" provider. In addition, the COVID-19 pandemic significantly impacted last year's results. However, management is expecting earnings to bounce back materially this year.

V.F. Corporation (VFC)

Updated May 21st, 2021 by Eli Inkrot

V.F. Corporation has not only paid but increased its dividend for 48 consecutive years. Moving forward we believe this record will remain intact, albeit perhaps with a more subdued dividend growth rate as the company begins to digest an abnormally high payout ratio. Note that the lower dividend in 2019 takes into account the recent spin-off.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	Now	2026
Avg. P/E	13.7	15.3	17.4	20.8	23.1	19.3	20.1	22.1	31.9	---	25.7	19.0
Avg. Yld.	2.4%	2.1%	1.9%	1.7%	1.9%	2.5%	2.9%	2.3%	2.2%	2.7%	2.5%	2.9%

Over the past decade shares of V.F. Corp have traded hands with an average P/E ratio of about 20-times earnings. We consider 19 times earnings as a reasonable starting point. This takes into consideration the quality of the company's earnings along with its potential growth rate, coupled against short-term demand uncertainties and the recent spin-off. With shares trading at 26 times our earnings estimate, this implies a meaningful valuation headwind.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	32%	32%	34%	36%	43%	49%	58%	51%	71%	---	64%	56%

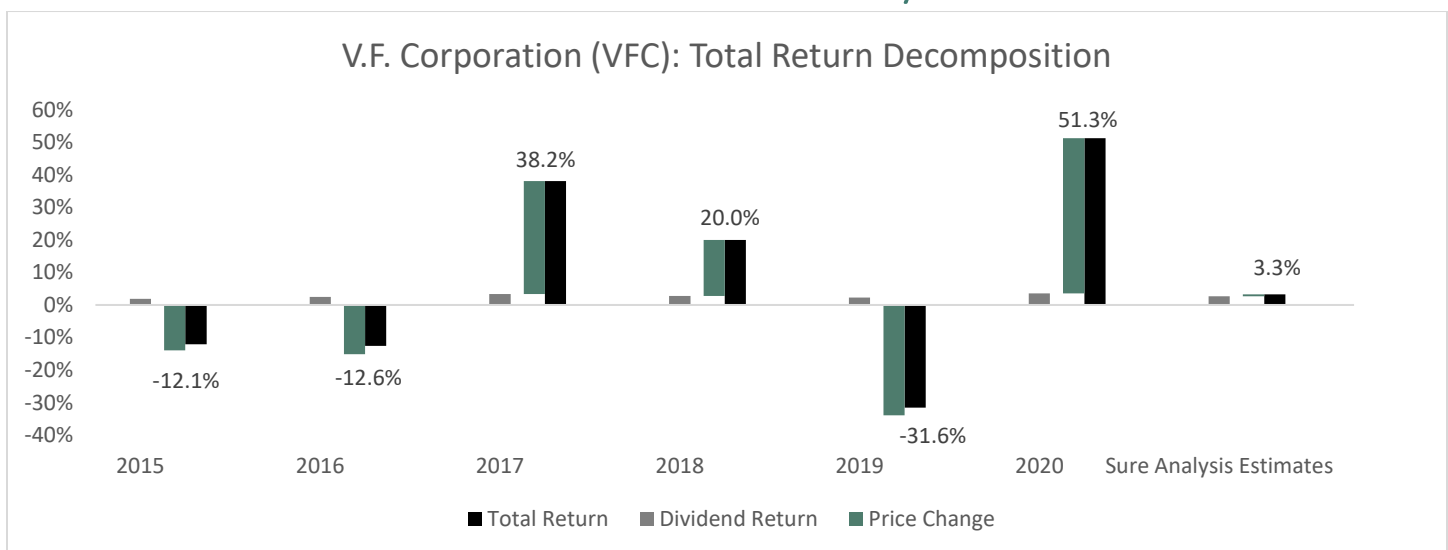

V.F. Corp has a competitive advantage in the way of a stable of well-known, premium brands that demand pricing power. During the last recession the company posted earnings-per-share of $1.39, $1.29 and $1.61 in the 2008 through 2010 stretch, indicating the resiliency of the business. Also, of note is the company's storied dividend record. While the dividend payout ratio is moderately elevated, we believe this payout has the ability to continue to rise over time.

As of the most recent report V.F. Corp held $816 million in cash, $4.8 billion in current assets and $13.7 billion in total assets against $2.2 billion in current liabilities and $10.7 billion in total liabilities. Long-term debt stood at $5.7 billion.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Shares are down marginally since our last update. We are forecasting 3.3% total return potential, stemming from 7% growth and a 2.5% dividend yield weighed against the possibility of a valuation headwind. There are things to like about the business, including strong brand names, an excellent dividend history and a solid balance sheet. However, shares earn a hold rating due to the elevated valuation.
