Overview & Current Events

Comcast is a media, entertainment and communications company. Its business units include Cable Communications (High-Speed Internet, Video, Business Services, Voice, Advertising, Wireless), NBCUniversal (Cable Networks, Theme Parks, Broadcast TV, Filmed Entertainment), and Sky, a leading entertainment company in Europe that provides Video, High-speed internet, Voice, and Wireless Phone Services directly to consumers. Comcast was founded in 1963, is headquartered in Philadelphia, PA.

Comcast reported its Q2 2021 results on 07/29/21. For the quarter, the company's revenues climbed 20.4% to $28.5 billion, adjusted EBITDA rose 12.6% to $8.9 billion, adjusted earnings-per-share (EPS) climbed 21.7% to $0.84, and free cash flow (FCF) of almost $4.8 billion. Comcast's Cable customer relationships boosted by 5.2% to 33.8M. The company experienced net additions of 294K Cable Communications customer relations. It also had broadband customer net additions of 354K as well as added 280K wireless lines (the best quarter on record). NBCUniversal revenue and adjusted EBITDA rebounded with jumps of 39.2% and 12.5%, respectively. The Sky segment saw revenue growth of 14.9% but adjusted EBITDA declined 32.4% year over year due to higher programming costs because of more sporting events versus Q2 2020.

The business performance over the first half of the year provides a clearer picture. Revenue growth of 10.8% to $55.8 billion, adjusted EBITDA growth of 8.0% to $17.3 billion, adjusted EPS growth of 14.3% to $1.60, and free cash flow growth of 8.4% to about $10 billion. We continue to believe that the company will remain a healthy solid dividend-paying company as it continues to generate substantial FCF. We updated our 2021 EPS estimate to $2.92 to reflect a strong rebound from last year's disrupted results.

Comcast's top and bottom lines are expected to somewhat rebound in 2021 from the COVID-19 impacts. Over the next five years, as the economy normalizes, we see several drivers for the company's earnings growth. The first one is ongoing revenue growth, driven primarily by Cable Communications revenues, which grew 3.4% in 2020, primarily due to greater demand in high-speed internet. This revenue has grown by single digits for most quarters on a YOY basis, and it seems reasonable to assume that growth will continue in most cases going forward. The Video operation is battling against the impact of cord-cutting, but so far higher revenues in the high-speed internet business more than offset this headwind. Apart from revenue growth, Comcast's earnings were driven by margin increases in its core business. In 2020, its Cable Communications EBITDA margin increased from 40.1% to 42.1% against 2019. Comcast has a very compelling earnings growth history, which was helped by share repurchases. From 2011 to 2020, its EPS increased at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 14.2%. The past five years saw a CAGR of 9.9% due to the meaningful earnings cut last year. The near- to medium-term impact from COVID-19 could put share buybacks on hold even in 2021 as the company prioritizes dividend growth over buybacks. We estimate EPS will grow by about 9% per year through 2026, and that the dividend growth will align with its EPS growth as well.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2011	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	Now	2026
Avg. P/E	12.2	14.1	16.9	18.2	17.8	28.1	40.6	21.2	19.9	16.9	20.0	20.0

CMCSA stock is valued at 20.0 times 2021 estimated earnings -- lower than its average P/E of 20.6 from 2011-2020. Because we estimate earnings will grow about 9% through 2026, we believe the stock is fairly valued at the recent quotation.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	29%	29%	30%	31%	31%	32%	30%	30%	27%	35%	34%	34%

Comcast has had 13 consecutive dividend increases. The fast dividend growth was possible through solid earnings growth and a rising dividend payout ratio. Its dividend is well-covered by earnings and cash flows. Comcast is one of the largest players in the entertainment industry. New market entrants would have to spend many billions of dollars to establish as a key cable player or entertainment network. So, competitive pressures are not very high. The cable industry is impacted by the nationwide cord-cutting trend, though, as some customers are ditching traditional pay-TV entirely. Comcast has so far been able to withstand this trend through growth from its other businesses. We expect Comcast's earnings will experience a steady recovery starting in 2021. Despite a drop in 2020 adjusted EBITDA, Comcast's balance sheet remains strong with a consolidated net leverage ratio of 2.6 times in Q2 2021, down from 3.0 times YOY.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Comcast is a quality company, having produced compelling earnings growth and raising its dividend at a fast pace over the last decade. We expect EPS growth to be 9% per year, which is still good growth. Adding in a dividend yield of 1.7% and no valuation change, we think Comcast can deliver total returns of 10.6% per year through 2026. Sure Dividend rates the stock as a buy, especially for investors seeking stable growth.
