Overview & Current Events

SL Green Realty Corp. (SLG) was formed in 1980. It is an integrated real estate investment trust (REIT) that is focused on acquiring, managing, and maximizing the value of Manhattan commercial properties. It is Manhattan's largest office landlord, with a market capitalization of $5.1 billion, and currently owns 76 buildings totaling 35 million square feet.

In mid-October, SLG reported (10/20/2021) financial results for the third quarter of fiscal 2021. Its occupancy rate slightly decreased, from 93.6% at the end of the previous quarter to 93.1%, but its same-store net operating income grew 3.6% over last year's quarter. As a result, its funds from operations (FFO) per share grew 2% over the prior year's quarter, from $1.75 to $1.78. The REIT exceeded the analysts' consensus by $0.20 but 80% of the difference resulted from lease termination income. During the quarter, SLG signed 44 Manhattan office leases at -1.8% lower rates compared to previous leases.

SLG has been significantly affected by the coronavirus crisis, which has hurt several companies that are tenants of SLG. Occupancy of office space in New York was just 22% in September. This has caused an unprecedented tenant-friendly environment and challenges to the business of SLG. However, thanks to improved trends, SLG raised its guidance for its annual FFO per share from $6.30-$6.70 to $6.45-$6.65. Accordingly, we raised our forecast for FFO per share from $6.50 to $6.60.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

SLG benefits from reliable growth in rental rates in one of the most popular commercial areas in the world, Manhattan. The REIT pursues growth by acquiring attractive properties and raising rental rates in its existing properties. It also signs multi-year contracts (7-15 years) with its tenants in order to secure reliable cash flows. SLG has grown its funds from operations per share at a 4.5% average annual rate in the last decade and at a 2.2% annual rate in the last five years. Due to the effect of the pandemic on its business, funds from operations are poised to decrease this year. However, thanks to the massive distribution of vaccines, the pandemic has begun to subside. We thus expect SLG to grow its funds from operations per share at a 5.0% average annual rate over the next five years off this year's somewhat low expected level.

SLG has traded at an average price-to-FFO ratio of 14.7 during the last decade. Due to the impact of the pandemic on its business, the REIT is currently trading at a much lower FFO multiple of 11.1. In order to be conservative, we assume a fair price-to-FFO ratio of 13.0. If SLG reaches our fair valuation level in five years, it will enjoy a 3.3% annualized boost to its returns.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Payout	11%	20%	29%	36%	39%	35%	49%	50%	49%	50%	55%	52%

During the last 40 years, SLG has been operating, investing and developing several high-quality commercial properties in Manhattan. As a result, it has developed great expertise in the area, which constitutes a significant competitive advantage.

SLG is currently under pressure due to the pandemic, which has caused a work-from-home trend. However, the REIT has one of the strongest balance sheets in the REIT universe, as its net debt of $4.6 billion is just 10 times its annual funds from operations. This helps explain the strong BBB credit rating of SLG. Thanks to its financial strength, the REIT can endure the ongoing crisis and emerge stronger whenever the pandemic subsides. It can also maintain its attractive 5.0% dividend, which is well covered by cash flows, with a healthy payout ratio of 55%. SLG is thus suitable for income-oriented investors who can wait patiently for the recovery of the REIT from the pandemic.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

SLG is the largest landlord in the area of Manhattan and thus it is ideal for those who want to benefit from the reliable, multi-year growth in rental rates in this area. The REIT is currently facing the headwind from the pandemic, which has led many companies to work from home. However, we expect the pandemic to subside and see more people return to working in offices from 2022. Thanks to the optimism over the impact of the massive distribution of vaccines on the pandemic, SLG has nearly doubled off its bottom last year. Nevertheless, thanks to its 5.0% dividend, 5.0% annual growth of FFO per share and a 3.3% potential annualized expansion of its valuation level, SLG could still offer a 12.2% average annual return over the next five years. We thus maintain our buy rating.
