Overview & Current Events

Abbott Laboratories, founded in 1888, is one of the largest medical appliances & equipment manufacturers in the world, comprised of four segments: Nutrition, Diagnostics, Established Pharmaceuticals and Medical Devices. With a market capitalization of $$ 205$ billion, Abbott Laboratories provides products in over 160 countries and employs 113,000 people. The company generated $$ 43$ billion in sales and $$ 9.4$ billion in profit in 2021.

On December $10^{\text {th }}$, 2021, Abbott Laboratories declared a $\$ 0.47$ quarterly dividend, marking a 4.4\% year-over-year increase. This was the company's $392^{\text {nd }}$ consecutive payment and $50^{\text {th }}$ straight year of increasing its dividend.

On April $20^{\text {th }}, 2022$, Abbott Laboratories reported first quarter results for the period ending March $31^{\text {st }}, 2022$. For the quarter the company generated $\$ 11.9$ billion in sales ( $58 \%$ outside of the U.S.) representing a $13.3 \%$ increase compared to the first quarter of 2021. Adjusted earnings-per-share of $\$ 1.73$ compared very favorably to $\$ 1.32$ in the prior year. Companywide organic sales growth was $17.5 \%$. Results were up almost across the board with Diagnostics, Established Pharmaceuticals, and Medical Devices organic sales increasing 35.1\%\%, 13.4\%, and 11.5\% respectively. Nutrition declined $4.4 \%$ due to a voluntary recall of certain powder formulas in the U.S.

Abbott Laboratories reaffirmed 2022 guidance, anticipating at least $$ 4.70$ in adjusted earnings-per-share for the year.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

| Year | 2012 | 2013 | 2014 | 2015 | 2016 | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 | 2020 | 2021 | 2022 | 2027 |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| EPS | $4.99 | $2.01 | $2.28 | $2.15 | $2.20 | $2.50 | $2.88 | $3.24 | $3.65 | $5.21 | $4.70 | $6.00 |
| DPS | $2.01 | $0.5 | $0.88 | $0.96 | $1.04 | $1.06 | $1.12 | $1.28 | $1.44 | $1.80 | $1.88 | $2.64 |
| Shares ${ }^{1}$ | 1,577 | 1,548 | 1,508 | 1,473 | 1,473 | 1,744 | 1,756 | 1,781 | 1,786 | 1,789 | 1,775 | 1,770 |

The above table shows a significant gap between the 2012 and 2013 numbers, both for earnings-per-share as well as for dividends per share. Before and after that jump, both earnings-per-share and dividends have been growing relatively consistently. This gap is explained by the fact that Abbott Laboratories spun off its biotech business (which is now publicly traded as AbbVie with the ticker ABBV) in 2013.
AbbVie has been a very successful standalone company. When it was still owned by Abbott Laboratories it was a major growth driver. However, since the spin-off Abbott Laboratories' earnings-per-share growth rate has still been very solid. During the last five years in particular earnings growth has been quite strong.

With its strong position in growth markets such as diagnostics - Abbott Laboratories is the market leader in point-of-care diagnostics - and cardiovascular medical devices, Abbott Laboratories should be able to generate attractive long-term growth rates for both earnings-per-share and dividends. The ongoing COVID-19 pandemic puts a large unknown on short-term demand across the globe. However, we believe that Abbott will be resilient in this environment - especially considering the COVID-19 diagnostics tests. We are forecasting 5\% growth coming off $4.70 in EPS for 2022.

Shares of Abbott Laboratories have increased $\$ 3$, or $2.5 \%$, since our January $26^{\text {th }}, 2022$ report. The stock's price-toearnings ratio expanded after the spin-off of AbbVie, which is not surprising, as AbbVie had been the somewhat riskier part of the business. In addition, shares were coming off recession lows. Abbott Laboratories as a med-tech pure play is a low-risk investment, but its current valuation seems elevated, nevertheless. We believe that shares are trading above fair value, pegged at 20 times earnings, implying the potential for a valuation headwind from this point.
Abbott Laboratories has declared almost 400 consecutive dividends and increased its payout for 50 straight years.
Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Abbott Laboratories' dividend payout ratio has never been above $50 \%$ throughout the last decade. Coupled with the fact that the company's earnings-per-share did not decline during the last financial crisis - it actually continued to grow Abbott Laboratories' dividend looks very safe.
After the spin-off of AbbVie, Abbott Laboratories has proven to be a very stable performer with a solid outlook. The markets that Abbott Laboratories addresses are not cyclical as medical devices and diagnostics are needed whether the economy is doing well or not. This explains why Abbott Laboratories performed so well during the last financial crisis. Moreover, for future recessions, we believe Abbott Laboratories will most likely not be vulnerable. The company is a leader in the markets it addresses, such as in point-of-care diagnostics, which provides competitive advantages due to Abbott Laboratories' scale and global reach. This is especially true given the current global pandemic.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

We continue to find that Abbott Laboratories is a fundamentally strong company that addresses attractive and growing markets. However, the current valuation leaves something to be desired. We are projecting total return potential of $1.4 \%$ per annum, down from $2 \%$ at the time of our last report. This projected return stems from $5 \%$ earnings growth and a $1.5 \%$ starting dividend yield offset by a valuation headwind. Despite the strength of the company and its dividend growth track record, we rate Abbott Laboratories as a sell.
