Overview & Current Events

Ameren Corporation owns rate-regulated generation, transmission, and distribution networks that deliver electricity and natural gas in Missouri and Illinois. The company serves 2.4 million electricity customers and more than 900,000 natural gas customers. It primarily generates electricity through coal, nuclear, and natural gas, as well as renewable sources, such as hydroelectric, wind, methane gas, and solar. The company serves residential (49% of revenues), commercial (34%), and industrial customers (17%). This $25 billion company was founded in 1881 and has about 9,000 employees.

On February 17th, 2022, Ameren Corporation released its fourth-quarter and full-year 2021 results. For the quarter the company reported revenue of $1.55 billion, an increase of 16% versus Q4 2020, and adjusted earnings per diluted share of $0.48, up 4% versus Q4 2020.

The full-year 2021 diluted earnings per share were $3.84, an increase of 9.7% compared to 2020. Earnings benefited from increased earnings on infrastructure investments, and higher electric retail sales as the economy continues to recover from the impacts of COVID-19. Earnings were impacted by higher operations costs and maintenance expenses due to outage.

Ameren has the ambition to invest in the range of $17.3 billion in different projects in the 2022-2026 timeframe, which will support its net-zero carbon emission target of 2050. The company presented a positive outlook during a recent investor day². Ameren expects diluted earnings per share to grow at a 6% to 8% compound annual rate from 2022 through 2026.

Ameren's long-term earnings growth track record is solid, growing EPS every year since 2015. Over the last five years, the average EPS growth rate is almost 8%.

We expect the company to grow its earnings-per-share by 7% per year on average over the next five years. The company has a good earnings track record and will benefit from gas & electricity rate hikes. This should compensate the effects of higher operating and maintenance costs, depreciation, and slightly higher average shares outstanding.

The company has a long history of paying dividends and has increased its payout for 9 consecutive years. In February 2022, the quarterly dividend increased by 7.3% from $0.55 to $0.59 per share. Over the last five years, the average annual dividend growth rate is 5.8%.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Avg. P/E	13.4	16.5	16.7	17.5	18.3	20.6	18.3	22.1	22.2	21.4	24.0	21.0
Avg. Yld.	1.9%	4.6%	4.0%	4.0%	3.5%	3.1%	3.0%	2.6%	2.6%	2.7%	2.4%	2.6%

During the past decade shares of Ameren Corporation have traded with an average price-to-earnings ratio of about 19 times earnings and today, it stands at 24. We are using 21 times earnings as a fair value baseline, implying the potential for a valuation headwind. The average industry price-to-earnings is 25.5. The company's dividend yield is currently 2.4% and the dividend raises in the last few years contributed to total returns.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	66%	76%	67%	70%	64%	64%	56%	57%	57%	57%	58%	56%

During the past five years, the company's dividend payout ratio has averaged around 58%. The company has a projected 2022 payout ratio of 58%, which indicates a sustainable dividend and is within Ameren's target payout range of 55%-70%. We expect that earnings growth will be stable, meaning that there is still room for the dividend to continue to grow with a payout ratio below 60%.

Ameren Corporation is investing very heavily in renewable energy and growing its rate base. Any increase to the rate base allows the company to increase the price that it charges to its customers. This will help Ameren to maintain a sustainable earnings growth rate. Investing in the energy grid should also improve reliability (less outage), increase customer satisfaction, and will result in attractive rates for customers below the US average.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Ameren Corporation is a quality dividend stock in terms of its earnings growth track record, its earnings growth outlook, its dividend yield, and its infrastructure investments related to the net-zero carbon emission target of 2050. We estimate a total return of 6.6% from a 2.4% yield, 7% EPS growth, and a valuation headwind of -2.6%. Shares earn a hold rating.
