Overview & Current Events

Citizens Financial Group is a bank holding company for Citizens Bank, a regional bank that is based in Providence, Rhode Island. Citizens operates two segments: Consumer Banking and Commercial Banking. The consumer segment offers traditional banking products and services, such as deposit accounts, home and education loans, credit cards, business loans, mortgage and home equity loans, personal loans, auto finance loans, and wealth management. The commercial segment offers a full suite of financial products and services to businesses, including treasury management, cash management, forex and interest rate risk solutions, M&A advisory services, and more. Citizens traces its roots back to 1828 and operates about 1,000 branches in 11 states in the U.S. The stock trades with a market capitalization of $19 billion, and Citizens should generate about $7.9 billion in revenue this year.

Citizens reported first quarter earnings on April 19th, 2022, and results were largely in line with expectations. Revenue came to $1.65 billion, which was flat year-over-year. Earnings-per-share were $1.07, down sharply from $1.41 in the year-ago period.

Net interest income was $1.1 billion, up 3% year-over-year, reflecting growth in interest-earning assets and stable net interest margin. Net interest margin of 2.75% was down just one basis point, which the bank was able to more than offset with loan growth. Citizens noted deposit costs fell by half to just 10 bps.

Noninterest income was $498 million, down $44 million, or 8%, year-over-year, reflecting lower mortgage banking fees. This decline was partially offset by very small gains in other forms of noninterest income, but the declining mortgage business was the story for Citizens in Q1.

Noninterest expense was $1.1 billion, up 2% on an adjusted basis, primarily from higher salary and benefits expense. This was partially offset by efficiency efforts.

We've boosted our estimate of earnings-per-share for this year to $4.55 after a strong showing in Q1, particularly as the bank is deploying excess capital into loan growth.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Citizens has posted strong earnings growth in most years, with 2020 being the obvious exception. Citizens has been seeing strong credit metrics based on prudent underwriting strategies, resulting in lower net charge-offs and allowances for credit losses. Citizens, like just about every other bank of reasonable size, took huge credit loss provisions in 2020, but those were largely unwound in 2021 as actual results were much better than originally feared during the worst of the pandemic. We note that Citizens is seeing lower lending margins and rising expenses, given the volatile moves in interest rates that continue to take place. Given this, as well as the unsustainable nature of credit loss provision unwinding from elevated 2020 levels, we think Citizens will struggle to replicate 2021 earnings levels. However, based upon this year's lower base, we estimate 4% growth in earnings-per-share for the next few years, some of which will be driven by the bank's steady share repurchases.

We see the dividend rising in the years to come as Citizens' payout ratio is low compared to many regional banks. The dividend has proven to be a priority to management, and we believe it has the potential to hit $1.90 per share by 2027. We note that Citizens hasn't raised its payout since January of 2020.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/E	---	---	15.4	16.4	12.3	11.2	11.5	9.3	12.6	10.8	9.2	11.0
Avg. Yld.	---	---	0.4%	1.6%	1.9%	1.8%	2.4%	3.8%	5.6%	3.4%	3.7%	3.1%

Citizens has been valued in the low-double-digits for the past handful of years, and we peg fair value at 11 times earnings. Shares trade at just 9.2 times this year's earnings, implying a sizable valuation tailwind. The yield is also very strong at 3.7%, and we see it remaining above 3% for the foreseeable future.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	---	---	6%	26%	23%	20%	28%	36%	70%	29%	34%	34%

We see the payout ratio remaining where it is today for the years to come, as earnings growth and dividend growth should be roughly congruent. We have no dividend safety concerns at this point.

Citizens, like any other bank, is beholden to economic conditions. Citizens didn't exist in its current form during the Great Recession, but regional banks in general are quite susceptible to recessions, and indeed 2020 showed what kind of impact a recession can have on earnings. Citizens, also like other regional banks, doesn't really enjoy any competitive advantages, as services are commoditized in banking to a large extent.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Citizens looks undervalued today. Given this, and 10.7% expected total returns, we are upgrading Citizens from hold to buy. Dividend safety is strong, and the current yield is well above the S&P 500, so we see Citizens as a strong income stock, and the valuation is now quite attractive.
