Overview & Current Events

Brixmor (BRX) was founded in 2003 and is an internally managed REIT that has about 382 shopping centers. Its retail properties are positioned in the top 50 metropolitan areas in the United States. It is one of the largest open-air retail landlords domestically. About 70% of its centers are grocery-anchored. Brixmor's largest tenants (by annualized base rent) are TJX Companies Inc. (TJX) and The Kroger Co. (KR) with no tenant contributing more than 3.5% of annualized based rent ("ABR").

Brixmor reported its Q1 2022 results on 05/02/22. For the quarter, it generated 6.8% higher in revenues to $298.6 million, including rental income that increased 7.9% to $298.4 million. It also reported funds from operations ("FFO") of $145.4 million, 11.4% higher than the prior year's quarter. On a per-share basis, FFO was $0.49, an improvement of 11.4% year over year. As well, it witnessed an increase in same property net operating income ("NOI") of 8.4%.

Brixmor has an investment pipeline that is focused on investing in communities where it sees future growth and is also divesting in stagnant areas. For the quarter, it stabilized $28.1 million of reinvestment projects at an average incremental NOI yield of 10%, acquired $159.5 million of assets, and sold $60.9 million of assets. The REIT ended the quarter with an in-process reinvestment pipeline that totaled $418.9 million at an expected average incremental NOI yield of 9%. Management updated its 2022 FFO-per-share guidance to $1.88 to $1.95. Consequently, we also update our 2022 FFOPS estimate, to about the midpoint of the range, at $1.91.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
FFOPS	---	$1.67	$1.81	$1.97	$2.06	$2.08	$1.89	$1.91	$1.47	$1.75	$1.91	$2.21
DPS	---	$0.80	$0.73	$0.92	$1.00	$1.06	$1.11	$1.12	$0.57	$0.86	$0.96	$1.11
Shares¹	---	230	297	298	304	305	300	298	298	299	300	305

Brixmor restored quarterly dividends totally $0.86 per share for 2021 with a sustainable payout ratio of about 49%. And continued the healthy dividend trend by increasing its quarterly dividend to $0.24 per share for its 2022 quarterly dividends. The annualized amount of $0.96 is still not back to the 2019 levels, yet. We estimate about 3.1% of dividend growth through 2026 to return to the 2019 levels. From 2013 to 2021, Brixmor increased its FFO per share by 0.6% per year. Its leases are signed at below-market rates, which means that when the leases are up, the REIT has the potential to reset to prices that are closer to the market. BRX's 2021 same-property NOI of 8.9% has been higher than normal and management expects more normalized levels of 3-4.5%. Brixmor's reinvestment projects can be a growth driver, but they will take time to be put into service. Further, the REIT might take it slowly to maintain the company's liquidity and financial position. We expect the cash distribution to restore to previous levels over time. It could take a few years for its dividend to normalize. The growth rate in 2021 is high due largely to a rebound from the pandemic impacts. Therefore, we have a more conservative five-year FFOPS growth rate estimate of 3.0% for the stock. We also project that the dividend can increase at a similar rate.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
P/FFO	---	14.1	13.8	17.1	16.1	14.1	12.6	10.2	8.8	13.7	12.7	13.0
Avg. Yld.	---	---	3.6%	2.9%	3.6%	5.0%	6.5%	5.7%	4.4%	2.9%	4.0%	3.9%

Much of the growth that Brixmor is experiencing now is from a recovery after the pandemic disruptions in 2020. The retail industry as a whole will still experience headwinds from online sales. Because of the high growth it's experiencing, Brixmor trades at a higher multiple than usual. We now target a fair P/FFO of 13.0 versus its eight-year average P/FFO of 13.4. The majority of Brixmor's tenants are anchored by businesses, including food and fitness, that should not be greatly impacted by online sales. This fair valuation is based on the assumption that it can show resilient and growing results after the economy normalizes from the pandemic. The stock appears to be fairly valued.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	---	48%	40%	47%	49%	51%	59%	59%	39%	49%	50%	50%

Brixmor has fostered strong relationships with national retailers, and, in return, it receives insights into their strategies and priority access to their expansion plans. Our previous concern that similar real estate companies such as Kimco Realty Corporation (KIM) with a similar portfolio performed poorly during the 2008 crisis came to fruition. In the 2020 economic downturn, Brixmor stock was down +60% from peak to trough and suspended its dividend for a portion of the year. The company has survived partly because it has ~70% of properties that have grocery anchors.

At the end of Q1 2022, Brixmor had total liquidity of $1.2 billion, no maturities for the rest of 2022 and only $95 million of maturities in 2023. Its debt-to-equity ratio was 2.0x, while its debt-to-asset ratio was 66%. The company also received credit rating outlook improvements. Fitch upgraded its credit rating to BBB. It also has an investment-grade credit rating of BBB- from S&P Global.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Brixmor appears to have more or less stabilized from the pandemic impacts. Over the next five years, we estimate total returns of 7.1% in the stock from a 4.0% dividend, FFO-per-share growth rate of 3.0%, and valuation expansion of 0.5%. We rate Brixmor as a "hold" at current levels.
