Northeast Indiana Bancorp has increased earnings-per-share at a rate of 11.4% over the last decade. Given its size and the expected increase in earnings-per-share this year, we feel that a target growth rate of 3% going forward is appropriate. This takes into consideration the company's history paired against the uncertainty and low rates of the current environment.

Northeast Indiana Bancorp raised its quarterly dividend 7.1% to $0.30 for the November 26th, 2021 payment. The bank has now raised its dividend for 27 consecutive years. Northeast Indiana Bancorp also announced a $1.25 per share special dividend that was distributed on December 23, 2021.

If the stock were to revert to our target price-to-earnings ratio by 2027 then valuation would be a 0.4% headwind to annual returns over this period of time.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	32%	38%	31%	25%	28%	32%	28%	34%	23%	19%	24%	24%

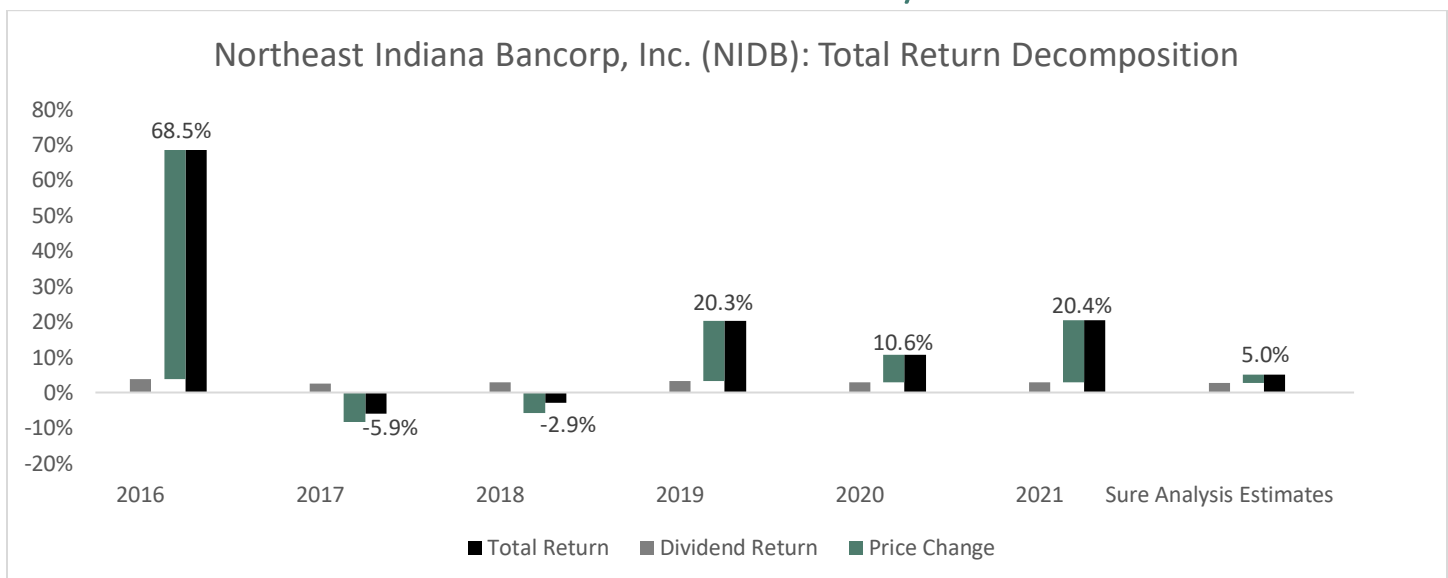

Northeast Indiana Bancorp performed well during the last recession. Earnings-per-share declined by -71% from 2006 to 2007 but rebounded by 58% to $1.53 from 2007 through 2009. The bank's performance during the last recession gives us some confidence that it would endure the next recession as well. Northeast Indiana Bancorp's ability to pay and raise its dividend for more than a quarter century despite its size is a sign of a strong business model.

As a small regional bank, Northeast Indiana Bancorp doesn't have the numerous advantages of larger regional banks. One point in the bank's favor is that offers a wide variety of services that compares favorably to those offered by its larger peers. This will likely aid Northeast Indiana Bancorp's ability to prevent customers from switching to a different bank. In addition, some customers prefer the smaller bank operation.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Following first quarter results, Northeast Indiana Bancorp is projected to offer a total annual return of 5.0% through 2027, down from our prior estimate of a 5.9% return. This estimate is based on a 3.0% earnings growth rate and a 2.6% dividend yield, partially offset by a small headwind from multiple contraction. Northeast Indiana Bancorp had mixed results on a year-over-year basis, but performed well compared to the fourth quarter of 2021. We reiterate our 2027 price target of $52 as well as maintain our hold rating on shares of Northeast Indiana Bancorp due to projected returns.
