Overview & Current Events

Northrop Grumman Corporation is one of the five largest US aerospace and defense contractors based on revenue. The company reports four business segments: Aeronautics Systems (aircraft and UAVs), Mission Systems (radars, sensors and systems for surveillance and targeting), Defense Systems (sustainment and modernization, directed energy, tactical weapons), and Space Systems (missile defense, space systems, hypersonics and space launchers). Northrop Grumman completed its acquisition of Orbital ATK in 2018 and divested IT Services in 2021. Northrop Grumman makes the B-2 Spirit, E-2D, E-8C, RQ-4 Global Hawk, MQ-4C Triton, and MQ-8B/C Fire Scout. The company also provides content on the F-35 and F/A-18. It won the contract for the B-21 Raider. The company had revenue of over $35.7B in 2021.

Northrop Grumman released weaker results for Q1 FY 2022 on April 28th, 2022. Companywide revenue decreased (-4%) to $8,797M from $9,157M and diluted adjusted earnings per share decreased (-7%) to $6.10 from $6.57 on a year-over-year basis. Three out of four segments reported sales declines and Defense Systems sales were lower on a divestiture.

Revenue for Aeronautics Systems was down (-10%) to $2,703M from $2,990M in the prior year due to lower volumes in Manned Aircraft and Autonomous Systems. Revenue for Defense Systems fell (-18%) to $1,283M from $1,562M in comparable quarters due to sale of IT Services, lower scope on an international training program, and lower volumes on AARGM and PGK, offset by higher volumes for international weapons. Revenue for Mission Systems decreased (-4%) to $2,497M in the quarter from $2,589M in the prior year due to the sale of IT Services, lower volumes in radar and electronic warfare and Navigation, Targeting and Survivability, offset by higher volumes on restricted sales. Revenue for Space Systems increased 13% to $2,855M in Q1 2022 from $2,521M in Q1 2021 from higher sales in Launch & Strategic Missiles and Space and restricted programs offset by sale of IT Services and lower volumes on Space Telescope.

The company won $8.8B in contracts in Q1 and the total backlog is ~$76.0B at end of the quarter. The company guided for $36,200M to $36,600M in sales and $24.50 to $25.10 earnings per share in 2022.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Northrop Grumman's earnings have increased substantially over time driven by top line growth from contract wins, modernization and upgrades, services, and acquisitions. A significant reduction in share count has helped drive earnings per share gains as well. Looking forward, the company will achieve both revenue and EPS growth through its involvement in the F-35, B-2, E2-D, B-21, and other platforms. We reduced our estimate of average annual EPS growth to 8% out to 2027 due to a weaker outlook and US budget uncertainties. The company retired debt early and conducted share buybacks with sale proceeds of the IT Services segment. Northrop Grumman has paid a growing dividend for 18 years. The payout ratio is currently low at approximately 27% so there is room for further increases.

¹ Estimated based on prior years. Northrop Grumman has not yet announced the next quarterly dividend.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2020	Now	2026
Avg. P/E	8.2	10.4	12.9	16.1	17.4	23.0	16.8	17.9	13.8	13.6	18.9	15.0
Avg. Yld.	3.4%	2.7%	2.1%	1.9%	1.6%	1.5%	1.7%	1.7%	1.7%	1.8%	1.4%	1.8%

Northrop Grumman's stock price is up significantly since our last report on optimism about higher sales related to the conflict in Ukraine and the defense budget. The stock trades higher than our fair value multiple of 15X, near the trailing 10-year average. Our current fair value is now $372. Our current 5-year price target is now $547.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	28%	29%	28%	30%	29%	34%	25%	24%	24%	25%	27%	27%

As a prime US defense contractor, Northrop Grumman has an entrenched position in many of its end markets. Of note are the B-2, B-21, E-2D, E-8C, Global Hawk and Triton platforms. Few companies have the technical expertise and classified workforce to build these platforms. In addition, these platforms have decades long life cycles and Northrop Grumman has the expertise and experience to perform sustainment and modernization. These characteristics lead to a good degree of recession resistance. However, the company does face risks in program cuts and changing administrations that could lead to revenue declines caused by new priorities to the defense budget.

Debt increased due to the Orbital ATK acquisition, which the company is paying down. Long-term debt is now at $12,825M offset by $2,173M in cash and equivalents. Interest coverage is 14.2X and the leverage ratio is down to 1.3X.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

At present we are forecasting a 4.7% annualized total return through 2027 from a dividend yield of 1.4%, 8% EPS growth, and (-4.5%) P/E multiple contraction. Northrop Grumman may have a weaker 2022 due to retired programs and ramping up of new programs. The company's balance sheet is solid, and the credit rating was upgraded. The Space segment is rapidly growing. The dividend yield is low, but the dividend safety is high as illustrated by the low payout ratio and reasonable debt level. At the current price, we rate this high-quality stock a hold.
