Overview & Current Events

Aon is a professional services firm headquartered in London, United Kingdom. The company provides a variety of services including consulting, risk management, and health plan management. Aon has approximately 500 offices worldwide that serve 120 countries through a workforce that numbers about 50,000. U.S. investors can initiate an ownership stake in Aon through American Depositary Receipts that trade with a market capitalization of $61 billion on the New York Stock Exchange, under the ticker AON. Aon should generate just under $13 billion in revenue this year.

Aon reported second quarter earnings on July 29th, 2022, and results were somewhat mixed. Adjusted earnings-per-share came to $2.63, which was eight cents better than expected, and up from $2.29 a year ago. Revenue was $2.98 billion, up 3% year-over-year, but $30 million lower than estimates.

Commercial Risk revenue was $1.7 billion, up from $1.6 billion a year ago, as strong retention and management of book renewal helped boost results. Reinsurance revenue was $537 million, up from $500 million, which reflected net new business generation and strong retention rates. Health revenue came to $414 million, up from $391 million. Wealth solutions revenue was $343 million, down from $356 million.

Total expenses were $2.3 billion, up from $2.2 billion a year ago. Operating margin was up 40bps on an adjusted basis to 26.2% of revenue.

The company repurchased 1.7 million shares of stock for about $500 million during the quarter, and we now expect to see $13.20 in earnings-per-share for this year.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Between 2011 and 2020, Aon compounded its adjusted earnings-per-share at a rate of nearly 15% per year. Looking ahead, we believe that the company's growth is likely to continue to be quite strong, albeit a bit slower than its historical pace. More specifically, we are forecasting 10% annualized earnings growth over a full economic cycle.

Management continues to be bullish, and rightfully so, as Aon's businesses are posting very strong rates of growth across the board, for the most part. We see expense savings as a driver of earnings growth along with the buyback, and organic revenue growth should continue to move the top line higher as well. Given the broad assortment of professional services the company offers as well as its global footprint, we are bullish on Aon's future. We note forex translation has been a sizable headwind in the past, but Aon has thus far been able to overcome that, and then some.

Updated August 8th, 2022, by Josh Arnold

The dividend should continue to rise at roughly the rate of earnings, and we forecast the payout to be at $3.77 in 2027, up from the current $2.24. Aon is not a high-yield stock by any means, but its dividend growth potential is strong given the very low payout ratio, and strong earnings growth outlook.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/E	16.8	19.2	18.6	19.8	20.4	20.1	17.9	17.7	20.3	21.6	21.8	21.0
Avg. Yld.	1.2%	1.0%	1.1%	1.2%	1.2%	1.1%	1.1%	0.9%	0.9%	0.8%	0.8%	0.8%

Aon has traded at an average price-to-earnings ratio of ~19 over the last decade, and we are using 21 for a fair value estimate as more recent years have seen higher valuations. The company is trading for a price-to-earnings ratio of 21.8 using our 2022 earnings-per-share estimate. That implies a headwind to total returns from the valuation, as Aon is trading above our estimate of fair value. We see the yield staying about where it is for the foreseeable future.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	21%	19%	20%	24%	25%	22%	19%	19%	18%	17%	17%	18%

Aon's payout ratio is still very low, consistent with the company's historical practices, and we do not believe that will change. We see the dividend remaining around one-sixth of total earnings, so the payout is extremely safe. However, this means Aon is highly unlikely to have a meaningful yield anytime soon. Management has stated that it plans to protect the dividend during periods of uncertainty, and we see no reasonable scenario where Aon's dividend would be at risk.

Aon was resilient during the Great Recession, and that was certainly the case again during the COVID crisis, the product of its very diversified revenue streams. This is also a competitive advantage for the firm, along with its world-class client list and reputation.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

We are forecasting 9.9% total annual returns, consisting of the 0.8% yield, 10% EPS growth, and a headwind from the valuation. We're moving the stock from buy to hold on slightly weaker total return potential. Aon offers dividend growth potential, but also a long runway for earnings-per-share growth with a slight overvaluation.
