Overview & Current Events

Stanley Black & Decker is a world leader in power tools, hand tools, and related items. The company holds the top global position in tools and storage sales. Stanley Black & Decker is second in the world in the areas of commercial electronic security and engineered fastening. Stanley Works and Black & Decker merged in 2010 to form the current company, though the company can trace its history back to 1843. Black & Decker was founded in Baltimore, MD in 1910 and manufactured the world's first portable power tool.

On July 20th, 2022, Stanley Black & Decker announced it was raising its quarterly dividend 1.3% to $0.80, extending the company's dividend growth streak to 55 consecutive years.

On July 22nd, the company completed its previously announced sale of its Security Business to Securities AB for $3.2 billion in cash.

On July 28th, 2022, Stanley Black & Decker announced second quarter results for the period ending June 30th, 2022. Revenue grew 15.5% to $4.4 billion, but was $350 million less than expected. Adjusted earnings-per-share of $1.77 compared unfavorably to $3.08 in the prior year and was $0.36 below estimates.

Organic growth declined 6%. Sales for Tools & Outdoor, the largest segment within the company, experienced an organic decline of 9% as a 7% benefit from pricing was more than offset by a decline in volume. North America fell 11%, emerging markets were flat, and Europe declined 10%. Industrial organic growth was higher by 12%. Infrastructure grew 26% due to ongoing high demand for attachment tools. Engineered Fastening was up 7% as the aerospace market has returned to growth. General industrial and automotive fasteners also performed well. Adjusted gross margin contracted 800 basis points to 27.9% as higher prices were more than offset by higher commodity inflation and lower volume. The company also announced a cost reduction program that is expected to reduce expenses by $1 billion by the end of 2023 and by $2 billion within three years.

Stanley Black & Decker offered revised guidance for 2022. Due to inflationary pressures and lower demand, the company now expects adjusted earnings-per-share in a range of $5.00 to $6.00, down from $9.50 to $10.50 and $12.00 to $12.50 previously. We have updated our forecast accordingly.

Stanley Black & Decker has seen earnings-per-share grow at a rate of more than 10% over both the last five- and 10-year periods of time. Stanley Black & Decker remained profitable over the Great Recession but saw earnings decline 15% in 2008 and 20% in 2009. In the years since, Stanley Black & Decker has generally seen its earnings-per-share rise consistently. We expect the company to continue to grow earnings-per-share at a rate of 8% annually going forward due to a high starting base for earnings-per-share as well as the quality of the company.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/E	15.2	16.3	16.2	17.1	17.2	19.1	17.5	16.9	17.6	16.8	17.6	16.5

Shares of Stanley Black & Decker have decreased $29, or 23%, since our April 29th, 2022 update. Based on revised earnings-per-share guidance for 2022, the stock now trades with a price-to-earnings ratio, or P/E, of 17.6. We reaffirm our target P/E of 16.5, which is in-line with the long-term average. If shares were to revert to our target P/E by 2027, then valuation would be a 1.3% headwind to annual returns over this time. Stanley Black & Decker's current yield is one of the stock's highest over the past decade.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

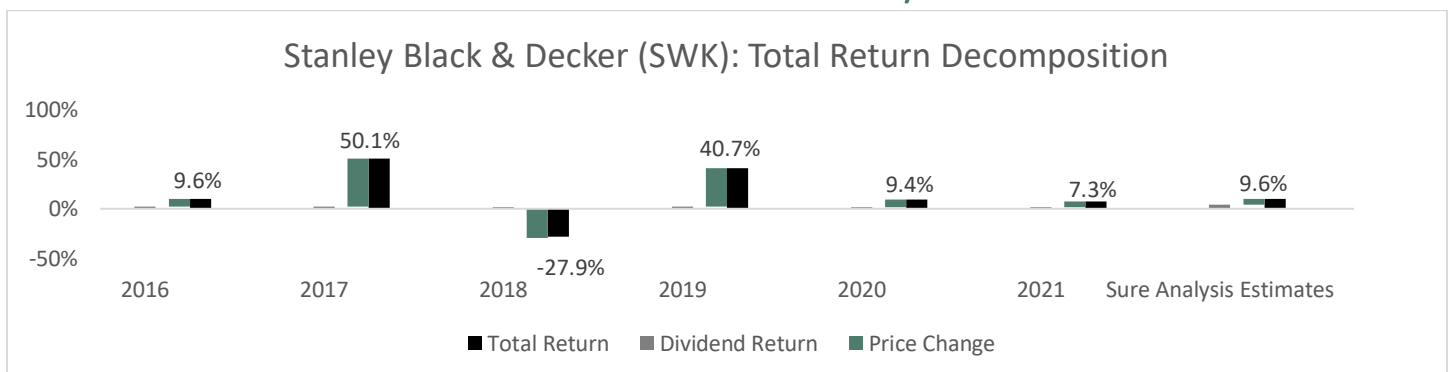

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	39%	40%	38%	37%	35%	33%	32%	33%	31%	27%	58%	58%

As seen during the 2008/2009-time period, Stanley Black & Decker is not recession-proof, but investors who were willing to hold shares of the company from the 2008 lows have seen their shares grow enormously. The company's low payout ratio does make it likely that dividends will continue rising even through a serious economic downturn. Stanley Black & Decker's key competitive advantage is that its products are well-known and respected by customers. This was why the company has been able to increase prices in certain product categories over the years and not see a decline in sales. Stanley Black & Decker has also been very active in making strategic acquisitions to help grow the company. For example, adding the Craftsman Brand helped drive organic growth in North America every quarter, outside of the first two quarters in 2020, since the 2017 acquisition.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Stanley Black & Decker is now expected to produce annual returns of 9.6% through 2027, down from our previous estimate of 15.8%. This projection stems from an 8% earnings growth and a starting yield of 3.3% offset by a low single-digit headwind from multiple reversion. Low demand and higher inflation costs impacted Stanley Black & Decker's second quarter. The sharp reduction in earnings estimates is reflective of the pressures that the company is experiencing. We have lowered our five-year price target $109 to $133 due to revised guidance, but note that Stanley Black & Decker has an impressive dividend growth streak and a higher than usual yield. Shares earn a hold rating due to projected returns.
