Overview & Current Events

Sensient Technologies is a basic materials company focused on product additives for foods, beverages, and cosmetics. The company's largest line of business is in making flavors and extracts. Key products on the flavor side include dehydrated onion and garlic products. Coloring additives make up most of the rest of the firm's revenues.

Sensient has seen a strong operating environment over the past year, both in terms of unit demand and pricing. In fact, in some categories, such as onion products, it has struggled to keep up with the high levels of consumer demand. Regardless, Sensient has been able to manage through supply chain and inflationary issues well and its business is showing newfound success. This positive inflection has continued into 2022.

On July 22nd, Sensient delivered upbeat second quarter results. Earnings per share of 92 cents soared from 61 cents per share in the same quarter of 2021 and topped analyst expectations comfortably. Revenues jumped more than 10 percent year-over-year, rising from $336 million to $372 million. The company was able to achieve these strong results even as the surge in the U.S. dollar caused a 5 percent drag on Sensient's earnings per share.

Sensient continues to see strong prospects through the rest of 2022. It reconfirmed its guidance for key metrics such as earnings per share growth and EBITDA. Earnings growth is particularly favorable with Sensient still seeing high teens growth for the year. While the company's operating business remains strong, currency is a growing problem. Sensient warned that it now sees foreign exchange translation costing it 23 cents per share of earnings this year, double the prior forecast.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
EPS	$2.49	$2.27	$3.02	$3.05	$3.21	$3.42	$3.70	$2.96	$2.59	$3.13	$3.45	$4.62
DPS	$0.87	$0.91	$0.98	$1.04	$1.11	$1.23	$1.35	$1.47	$1.56	$1.58	$1.64	$2.09
Shares	50	50	48	45	44	43	42	42	42	42	41	41

Sensient has been a slow grower over the past decade. Earnings per share rose from $2.49 to $3.13 between 2012 and 2021. The underlying business grew even less than that. Revenues declined outright, and gross profit and operating profit also failed to show any improvement. However, Sensient has bought back a sizable number of shares over the past decade, allowing the company to post some earnings per share growth despite the lack of top-line momentum.

Things may be changing for the better now, however. Sensient has enjoyed a robust pricing environment over the past year and posted some of its best growth metrics in ages. It's also worth noting that Sensient has consolidated its business in recent years. It sold off its ink business and its yogurt fruit products operations in 2020. The company could enjoy better results going forward following the streamlining of its product lines.

Sensient has enjoyed decent dividend growth in recent years, with a 5.9% annualized growth rate over the past five years. However, that dividend growth has been significantly faster than underlying earnings growth, causing the payout ratio to rise.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/E	14.8	18.9	18.1	21.3	21.5	22.8	18.7	22.5	22.0	27.7	22.3	21.0
Avg. Yld.	2.4%	2.1%	1.8%	1.6%	1.6%	1.6%	2.0%	2.2%	2.7%	1.8%	2.1%	2.2%

Sensient started off the early 2010s with a P/E ratio around 15 and spent several years below 20. The P/E ratio has climbed over time, however, hitting a peak of 27.7 in 2021. The company's earnings haven't historically grown quickly enough to support that sort of premium valuation multiple, and in 2022, Sensient's P/E has returned to a more typical level. We anticipate its P/E settling in the low 20s over the long-term.

On a dividend yield basis, Sensient stock has offered between 1.6% and 2.7% over the past decade. The current 2.1% dividend yield falls right in the middle of that range and seems appropriate for Sensient going forward.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	35%	40%	32%	34%	35%	36%	36%	50%	60%	50%	48%	45%

Sensient has a fairly strong balance sheet, as it has just $530 million of long-term debt. The company currently has more than 8x interest coverage on its debt. That, plus the fact that it enjoys a history of stable earnings, should ensure that Sensient is well-positioned to handle its financial obligations.

Sensient operates in a competitive industry with limited competitive moats. This is reflected in the company's sluggish growth metrics over the past decade. Past dividend growth exceeded earnings increases, leading to a rise in the payout ratio from 35% to 60% from 2012 to 2020. However, dividend coverage has improved over the past two years.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Sensient has shown some promising operating results recently. If the company can sustain its recent momentum, that would support a higher P/E multiple going forward. For now, however, a wait and see approach remains prudent. We forecast 6% annualized earnings growth. That, when added to the dividend yield and a slight drag from falling valuation leads to an expected 6.4% annualized total return through 2027. Sensient stock earns a hold rating.
