Overview & Current Events

SEI Investments was founded in 1968 and over the last 50+ years has grown into a market capitalization of $7.1 billion. SEI is a global provider of investment processing, investment management, and investment operations solutions for financial institutions and advisors. SEI has about $400 billion in assets under management and around $900 billion in assets under administration. The company should produce about $2 billion in revenue this year.

SEI reported third quarter earnings on October 26th, 2022, and results were mixed. Earnings-per-share were 45 cents, which badly missed estimates of 70 cents. Revenue was down 3% year-over-year to $471 million, but was $12 million better than expected.

Assets under management excluding LSV were down $33 billion, or 17%, year-over-year to $166 billion.

Revenue from information processing and software servicing fees were up as new clients were brought on board. Additional revenue from the Novus during last year's fourth quarter contributed to higher revenue as well.

Revenue from AUM declined due to the significant decline in capital markets during Q3. The decline was partially offset by increased revenue from AUM.

Operating expenses rose due to increased personnel costs from business growth, competitive labor markets, and the impact of inflation on wages and services. This was partially offset by lower direct costs related to AUM.

The company repurchased 890k shares of common stock for $49.4 million during the quarter, at an average price of $55.55 per share.

We now see $3.45 in earnings-per-share for this year following Q3 results.

From 2013 to 2019, SEI managed to double its earnings and looking forward, we believe that strong growth can continue. SEI saw higher earnings-per-share in each year since 2011, until the COVID-impacted 2020. We are forecasting 6% earnings-per-share growth over the next five years. We see SEI achieving this result through continued revenue expansion as more customers adopt its SEI Wealth Platform, and its relatively newer IT services, as well as assets under management and advisement growth. We see mid-single-digit revenue growth as the primary driver of earnings going forward. SEI also buys back stock at low single-digit rates and is seeing margin expansion with its higher revenue. The key is revenue growth as SEI invests heavily in its future, and revenue growth has slowed materially.

SEI's dividend growth has been decent in recent years but it is not a high-income stock at this point. We see dividend growth going forward, but keep in mind that investors own SEI for the earnings growth potential, not for the yield, and that is not going to change anytime soon. Indeed, the payout ratio remains very low and given how much SEI invests in its platform on a regular basis, in addition to share repurchases, we expect the payout ratio to remain fairly constant.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/E	17.4	18.4	19.0	24.4	22.6	22.3	20.3	15.8	18.3	16.0	15.7	18.0
Avg. Yld.	1.5%	1.4%	1.3%	1.0%	1.2%	1.0%	1.0%	1.2%	1.3%	1.3%	1.5%	1.4%

SEI's price-to-earnings multiple is slightly higher than our last report, and it is now trading at 15.7 times this year's earnings, which is well under our estimate of fair value at 18 times earnings. The stock's historical range is fairly narrow at 16 to 22 times earnings. We therefore see a tailwind to total returns due to valuation expansion as the stock is quite cheaply valued. The dividend is not a priority for SEI as it continues to spend cash on its products and services to fuel future growth. This is not a stock one owns for the yield, although it now yields about what the S&P 500 does.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	11%	33%	12%	23%	24%	25%	20%	21%	24%	20%	23%	26%

The payout ratio is very low as earnings-per-share expansion has outpaced dividend growth in recent years. There may come a time when the dividend is a significant source of returns, but SEI is understandably focused on growth today.

SEI's competitive advantage is in its platform and services, which allow it to drive efficiencies and lower risk for its clients. That does not make it immune from economic downturns, however, as the Great Recession dinged revenue and earnings meaningfully. Given the industry SEI serves, it is reasonable to expect material weakness during a recession, so that is something investors should consider.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Overall, SEI looks like an undervalued stock with modest growth potential. We are forecasting 10.3% total annual returns going forward, comprised of the 1.5% current yield and 6% earnings-per-share growth, in addition to a 2.8% gain from valuation expansion. SEI may become an income stock in the future, but it is still very much in its growth stage, so that is a long way off. We're moving SEI from hold to buy after Q3 results.
