Overview & Current Events

SL Green Realty Corp. (SLG) was formed in 1980. It is an integrated real estate investment trust (REIT) that is focused on acquiring, managing, and maximizing the value of Manhattan commercial properties. It is Manhattan's largest office landlord, with a market capitalization of $2.6 billion, and currently owns 62 buildings totaling 34 million square feet.

In mid-October, SLG reported (10/19/2022) financial results for the third quarter of fiscal 2022. Its occupancy rate edged up from 92.0% at the end of the previous quarter to 92.1%, but its same-store net operating income dipped -0.5% over the prior year's quarter. Given also the negative effect of some assets sales, its funds from operations (FFO) per share decreased -7% over the prior year's quarter, from $1.78 to $1.66. The REIT exceeded the analysts' consensus by $0.01. During the quarter, SLG signed 32 Manhattan office leases for a total of 930,232 square feet.

SLG has been severely hit by the pandemic, which has hurt several companies that are tenants of SLG. Occupancy of office space in New York remains near historic lows. This has caused an unprecedented tenant-friendly environment and challenges to the business of SLG. The REIT has offered average concessions of 9 months of free rent in its new leases this year. On the bright side, this metric improved to 5 months in the third quarter. SLG has not provided guidance for 2022. However, thanks to expected improvement in its business, SLG has raised its dividend by 2.5% this year.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

SLG benefits from long-term growth in rental rates in one of the most popular commercial areas in the world, Manhattan. The REIT pursues growth by acquiring attractive properties and raising rental rates in its existing properties. It also signs multi-year contracts (7-15 years) with its tenants in order to secure reliable cash flows. SLG has grown its funds from operations per share at a 2.9% average annual rate in the last decade. Due to the effect of the pandemic on its business, funds from operations decreased last year. The pandemic has subsided this year but the REIT has not begun to recover from the work-from-home trend yet. Nevertheless, we expect SLG to grow its funds from operations per share at a 5.0% average annual rate over the next five years off this year's low expected level.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/FFO	14.6	17.1	18.2	17.8	12.5	16.1	14.6	12.2	8.3	10.6	5.8	11.4

SLG has traded at an average price-to-FFO ratio of 14.2 during the last decade. Due to the impact of the work-from-home trend on its business and the impact of 40-year high inflation on its valuation, the REIT is currently trading at a 10-year low FFO multiple of 5.8. In order to be conservative, we assume a fair price-to-FFO ratio of 11.4, which is equal to the 4-year average of the stock. If SLG reaches our fair valuation level in five years, it will enjoy a 14.6% annualized boost to its returns.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	20%	29%	36%	39%	35%	49%	50%	49%	50%	54%	57%	46%

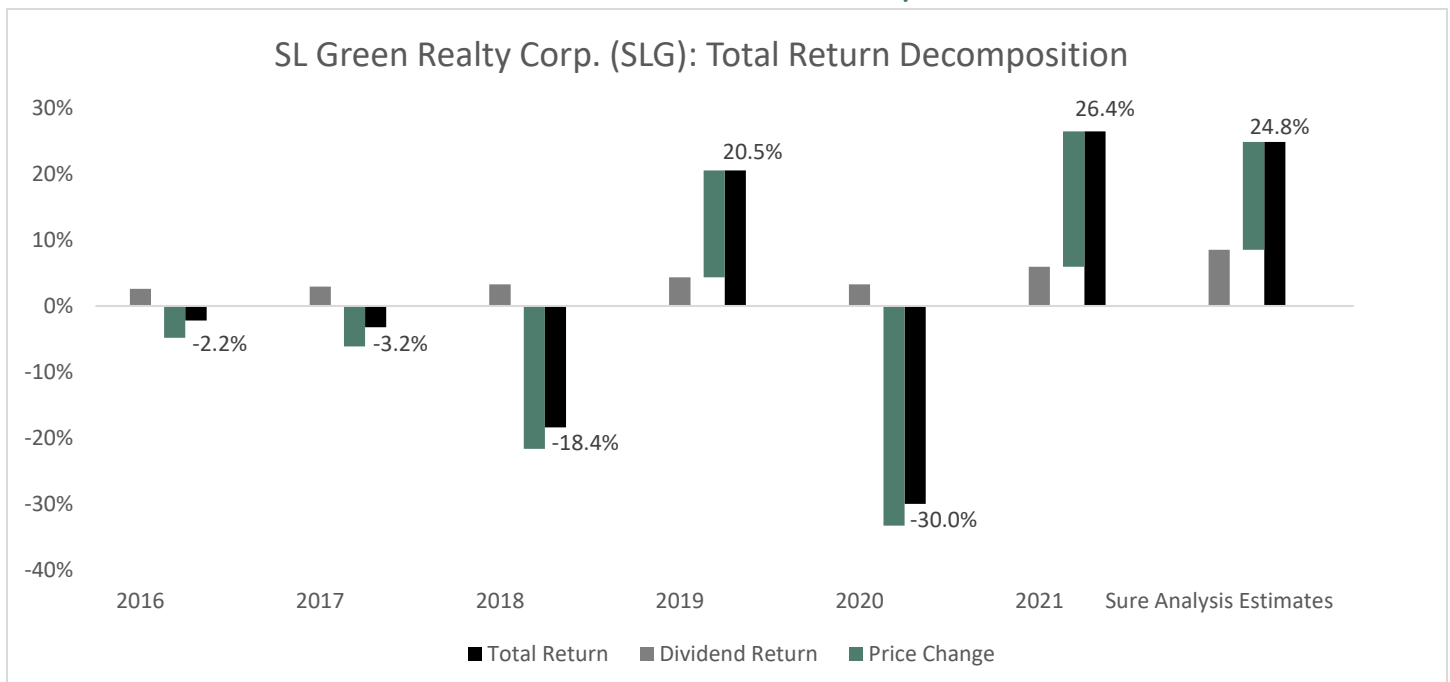

During the last 40 years, SLG has been operating, investing and developing several high-quality commercial properties in Manhattan. It has thus developed great expertise in the area, which constitutes a significant competitive advantage.

SLG is under pressure due to the work-from-home trend, which has resulted from the pandemic. However, it has a decent balance sheet, with a healthy BBB credit rating. As a result, it can endure the ongoing crisis and emerge stronger whenever the work-from-home trend subsides. It can also maintain its attractive 9.8% dividend, which is well covered by cash flows, with a healthy payout ratio of 57%. SLG is thus suitable for income-oriented investors who can wait patiently for the recovery of the REIT from the pandemic. On the other hand, we note that SLG recently issued a great amount of debt to buy new properties and thus its net debt climbed to $7.0 billion, which is about 15 times the annual FFO and nearly triple the market capitalization of the stock. We will closely monitor the debt situation in the upcoming quarters.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

SLG is the largest landlord in the area of Manhattan and thus it is ideal for those who want to benefit from the reliable, multi-year growth in rental rates in this area. The REIT is currently facing the headwind from the work-from-home trend and thus it is trading at a 10-year low valuation level. However, we expect this trend to subside and see more people return to working in offices next year. Thanks to its 9.8% dividend, 5.0% annual growth of FFO per share and a 14.6% potential annualized expansion of its valuation level, SLG could offer a 24.8% average annual return over the next five years. We thus maintain our buy rating and advise investors to be patient.
