Overview & Current Events

SBA Communications Corporation a leading independent owner and operator of wireless communications infrastructure, primarily including tower structures that support antennas used for wireless communications. The company owns 36,519 towers which it leases to multiple wireless telecom providers. SBA also owns a site development business, through which it assists telecom providers in developing and maintaining their own wireless service networks. The company generates over $2 billion in annual revenues and is headquartered in Boca Raton, Florida.

On October 31st, 2022, SBA Communications reported its Q3 results for the period ending September 30th, 2022. The company posted record revenues of $676 million, 14.7% higher year-over-year, driven by a larger portfolio of towers and higher leasing activity. Specifically, during the quarter SBA acquired 131 communication sites for total cash consideration of $54.9 million and also constructed 113 towers on its own.

AFFO grew 14.4% year-over-year on a per-share basis to $310, boosted by buybacks over the past year and lower interest expenses, which were offset by higher operating expenses. SBA didn't repurchase any shares during Q3.

Subsequent to the quarter-end, SBAC purchased or is under contract to purchase approximately 34 communication sites for an aggregate consideration of approximately $28.5 million, suggesting its growth pipeline is being well sustained. Following strong operating momentum, management boosted its FY2022 outlook, as we had forecasted in our previous report. They are now expecting site leasing revenues between $2.325 and $2.335 billion and AFFO/share between $12.12 and $12.34 (previously $11.87 and $12.24). We have used the midpoint of $12.23 in our calculations, which implies a growth of 13.9%.

SBA Communications displays an excellent record of AFFO/share growth powered by continuous development and acquisitions of new towers, increased leasing activity, and rate hikes (typically in the range of 3-4% per year). Additionally, the company maximizes its tower capacity by accommodating multiple tenants per tower structure without incurring additional costs just by placing additional antennas. SBA currently accommodates around 2 tenants per tower, with the capacity for more to be added going forward. As a result, we forecast AAFO/share of 10% in the medium-term, powered by the aforementioned drivers, as well as stock buybacks, which are rare for REITs, and showcase the company's ability to self-fund its future growth without diluting shareholders.

Despite its REIT status, due to SBA reporting losses amid reinvesting the majority of its gross profits over the past decade, the company was not required to pay dividends. Dividend payments were initiated in 2019 and are growing rapidly amid starting out from humble levels. The previous two quarterly hikes were 25% and 22.4%, respectively, with ample room for further growth. We forecast DPS growth of around 20% in the medium-term, as the company gradually pays out a larger chunk of its bottom line to shareholders.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	Now	2027
Avg. P/E	22.0	19.5	17.2	20.7	16.6	20.1	20.4	26.5	31.8	29.3	22.7	23.0
Avg. Yld.	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	0.3%	0.6%	0.7%	1.0%	1.6%

SBA Communications has historically traded at around 22.4X its underlying AFFO. Due to improving growth prospects, the 5G rollout, and economies of scale expanding its profitability potential, investors have historically attached a premium price tag to the stock. Following the stock's correction from our previous report, its valuation has now approached our fair estimate, which we have retained at 23X FFOs. Also, due to the company's humble dividend payments and premium valuation, the stock's yield is -and should be expected to remain- only a token to total shareholder returns despite its rapid growth.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout	---	---	---	---	---	---	---	9%	20%	22%	23%	36%

We consider SBA's dividend quite safe and widely covered by the underlying AFFO. The company enjoys several qualities, including a highly scalable business model, a credit-worthy tenant base of telecom majors, contractually secured and predictable revenues, and a clear runway for gradual growth ahead. The company also enjoys a distinct competitive advantage along with the handful of other tower REITs which have formed an oligopoly in the space, which has become quite expensive to penetrate into. Unlike traditional real estate properties, whose tenants may struggle to pay rent during a potential recession, telecom companies enjoy extremely resilient revenues, while the essential and mission-critical nature of telecommunication ensures no adverse impact on SBA's performance. This was proven both during the Great Financial Crisis and the COVID-19 pandemic when revenues continued to grow during both periods.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

SBA has produced great returns for its shareholders over the past decade, powered by consistent growth in financials. The current dividend, while tiny, should gradually increasingly contribute to total returns. Our growth forecasts remain strong, and the company enjoys unique qualities. With the stock's valuation normalizing, we now forecast annualized returns of 11.5% in the medium-term. Thus, we upgrade SBA Communications to a buy.
