Overview & Current Events

Uniti Group is a Real Estate Investment Trust (i.e., REIT) that focuses on acquiring, constructing, and leasing out communications infrastructure in the United States. In particular, it owns millions of miles of fiber strand along with other communications real estate. In its recent past it has faced challenges due to its largest tenant filing for bankruptcy and renegotiating its lease with Uniti. However, the REIT is now on firmer footing and is pursuing growth opportunities. On November 3rd, Uniti Group reported Q3 results. Consolidated revenues were $283.1 million. The net loss and Adjusted EBITDA were $155.7 million and $225.1 million, respectively, for the same period. Net loss attributable to common shares was $155.9 million for the period, and includes a $216.0 million goodwill impairment charge related to the Uniti Fiber segment that was driven by an increase in the macro interest rate environment. Adjusted Funds From Operations was $112.6 million, or $0.43 per diluted common share. Uniti Fiber contributed $74.5 million of revenues and $28.6 million of Adjusted EBITDA for the third quarter of 2022, achieving Adjusted EBITDA margins of approximately 38%. Uniti Fiber's net success-based capital expenditures during the quarter were $26.3 million. Uniti Leasing contributed revenues of $208.6 million and Adjusted EBITDA of $203.2 million for the third quarter, representing growth of 4.6% for each when compared to the third quarter of 2021. During the quarter, Uniti Leasing deployed capital expenditures of $71.9 million, primarily related to the construction of approximately 2,250 new route miles of valuable fiber infrastructure.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Since the IPO in 2015, Uniti Group has struggled to grow AFFO per share as it has been weighed down by a heavy debt burden and significant troubles with a very large tenant. Eventually it was forced to renegotiate its lease and as a result has taken a hit to cash flows. However, the REIT is on much firmer footing today and is looking to reignite growth.

It is primarily working to drive this growth through refinancing its debt at significantly lower rates in order to generate increased cash flow from existing revenue streams while also leasing up its under-utilized assets. By adding leasing to its assets it can generate extremely high returns on investment capital as additional customers require minimal additional capital expenditures, but bring in strong cash flows. As a result, we expect Uniti Group to generate 4.5% annualized AFFO per share growth over the next half decade.

Uniti Group (UNIT)

Updated November 22nd, 2022 by Samuel Smith

Uniti Group has traded at mid to high single digit P/AFFO multiples for most of its existence. That said, we believe it now deserves a higher multiple given that it is standing on stronger footing after it renegotiated the lease with its largest tenant and is now pivoting to growth.

With Uniti poised to grow AFFO per share at a steady clip moving forward but interest rates rising, we assign a fair value P/AFFO multiple of 6x, which should provide a meaningful tailwind to total returns moving forward.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2012	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2027
Payout				92%	92%	96%	96%	0%	35%	36%	34%	29%

While Uniti Group's balance sheet is far from rock solid, it is on firmer footing and continuing to improve as management works to refinance debt to improve the maturity ladder as well as reduce interest costs. Furthermore, the trust is retaining a lot of cash right now thanks to the low payout ratio which it is using to deleverage and pursue growth opportunities which should in turn reduce leverage further.

Uniti's fiber assets are critical infrastructure in the regions in which it operates and therefore the REIT should enjoy fairly stable cash flows in the face of a recession. While its assets are mission critical, there is nothing unique about Uniti Group that gives it a durable competitive advantage. As a result, it lacks meaningful pricing power and therefore is unlikely to drive abnormally high profitability over time. The main source of total returns will be a combination of its stable cash flowing business model and multiple expansion to compensation for the current deep discount in shares.

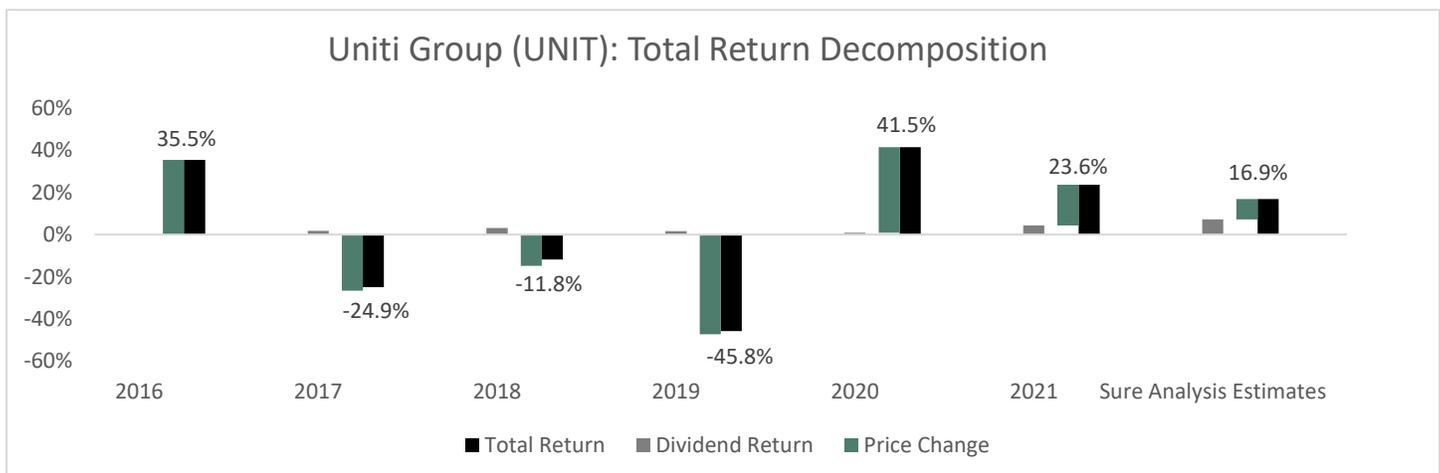

Given the low payout ratio, significant growth upside, and the mission critical and recession resistant nature of Uniti's assets, the dividend looks safe for the foreseeable future.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Uniti Group offers investors the best of all three investment approaches: a stable and attractive dividend with the potential for growth in the near future, a significantly undervalued business model that could lead to rapid price appreciation as the multiple expands, and growth opportunities in its fiber assets that should drive long term price appreciation.

While the balance sheet is not as strong as we would like to see it, and the management team needs to re-earn investor trust after its dubious past, Uniti's best days appear to be ahead of it and the 16.9% expected annualized total returns for the next half decade make it a Buy.
