Overview & Current Events

Sensient Technologies is a basic materials company focused on product additives for foods, beverages, and cosmetics. The company's largest line of business is in making flavors and extracts. Key products on the flavor side include dehydrated onion and garlic products. Coloring additives make up most of the rest of the firm's revenues.

Sensient has seen a strong operating environment over the past year, both in terms of unit demand and pricing. In fact, in some categories, such as onion products, it has struggled to keep up with the high levels of consumer demand. Regardless, Sensient has been able to manage through supply chain and inflationary issues well and its business is showing newfound success. Recently, the company has shown its strongest earnings growth in quite a long time.

On February 10th, 2023, Sensient delivered mixed fourth quarter results. Earnings per share of 69 cents advanced from 65 cents per share in the same quarter of 2021 but fell short of analyst expectations. Revenues of $348 million also missed expectations and grew just 2.4% year-over-year. This marks a sharp deceleration in Sensient's growth trajectory, though the company pointed to negative foreign exchange translation effects as leading to much of that slowdown.

Foreign exchange may start to swing in the company's favor in 2023 as the U.S. Dollar has weakened significantly over the past quarter. However, Sensient's 2023 earnings guidance is still soft. The company sees earnings being flat or growing only slightly for the year. This comes about as the company faces a sharp rise in interest costs due to the changing rate environment, along with an increase in the company's effective tax rate.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
EPS	$2.27	$3.02	$3.05	$3.21	$3.42	$3.70	$2.96	$2.59	$3.13	$3.34	$3.31	$4.43
DPS	$0.87	$0.91	$0.98	$1.04	$1.11	$1.23	$1.35	$1.47	$1.56	$1.58	$1.64	$2.09
Shares	50	50	48	45	44	43	42	42	42	42	41	41

Sensient has been a slow grower over the past decade. Earnings-per-share rose from $2.27 to $3.34 between 2013 and 2022. The underlying business grew even less than that. Revenues declined outright, and gross profit and operating profit also failed to show any improvement. However, Sensient has bought back a sizable number of shares over the past decade, allowing the company to post some earnings-per-share growth despite the lack of top-line momentum.

Things may be changing for the better now, however. Sensient has enjoyed a robust pricing environment over the past year and posted some of its best growth metrics in quite a while. It's also worth noting that Sensient has consolidated its business in recent years. It sold off its ink business and its yogurt fruit products operations in 2020, while making new acquisitions that add directly onto the company's core product lines. We are forecasting 6% annual growth.

Sensient has enjoyed decent dividend growth in recent years, with a 6.8% annualized growth rate over the past decade. However, that dividend growth has been significantly faster than underlying earnings growth, causing the payout ratio to rise.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	18.9	18.1	21.3	21.5	22.8	18.7	22.5	22.0	27.7	22.0	22.1	21.0
Avg. Yld.	2.1%	1.8%	1.6%	1.6%	1.6%	2.0%	2.2%	2.7%	1.8%	2.2%	2.2%	2.3%

Sensient started off the early 2010s with a P/E ratio around 15 and spent several years below 20. The P/E ratio has climbed over time, however, hitting a peak of 27.7 in 2021. The company's earnings haven't historically grown quickly enough to support that sort of premium valuation multiple, and in 2022, Sensient's P/E has returned to a more typical level. We anticipate its P/E settling in the low 20s over the long-term.

On a dividend yield basis, Sensient stock has offered between 1.6% and 2.7% over the past decade. The current 2.2% dividend yield is right in the middle of the firm's historical valuation range.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	40%	32%	34%	35%	36%	36%	50%	60%	50%	49%	50%	47%

Sensient has a fairly strong balance sheet, as it has just $630 million of long-term debt. That, plus the fact that it enjoys a history of stable earnings, should ensure that Sensient is well-positioned to handle its financial obligations.

Sensient operates in a commoditized industry with limited competitive moats. This is reflected in the company's sluggish growth metrics over the past decade. Past dividend growth exceeded earnings increases, leading to a rise in the payout ratio from 32% to 60% from 2014 to 2020. However, dividend coverage has improved over the past few years.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Sensient has shown some promising operating results recently, even with present currency headwinds. This improvement could support a higher P/E ratio in the future. For now, however, a wait and see approach remains prudent. We forecast 6% annualized earnings growth. That, when added to the dividend yield, leads to an expected 7.0% annualized total return through 2028. Shares are fairly valued in our view, and Sensient stock earns a hold rating.
