Overview & Current Events

Autoliv is a global manufacturer of airbags, seatbelts, and steering wheels for automobile manufacturers all over the globe. The company is the industry leader in a critical and growing segment of the automobile manufacturing process. It was founded in 1953 and since then, has grown to 64,000 employees, about $10.2 billion in revenue this year and a $7.5 billion market capitalization. Autoliv is listed in both New York and Stockholm and is headquartered in the latter city; we use the New York listing and U.S. dollars for this report.

Autoliv reported first quarter earnings on April 21st, 2023, and results were better than expected on both the top and bottom lines. Adjusted earnings-per-share came to 90 cents, which was two cents ahead of estimates. Revenue soared 17% higher year-over-year to $2.49 billion, which was also $170 million better than expectations.

The company reported a 21% increase in organic sales in the first quarter, which management noted was “significant outperformance” in all of its operating regions. This outperformance was due to new product launches from auto manufacturers, as well as higher prices.

Adjusted operating income was $131 million, nearly double the $68 million from the year-ago period. On an adjusted operating margin basis, the company posted 5.3% margin from 3.2%. Autoliv noted volatile production from OEMs, as well as adverse forex impacts.

Free cash flow was -$189 million as capex rose sharply due to capacity expansion. The company did note its leverage ratio also increased to 1.6X from 1.4X due to higher net debt. Autoliv also bought back 450 thousand shares during the first quarter.

We now see $6.50 in earnings-per-share for this year, which is largely unchanged after Q1 results.

Autoliv’s earnings-per-share has been volatile in the past decade, and the overall trajectory has been flat. The company struggled during the Great Recession given its exposure to the automobile market, which of course declined significantly as a result of the economic downturn. However, the recovery was swift and strong. We’re estimating long-term earnings growth of 12% annually from this year’s base, which we note is below that of 2018. Initial guidance for 2023 is quite bullish, and we think normalizing trends in new vehicle production will help immensely in the coming quarters.

Autoliv is performing well against benchmarks over the long-term. Light vehicle production is generally back to normalized levels, but there was a sizable decline in late-2021 due to supply constraints globally, and there are signs of continued volatility. We note that Autoliv's level of outperformance against LVP has remained strong throughout all portions of the cycle.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	15.6	19.6	22.2	17.1	23.1	14.1	13.3	22.7	19.1	17.0	13.4	16.0
Avg. Yld.	2.5%	2.1%	1.9%	2.1%	2.1%	2.5%	3.3%	0.9%	2.0%	3.4%	3.0%	1.6%

Autoliv's price-to-earnings ratio has declined since our last report to 13.4 times our earnings estimate for 2023. We see fair value at 16 times earnings, which is more normalized based upon historical data, because Autoliv has rebounded exceptionally quickly from the slowdown of 2020. Given the move in the valuation, we now see a sizable tailwind to total returns.

The current yield is 3%, so Autoliv is still a respectable income stock at almost two times the yield of the S&P 500.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	39%	42%	43%	36%	49%	36%	43%	20%	37%	57%	41%	31%

We expect moderate dividend growth given management is likely to be shy about raising it to the point where it may need to be cut again in the future. The current payout ratio of 41% is more than sustainable.

Autoliv's competitive advantage is in its strong market share and the fact that it counts every major global automaker among its customers. It undoubtedly suffered in 2020, as it did during the last recession, but has rebounded. Autoliv continues to get multiple products in major vehicle launches across the world, reaffirming its strong market position, but it will remain highly reliant upon global light vehicle production.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Autoliv's valuation has moved lower since our last update. Revenue was strong in Q1, and guidance remains positive for 2023. The dividend is growing, and we see Autoliv's total return outlook as strong at 18% annually, based on projected growth of 12%, a 3.6% tailwind from the valuation, and the 3% yield. Given the double-digit projected returns, we're reiterating the stock at a buy rating.
