Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
EPS	$2.01	$2.59	$3.20	$2.99	$2.84	$3.49	$3.91	$4.65	$6.08	$5.46	$5.25	$6.09
DPS	$0.77	$0.79	$0.81	$0.85	$0.90	$0.97	$1.02	$1.09	$1.14	$1.22	$1.28	$1.48
Shares³	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2	1.2

Northeast Indiana Bancorp has increased earnings-per-share at a rate of 11.4% over the last decade. Given its size and the expected increase in earnings-per-share this year, we feel that a target growth rate of 3% going forward is appropriate. This takes into consideration the company's history paired against the uncertainty and low rates of the current environment.

Northeast Indiana Bancorp raised its quarterly dividend 6.7% to $0.32 for the November 25th, 2022 payment. The bank has now raised its dividend for 27 consecutive years. Northeast Indiana Bancorp also announced a $1.25 per share special dividend that was distributed on November 23, 2022. The bank often distributes a special dividend near the end of its calendar year, but we have not included this in our projections as the amount can vary from year to year.

Updated April 21st, 2023 by Nathan Parsh

Shares of Northeast Indiana Bancorp have decreased $2, or 4.5%, since our January 22nd, 2023 report. The stock has traded hands with an average price-to-earnings ratio of 8.8 since 2012. We have used a targeted price-to-earnings ratio of 9.0 due to the size of the bank and valuation of peer companies. Using the current share price and our expected earnings-per-share for the year, the stock is trading with a current price-to-earnings ratio of 8.0. If the stock were to revert to our target price-to-earnings ratio by 2028 then valuation would be a 2.4% tailwind to annual returns over this period of time.

Northeast Indiana Bancorp currently yields 3.0%, more than a full percentage point higher than the yield of the S&P 500.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	38%	31%	25%	28%	32%	28%	34%	23%	19%	22%	24%	24%

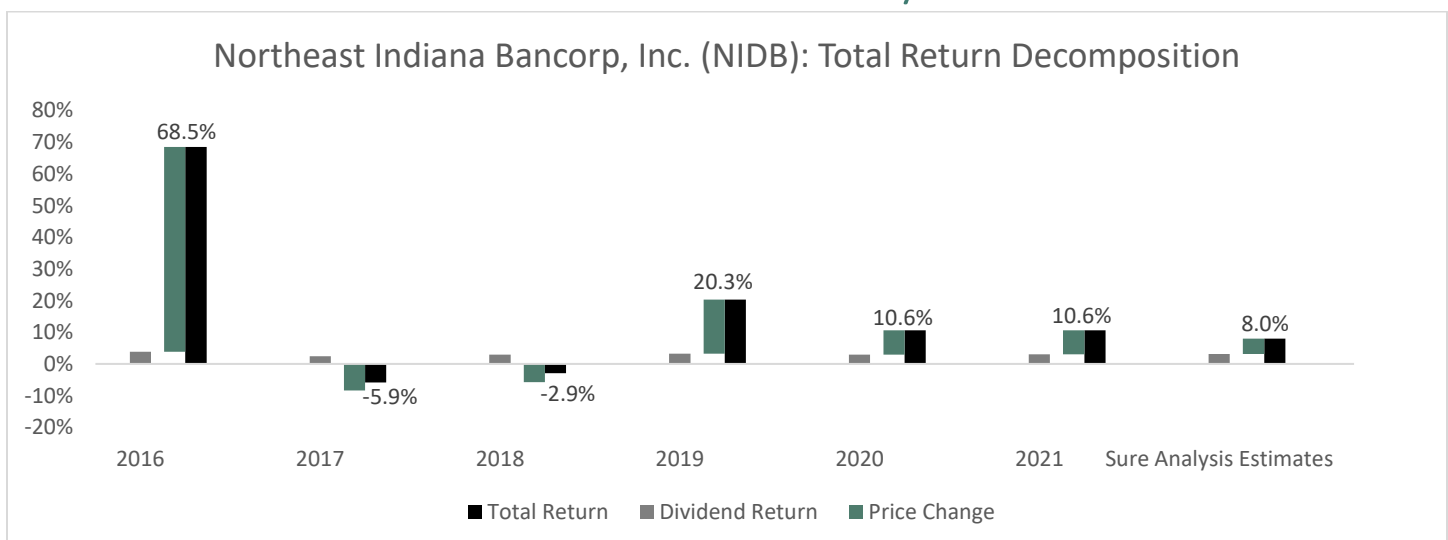

Northeast Indiana Bancorp performed well during the last recession. Earnings-per-share declined by -71% from 2006 to 2007, but rebounded by 58% to $1.53 from 2007 through 2009. The bank's performance during the last recession gives us some confidence that it would endure the next recession as well. Northeast Indiana Bancorp's ability to pay and raise its dividend for more than a quarter century despite its size is a sign of a strong business model.

As a small regional bank, Northeast Indiana Bancorp doesn't have the numerous advantages of larger regional banks. One point in the bank's favor is that offers a wide variety of services that compares favorably to those offered by its larger peers. This will likely aid Northeast Indiana Bancorp's ability to prevent customers from switching to a different bank. In addition, some customers may prefer the smaller bank operation.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

After first quarter results, Northeast Indiana Bancorp is projected to offer a total annual return of 8.0% through 2028, up from our prior estimate of a 7.0% return. This estimate is based on a 3.0% earnings growth rate, a 3.0% dividend yield, and a low single-digit contribution from multiple expansion. We note that total returns could be higher due to special dividends. Northeast Indiana Bancorp's stock had fallen as the recent banking crisis emerged, but shares are higher since reporting first quarter earnings results. Loan activity was weaker during the period, but we view gains in net interest income and margin as well as lack of provisions for credit losses as a positive. We maintain our 2028 price target of $55, but continue to rate shares of Northeast Indiana Bancorp as a hold due to projected returns.
