Overview & Current Events

Houlihan Lokey, Inc. (HLI) is a global independent investment bank with expertise in mergers and acquisitions (M&A), capital markets, financial restructurings, and financial and valuation advisory. Founded in 1972, this $6 billion market cap company has raised its dividend for the past 6 years.

Houlihan Lokey, Inc. reported Q4 and full year 2023 financial results on May 9th, 2023. For the quarter, earnings-per-share equaled $1.10, higher than the $0.97 the company reported in Q4 2022. For the full year the company reported $3.98 per share in earnings versus the $6.41 per share in 2022. The company has announced a new $0.55 dividend to be paid on the 15th of June. This dividend is well covered by the company's earnings.

The company believes that its diversified business model will continue to produce solid profitability under the current market environment. The Corporate Finance business continues to see strong new business activity and consistency in its quarterly results. Both the Financial Restructuring and Financial and Valuation Advisory business grew in the 2023 fiscal year despite the challenging M&A environment.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

HLI is an investment bank, and the bulk of its business is related to consulting and other investment advisory services, rather than the trading that some investment banks engage in. This has benefits and drawbacks, over the past couple of years this focus on advisory services has helped them do well, given the boom of mergers, acquisitions and in particular the SPAC boom of 2020.

On the other hand, now that interest rates are rising, and capital isn't as cheap anymore, this boom has begun to stall out, and that will drag down the company's business going forward. While this isn't by any means a deathblow to the company, it does help characterize the cyclicity of the business, and its prospects in an environment with a hawkish Federal Reserve. For these reasons we expect that over the next 5 years the company's earnings will shrink at a rate of around 5% per year, and we estimate that its EPS in 2029 will be around $3.10 per share.

Valuation Analysis

| Year             | 2014 | 2015 | 2016 | 2017 | 2018 | 2019 | 2020 | 2021 | 2022 | 2023 | Now         | 2029        |
|------------------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|------|-------------|-------------|
| Avg. P/E  | --   | --   | 20.4 | 16.4 | 17.0 | 18.7 | 17.0 | 13.6 | 14.0 | 21.6 | 22.3 | 13.0 |
| Avg. Yld. | --   | --   | 1.3% | 2.7% | 2.0% | 2.4% | 2.6% | 2.1% | 1.7% | 2.5% | 2.5% | 5.7% |

HLI has traditionally traded at around 16 times earnings, however with the more hawkish Federal Reserve constraining their activities going forward, we expect that this ratio will shrink to around 13 times earnings by 2029, in line with its worsening fundamentals.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

| Payout | --   | --   | 27%  | 44%  | 34%  | 45%  | 44%  | 29%  | 28%  | 53%  | 55%  | 75%  |

Houlihan Lokey Inc. is a well-established business with global operations and given its focus on advisory services over the traditional trading that many investment banks engage in, they are well positioned for a drawdown in their business, thanks to their lack of leverage. Indeed, leverage is often the cause of investment bank failures, and HLI is almost entirely insulated from such failure modes.

While it is concerning that macro-economic factors are currently moving against the company, the lack of leverage, long term debt commitments and the highly dynamic business model that HLI is engaging in means that they are well prepared to be able to cut costs and maintain profitability even in a difficult economic environment. Their geographical diversification also gives them some optionality going forward.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

With a 2.5% dividend yield, we are forecasting total return loss of 10.3% per annum, driven primarily by a shrinkage of their advisory and M&A business as a result of macro-economic factors and a reversion to the mean. We expect their valuation ratios to decrease in the future; particularly given the difficult environment they are operating in. As a result, their shares earn a sell rating.
