Overview & Current Events

From its somewhat inauspicious beginnings as a Washington, D.C. root-beer stand in 1927, Marriott has become an international hospitality juggernaut with over 7,000 properties operating under 30 brands in more than 130 countries and territories. It's the largest hotel chain in the world. As we know today, Marriott Intl was created in 1993 when the former Marriott Corp was split into two publicly traded companies, Marriott Intl. and Host Marriott Corp. (HST) (now known as Host Hotels & Resorts). Marriott Intl. manages and franchises a portfolio of hospital brands that range from the classic splendor of The Ritz-Carlton to the Fairfield Inns you find along the highway. Internationally, Marriott's Starwood subsidiary gives the Company a significant foothold in Europe and elsewhere. Marriott currently boasts a market cap north of $51.7 billion.

On May 2nd, 2023, the company reported its first quarter Fiscal Year (FY)2023 earning results. In the quarter, the company experienced significant growth in comparable systemwide constant dollar Revenue per Available Room (RevPAR) across its global operations. Worldwide, RevPAR increased by 34.3%, while in the U.S. & Canada it grew by 25.6%, and in international markets, the increase was an impressive 63.1% compared to the first quarter of 2022. The strong performance is reflected in the reported diluted earnings per share, which reached $2.43, compared to $1.14 in the same quarter of the previous year. Adjusted diluted earnings per share for the first quarter of 2023 were $2.09, an increase from $1.25 in the first quarter of 2022. The company's net income also saw substantial growth, with reported net income totaling $757 million, compared to $377 million in the year-ago quarter. Adjusted net income for the first quarter of 2023 was $648 million, up from $413 million in the first quarter of 2022. Adjusted Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation, and Amortization (EBITDA) reached $1,098 million in the first quarter of 2023, compared to $759 million in the same period of the previous year. In terms of expansion, the company added approximately 11,000 rooms globally during the first quarter, including around 5,800 rooms in international markets and over 2,700 conversion rooms. The worldwide development pipeline at the end of the quarter included more than 3,050 properties and approximately 502,000 rooms. Of these, more than 21,000 rooms were approved, pending signed contracts. Additionally, approximately 200,000 rooms were under construction as of the end of the first quarter.

We expect that the company to continue to grow earnings for 2023. We will use $8.30 per share as our valuation and fair price calculation.

Despite Marriott Intl.'s large size, the company continues to grow at a relatively brisk pace. The company expects continued growth in the number of new projects using Marriott's 30 brands. Across the hospitality industry, luxury lodging continues to be a strong trend. The company also expects to grow in the trendy and growing all-inclusive space. Marriott is expanding its all-inclusive portfolio in North and South America and the Caribbean, and Europe and Southeast Asia. However, there's no denying that, despite growth prospects, there's plenty of challenge in the industry. The company recently announced a dividend increase of 30% from $0.40 per share to $0.52 per share on May 12, 2023.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	21.1	25	24	26.3	19.6	24	24	732	52.7	22.3	21.5	18.0
Avg. Yld.	1.5%	1.2%	1.3%	1.7%	1.3%	1.2%	1.2%	0.4%	0.0%	0.7%	0.8%	0.7%

Looking at Marriott's performance during the last ten years, we notice the P/E has tended to remain solidly in the 21-25 range. However, we'll assign an expected P/E of 18, given the hospitality industry's continuing challenges. When it comes to dividend payouts, Marriott has a history of playing it slow but steady. However, the company did have to cut its dividend during the COVID-19 pandemic. It has since reinstated the dividend, but at a lower rate than before COVID-19.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	32.0%	30.3%	30.2%	31.4%	29.6%	25.1%	30.8%	266%	0.0%	14.9%	19%	12%

Although Marriott Intl. trades in excitement – luxury getaways, exotic destinations, and even room amenities that might trick you out of believing you're on business travel – the Company's stock performance has been anything but thrilling. The company's best advantage is its sheer size. At this point, if you're staying at a chain hotel anywhere in the world, there's a decent chance Marriott owns the brand.

During the first decade of the 21st century – which saw one of the most significant historical slumps in travel – Marriott remained profitable. The company used that time to develop new luxury brands and programs and found ways to trim the fat. The lowest EPS that the company clocked was in 2009, at $0.94. Thanks to the coronavirus, we're about to see another considerable drop-off in tourism. Unfortunately, there's no way to tell how long or how serious this event will be. We'll have to wait to see how the panic pans out. The company's balance sheet is not stable. The current ratio is only 0.5, and the debt-to-equity ratio is 18.3 at the end of FY2022, which is very concerning. However, the company is able to cover its interest with a coverage of 8.2x.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Marriott Intl. is facing challenges, including the continued growth of alternative stay platforms such as Airbnb. With modest expected annualized total returns of 6.9% for the next five years, we rate Marriott Intl. as a hold at current prices.
