Overview & Current Events

Nutrien Ltd. (NTR) is a Canadian company formed through Agrium and PotashCorp's merger in a closed transaction on January 1, 2018. The company produces and markets crop nutrients to agricultural, industrial, and feed customers worldwide. The company has over 1,700 retail locations in North America, South America, and Australia and is one of the world's largest manufacturers and suppliers of potash, nitrogen, and phosphate. The company provides over 20% of the global market on potash, 3% nitrogen, and 3% phosphate. Nutrien has a market capitalization of approximately $29.7 billion, more than 20,000 workers, and produced roughly $37.9 billion in revenue in 2022.

On May 10th, 2023, Nutrien reported its first quarter results for Fiscal Year (FY)2023. Total sales decreased (20)% Year over Year (YoY) to $6,107 million for 1Q23 compared to $7,657 million in 1Q22. The company reported a decline in its Retail adjusted EBITDA to $(34) million in the first quarter of 2023. The decrease was mainly due to lower sales and gross margins for crop nutrients and crop protection products, which were below normalized levels. This was caused by declining prices and higher cost inventory, which impacted crop nutrient margins. For the quarter, Potash adjusted EBITDA declined to $676 million, which was a result of lower net realized selling prices and lower sales volumes. North American sales volumes were impacted by just-in-time buying, while lower offshore demand from customers in Asia was mostly offset by record first quarter Canpotex sales volumes to Brazil. Additionally, Nitrogen adjusted EBITDA declined to $676 million in the first quarter. This was due to lower net realized selling prices for all major nitrogen products. However, this decline was partially offset by lower natural gas costs and increased operating rates at North American nitrogen plants. Nutrien repurchased 11.8 million shares year-to-date as of March 31, 2023, for approximately $900 million. The company's total shares outstanding declined to 496 million as at the end of the first quarter of 2023, representing a 10 percent reduction compared to the same period in 2022.

Finally, Nutrien revised its full-year 2023 adjusted EBITDA and adjusted net earnings per share guidance to $6.5 to $8.0 billion and $5.50 to $7.50 per share, respectively. The company is optimistic that it will be able to achieve these targets by leveraging its strengths and opportunities in the agriculture sector.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Nutrien does not have a long history as a combined company, and neither PotashCorp nor Agrium represent directly comparable predecessors. PotashCorp was primarily involved in its potash production side, while Agrium mainly represented the agricultural retail. As a combined company, Nutrien now has a significant stake in both sides, and with a 52/48 split, the merger was one of the equals. Analysts expect an EPS to be much lower in 2023 due to slowed commodity demand and pricing. Share repurchases are expected to contribute several percentage points per year on top of baseline growth. Nutrien repurchased approximately 1% of its market capitalization in 2022. We expect a 2% earnings growth over the next five years, but earnings are expected to be down for 2023. Dividend growth is expected to be 2% as it normalizes its payout ratio. Significant increases or decreases in fertilizer prices would substantially affect the growth rate and are mostly outside the company's control.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	---	---	---	---	---	17.2	22.1	26.6	12.1	5.5	8.6	12.5
Avg. Yld.	---	---	---	---	---	3.5%	3.7%	3.8%	2.5%	2.6%	3.5%	2.3%

One of Nutrien's primary industry peers with a long history as a unified company, The Mosaic Company, has had an average P/E ratio of 19.5 over the past ten years, with a high of 31 and a low of 13. With an anticipated significant recovery in agriculture commodity prices, which have been in a multi-year bear market, we expect Nutrien's P/E ratio to increase to 12.5 as a baseline. Thus, the company has a low valuation at the current price with a current PE of 8.6x based on 2023 earnings.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	---	---	---	---	---	61.7%	80.6%	100%	29.7%	14.6%	29%	29%

Nutrien has an economic moat from its potash and nitrogen production operations resulting in relatively high returns on invested capital in most years compared to the broader materials sector. The company has geographically significant production assets in Canada that sit on the bottom half of the global production cost curve. Even in a low-price environment, the company can outlast its competitors and survive to see periods of higher commodity prices. On the other hand, the company's phosphate production operations are in the upper half of the global cost curve. Its retail agriculture business, being the largest in North America, may have mild cost advantages, but several competitors are similar in scale. Therefore, these aspects of the business lack economic moat.

Agricultural commodities, especially fertilizer, are not very economically sensitive because people need to eat through recessions and expansions. However, the agricultural and fertilizer industries have cycles, and the supply/demand relationship in agricultural commodity production due to weather and other factors can dramatically affect prices. For example, potash spiked to over $800/ton in 2009 but is currently under $562/ton. Nutrien enormously benefits from higher potash rates, nitrogen, and phosphate and is hurt by lower prices. Nutrien's balance sheet is strong, with a debt/equity (D/E) ratio of 0.6 and an interest coverage ratio of 1.2. The company currently has an S&P credit rating of BBB, an investment-grade rating.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

With an expected 12.3% annualized return over the next five years, we consider Nutrien a buy. Nutrien has a high-performance variance based on crop nutrition commodity prices and could deliver significantly higher or lower returns than this expected baseline.
