For the quarter, rental revenues grew 24% to $117.8 million. Rental revenues for Mobile Modular, the company's largest division, improved 37%, largely due to an acquisition completed during the prior quarter. Service revenues grew 56% due to higher delivery and pick up activities for modular buildings and portable storage containers. TRS-RenTelco rental revenues declined 4%, due to lower average rental equipment rent compared to the prior year, though this was offset by higher average monthly rental rates.

McGrath RentCorp now expects revenue in a range of $805 million to $830 million for 2023, up from $790 million to $820 million and $780 million to $810 million previously. At the midpoint, this would be an 11.4% increase compared to the prior year. We now project that the company will be earn $4.63 in 2023, compared to $4.71 and $4.60 previously.

McGrath RentCorp has experienced volatility in its earnings-per-share over the past decade. Earnings-per-share dropped almost 19% in 2009 and it wasn't until 2011 that earnings recovered above 2008's total. We continue to expect earnings-per-share to grow at a rate of 3% per year through 2028.

On February 22nd, 2023, McGrath RentCorp raised its dividend by 2.2% for the April 28th, 2023 payment. This marks 31 consecutive years of dividend growth. Shares offer an annualized yield 2.0% presently, slightly higher than the average yield of the S&P 500. Despite McGrath RentCorp's variance in earnings-per-share over the last decade, the company has been able to raise its dividend each year for more than three decades. This is an impressive feat for a company in an industry that can be very cyclical.

Updated July 28th, 2023 by Nathan Parsh

Shares of McGrath RentCorp have increased $5, or 5.5%, since our May 20th, 2023 update. Based off earnings expectations for 2023, McGrath RentCorp's stock currently has a price-to-earnings ratio of 20.7. We have a valuation target of 18 times earnings, in-line with the long-term average for the stock. If shares were to revert to this multiple by 2028, then valuation be a 2.8% headwind to annual results over this time period.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	58%	57%	63%	64%	49%	40%	38%	39%	47%	38%	40%	40%

McGrath RentCorp showed in the last recession that its earnings are at risk during a downturn. The company's rental business would most likely see earnings decline in the next recession as customers might not be willing to add additional classroom or office space, and would make do with current facilities. Even when the economy strengthened, McGrath RentCorp had difficulty growing earnings until very recently. One area McGrath RentCorp has succeeded in is lowering its debt over the past decade. The amount of debt as a percentage of assets has gone down almost every year since 2008. McGrath RentCorp's payout ratio is in a healthy range and the company has increased its dividend by at least 9% for the three years prior to 2020, though the last two raises have been below this range. Higher-than-average increases could mean that management believes earnings will grow at a higher than usual rate.

McGrath RentCorp's key competitive advantage is that company's rental portfolio is fairly diverse. The company's products are used for office space, school classrooms, telecommunications and energy purposes. While still sensitive to the state of the economy, this product diversity does give McGrath RentCorp some cushion against weakness in any one area of its business.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

After second quarter results, McGrath RentCorp is projected to return 2.2% per year through 2028, down from our previous estimate of 3.6%. Our projected return stems from a 3% earnings growth rate and 1.9% starting yield that are partially offset by a low single-digit headwind from multiple compression. McGrath RentCorp's segments continue to show strong growth rates and the valuation has improved slightly as well. We have lowered our five-year price target $1 to $97 to reflect estimates for the year and reiterate our sell rating on shares of McGrath RentCorp due to projected returns.
