Overview & Current Events

PSB Holdings is the parent company of Peoples State Bank, or PSB, which opened its doors in 1962 in Wausau, Wisconsin. The company has paid dividends to shareholders continuously since 1965 and has increased its payment for 30 consecutive years. The bank has ten branches, and assets totaling $1.3 billion. The stock trades with a $95 million market cap, making it one of the smallest companies we cover.

PSB posted second quarter earnings on July 24th, 2023, and results were somewhat weak. The bank posted earnings-per-share of 64 cents, and revenue that fell 1.3% year-over-year to $11.5 million. Tangible book value rose slightly, adding about 1% from the first quarter to $22.64 per share. Tangible book value rose primarily due to fewer shares outstanding as a result of the bank's repurchase program.

The bank noted extremely small provisions for loan losses of just $100,000, which was due to loan growth. In addition, the allowance for loan losses fell to 1.19% of gross loans outstanding, down from 1.25% in the prior quarter. Loans were up $75 million to $1.1 billion.

Net interest income was down to $9.5 million from $9.9 million due to funding costs increasing more quickly than yields in assets. Noninterest income was $2 million, flat against the prior quarter. Losses on the sale of securities was $279,000, which was more than offset by a $533,000 life insurance benefit. The bank also saw lower investment and insurance sales commissions. Net income adjusted for the life insurance benefit and loss of sale on securities was $2.4 million, or 56 cents per share.

We now see $2.65 in earnings-per-share for this year after Q2 earnings, a slight reduction from prior estimates.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028

PSB has an impressive track record of growth; it managed to remain profitable during the Great Recession, which is a testament to its lending standards. Since 2011, PSB has managed to grow earnings-per-share by more than 10% annually, on average. We don't see that sort of growth in the future, however, and instead estimate 1% annual expansion, primarily because asset growth has been very slow, and higher interest rates haven't necessarily translated to growth from an earnings-per-share perspective. Should the bank see $2.65 in earnings-per-share for this year, it would be an all-time record.

This lack of strong projected growth is primarily because the bank's spreads had previously expanded widely, and because its loan-to-deposit ratio is stretched at or near the limit, although that is coming down with deposit growth and loan paydowns, both of which reduce the loan-to-deposit ratio. Both levers allow banks to boost profitability of the existing asset base by improving margins, and producing leverage, respectively. PSB has done these things well in recent years but given that its net interest margin is still near 3%, and that its loan-to-deposit ratio is still elevated, we see limited catalysts for outsized growth.

PSB almost certainly won't be able to produce anything like the growth it has for the past decade in the current environment, particularly with already-elevated earnings.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	10.1	8.5	8.7	8.6	13.8	10.7	9.7	8.8	8.7	7.1	8.3	9.5
Avg. Yld.	2.7%	2.5%	2.0%	1.9%	1.5%	1.5%	1.5%	1.1%	1.8%	2.2%	2.7%	2.8%

PSB's valuation has remained very low for much of the past decade despite its outstanding profitability and strong growth. The average P/E ratio for the past decade is just 9. However, we see fair value at 9.5 times earnings given the bank's strong track record of profitability and growth. We also believe this multiple accounts for slower growth moving forward. At 8.3 times earnings today, the stock is meaningfully undervalued in our view.

The yield stands at 2.7%, which is more in line with historical standards. We see the yield remaining about where it is.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	27%	21%	17%	16%	20%	16%	15%	10%	15%	16%	23%	26%

Competitive advantages are tough to come by in banking, but PSB does have a strong brand in parts of Wisconsin. In addition, its lending standards are helping, as they did during the last downturn. The dividend is also very safe at just 23% of earnings, and there is plenty of room for future raises, as well as plenty of margin of safety if a prolonged recession were to strike.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

We see PSB's total return outlook as having declined to 6.3%, which is based on the 2.7% yield, 1% growth, and a 2.7% tailwind from the valuation. The bank's outlook for rate spreads is uninspiring. However, we still see a tough road for growth ahead from this year's base of earnings. With total returns of 6.3% projected, we are reiterating the stock at a hold rating.
