Overview & Current Events

Lam Research Corporation (LRCX) was founded in 1980 and headquartered in Fremont, California. The company designs, manufactures, markets, refurbishes, and services semiconductor processing equipment used to fabricate integrated circuits worldwide. Lam is a major supplier of wafer fabrication equipment and services to the semiconductor industry. Its products address various applications, including thin film deposition, single-wafer cleaning, and plasma tech. The company has a market capitalization of approximately $92.0 billion, over 10,700 employees, and produced roughly $17.4 billion in revenue in 2023.

On July 26th, 2023, Lam Research reported the fourth quarter and full year results for Fiscal Year (FY)2023, ending on June 25th, 2023. Lam Research Corporation ends its fiscal year at the end of June. The company achieved notable financial milestones. The company reported revenue of $3.21 billion for the quarter, signaling substantial growth. Gross margin reached 45.5%, with operating income accounting for 26.6% of the revenue, resulting in a diluted EPS of $5.97. On a non-GAAP basis, Lam Research demonstrated a gross margin of 45.7%, an operating income representing 27.3% of revenue, and a non-GAAP diluted EPS of $5.98. Comparing financial data between the quarters ending June 25, 2023, and March 26, 2023, reveals distinct trends. While revenue experienced a 17% decline under both GAAP and non-GAAP standards, there were remarkable improvements in gross margin as a percentage of revenue. GAAP operating income as a percentage of revenue increased by 220 basis points, while non-GAAP operating income witnessed a 100 basis points decrease. Notably, both GAAP and non-GAAP diluted EPS figures showed marginal fluctuations. Geographically, Lam Research's revenue distribution during the June 2023 quarter was led by China (26%), followed by Korea (24%) and Taiwan (20%). Tim Archer, President and CEO of Lam Research, expressed confidence in the company's strategic position and collaborative approach, projecting a strong performance in the semiconductor industry. For the upcoming quarter ending September 24, 2023, Lam expects revenues of approximately $3.4 billion, with a gross margin of 45.9% (+/- 1%) and an operating income representing 27.0% (+/- 1%) of revenue. The estimated net income per diluted share is $5.82 (+/- $0.75), based on a diluted share count of 133 million, acknowledging potential variations due to post-release developments.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	16.9	14.0	12.9	13.2	8.4	19.2	20.3	23.9	11.9	18.9	20.8	13.0
Avg. Yld.	0.3%	1.1%	1.6%	1.4%	1.4%	2.6%	1.4%	0.8%	1.4%	1.1%	1.0%	1.6%

Over the past decade, Lam Research has averaged a 16.0x P/E. During trough periods in the semiconductor industry, the company occasionally reported low or negative earnings. We estimate a forward P/E of 13.0x for the company should be a fair value, although it naturally varies through the highly cyclical semiconductor business cycle. However, the company has a higher PE at the current price than our reasonable price estimate. The company has a current PE of 20.8x. The current PE would provide a (9.0)% annual headwind if the company reverted back to its fair PE ratio of 13.0x.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	4.1%	16.8%	18.9%	16.5%	14.3%	30.3%	28.8%	19.1%	18.3%	20.2%	21%	21%

Lam Research is one of the top 3 semiconductor manufacturing equipment vendors globally, along with Applied Materials and Tokyo Electron. The company supplies equipment to chipmakers and provides service and maintenance support. Due to propriety technologies and a highly concentrated industry, Lam Research maintains high returns on invested capital in most years and has a small economic moat. However, the semiconductor industry is highly volatile due to commodity-like supply and demand characteristics. The sector halts new supply capacity every several years and negatively impacts equipment suppliers' revenues like Lam Research. The company has encountered periods of very low or negative earnings during these occasions. However, it appears to be more profitable during each down cycle as its service revenue continues to smooth out its overall results and the company matures. Lam Research's customer base is narrow, with Intel, Micron, Samsung, SK Hynix, Toshiba, and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company making up at least 10% of Lam Research's revenue in recent years. The company has a strong balance sheet with more assets than debt and a total debt/equal ratio of 0.6, decreasing from a previous report of 0.7.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Lam Research is a leader in a growing industry with a strong balance sheet. The company has the potential for an estimated forward negative return of (0.4)%, and we consider it to be a sell at the current price. The semiconductor industry is cyclical but expected to grow strongly over the next decade. Cloud computing, machine learning, autonomous driving, and the internet of things continue to grow in scale and relevance. With a low dividend payout ratio, the company pays a modest but fast-growing dividend and appears to be maturing into a solid dividend stock.
