Overview & Current Events

Nu Skin Enterprises is a health and beauty direct-selling company with diverse product lines. The company has three main product divisions: anti-aging, skin, and pharmaceuticals. The latter division offers nutritional, weight-management products and food supplements. The company has operations internationally in more than 50 countries across the Americas, Europe, and the Asia-Pacific. Nu Skin's anti-aging and skin-related products include peels, masks, scrubs; moisturizers; body care, hair care, men's care, oral care, sun protection, and cosmetics. Moreover, the company sells its product directly to consumers through its own sales channel and has a sizable market overseas. The company's revenues are reported under seven regional segments: Mainland China, EMEA regions, Americas/Pacific, South Korea, Southeast Asia, Japan, and Hong Kong/Taiwan.

On August 1st, 2023, Nu Skin announced Q2 2023 results, reporting quarterly earnings of $0.54, beating market estimates by $0.03. In addition, the company reported revenues of $500.3 million for the quarter, down 10.8% year-over-year. In order to combat margin pressures, aggressive strategic price increases have been implemented globally over the past few quarters, but they have had a negative impact on customer acquisition, which has resulted in sluggish sales channel performance, especially in developing markets like Southeast Asia Pacific, Europe and Africa, and Latin America.

The company's EPS guidance for Q3 2023 is between $0.54 to $0.69. For the full year 2023, the company has projected revenue of $2.00 billion to $2.08 billion, which takes into account an anticipated 2% to 3% unfavorable impact from foreign currency. In terms of earnings per share, the company is expecting a range of $2.15 to $2.45.

Nu Skin Enterprises has grown its EPS at a healthy rate over the past few years. However, the company faced headwinds in 2022, which caused its EPS to decline. Like other companies in the industry, the company continues to face several headwinds, including deteriorating consumer sentiment, a difficult period in China, and an increased likelihood of an imminent recessionary period.

In 2023, NUS foresees challenging macroeconomic conditions to persist, with the likelihood of gradual improvements in the second half. In line with the forward guidance provided by the company, we have downwardly revised our 2023 EPS forecast to $2.30, the midpoint of management's guidance. However, we have maintained our EPS forecast of 5.0% annually over the next five years, leading to our estimated EPS of $2.94 by 2028. We expect the company to follow its historical dividend payout policy and provide a dividend per share of $1.64 by 2028.

Updated August 10th, 2023, by Yiannis Zourmpanos

Nu Skin Enterprises currently trades at a forward P/E of 11.0, well below its long-term 10-year average P/E of 16.9 and five-year average P/E of 16.1. We have estimated a P/E multiple of 15.0 by 2028, implying a target price of $44, and an upside potential of 76% from current levels.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	20%	44%	62%	49%	45%	41%	48%	41%	37%	74%	68%	56%

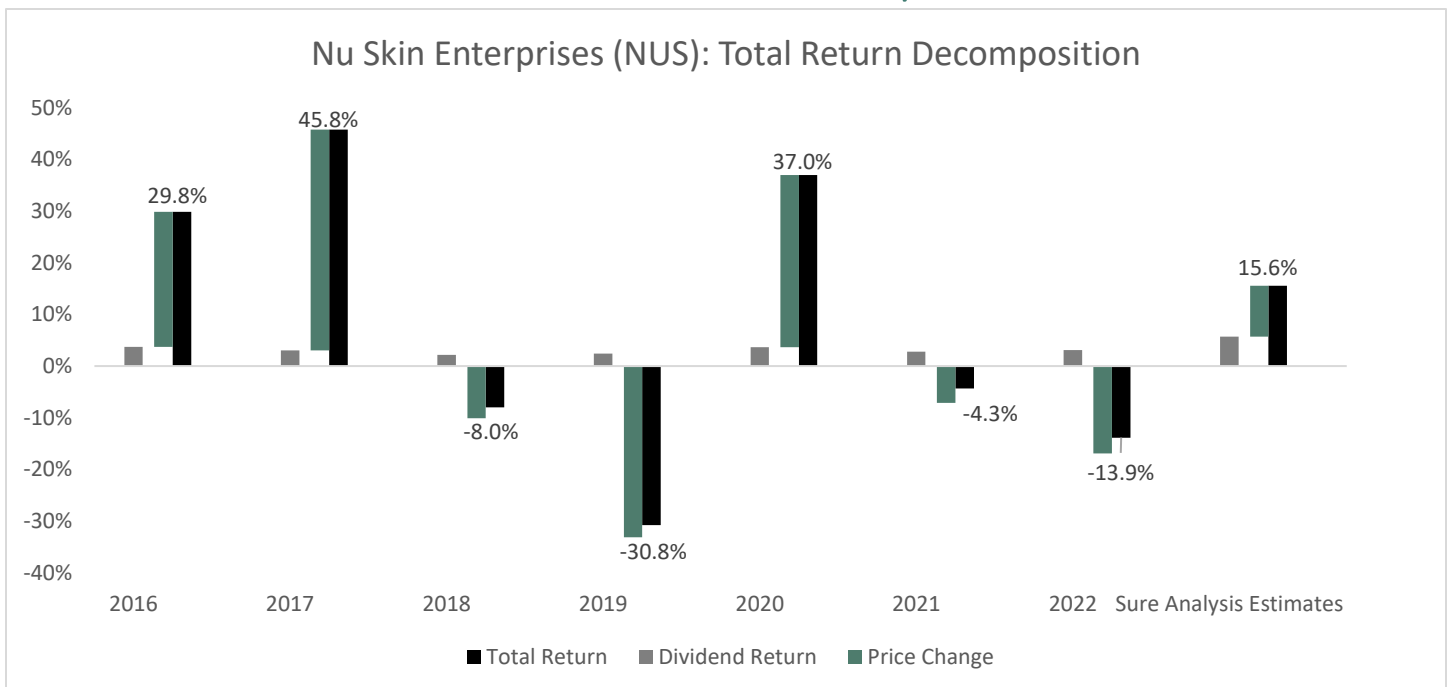

Earlier this year, the CEO announced Nu Vision 2025, to become the world's leading integrated beauty and wellness company, powered by the company's dynamic affiliate opportunity platform. The company's vision for the future reflects management's plan to keep up with global trends and to change consumer behaviors. Investments in digital infrastructure and building a digital ecosystem are a core part of the company's long-term strategy. By 2025, the company aims for its affiliate-powered social commerce to represent more than 50 percent of its global business, which will accelerate overall top-line growth to higher levels than the current growth.

However, operating in the cosmetics and beauty segments means there are some risks associated with investing in Nu Skin. The segment is marked by intense competition, and the market already has established players who have longer operating histories and excellent brand recognition and resources compared to Nu Skin. Some of the main competitors of Nu Skin are L'Oréal, Clinique, Estée Lauder, Nature's Way, Avon Products, and Mary Kay. Also, the industry is susceptible to changes in consumer behavior and evolving lifestyle preferences. Hence, the company's success in the future will depend on Nu Skin's ability to innovate and keep developing products that respond to the changing needs of consumers.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Nu Skin has successfully run its business efficiently throughout various economic cycles and has consistently paid dividends and generated value for investors. The payout ratio averaged 46.2% during the 2013 to 2022 period. We maintain our buy rating premised upon the 15.6% annualized total return forecast for the medium-term, derived from the forecasted earnings-per-share growth of 5.0%, a dividend yield of 6.2%, and a valuation tailwind.
