Overview & Current Events

RELX is a global provider of information-based analytics and decision tools for professional and business customers. It operates through four segments: Scientific, Technical & Medical, and Risk & Business Analytics; Legal; and Exhibitions. RELX PLC was incorporated in 1903 and is headquartered in London, the United Kingdom, and has a market cap of around $64 billion. The stock trades in the NYSE, though the original 1988 listing remains on the London Stock Exchange. It serves customers in more than 180 countries, and has offices in about 40 countries. All numbers have been converted to U.S. dollars unless otherwise noted.

On July 27th, 2023, RELX PLC reported its half-year² results for the six months ending June 30th, 2023. For the six months, earnings-per-share was $0.58, 16.5% higher than last year in constant currency. Higher profits were driven by higher revenues, which grew by 8% to $5.72 billion. The company's first two business segments (Scientific, Technical & Medical, and Risk) reported sales growth of 4% and 8%, respectively. The Legal segment's revenues grew by 6%. The Exhibitions segment, which had been previously adversely impacted by COVID-19's impact on the event-planning industry, continued its recovery, growing revenues by 38%.

Management continued expanding RELX's portfolio during H1-2023, completing two small acquisitions for a total consideration of £111 million ($143 million), and one small disposal. For FY2023, management expects underlying growth rates in revenues and operating, as well as constant currency growth in EPS profits to be above historical trends. Taking everything into account, we expect FY2023 EPS of around $1.35. The company also declared an interim dividend of 17.0p ($0.22) an increase of 8% compared to last year, implying an LTM annual dividend at $0.72 at current FX rates.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

EPS has grown at CAGR of 2.4% over the past decade, while DPS has grown at a CAGR of 5.4% over the same period. The company has had consistent and stable growth over the past decade and has been a top holding in most of the U.K.'s income funds. In the original LSE listing, dividends have been growing annually since 2010 and have never been cut since 1999.

We retain our CAGR expectations to around 6% for both EPS and DPS in the medium-term as demand for the company's solutions remains robust across all segments. Buybacks should also aid EPS growth. RELX deployed £500 million on share buybacks in 2022. In 2023 they intend to deploy a total of £800m, of which £550m had been completed within H1-2023. A further £50m had been completed by July 1st, and the remaining £200m will be deployed before the end of the year.

¹ Dividends have been growing annually since 2010 in RELX's original listing and original declarations in constant currency.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	15.2	20.4	21.16	23.1	29.3	19.5	23.2	22.5	25.4	27.9	25.1	24.0
Avg. Yld.	3.0%	2.6%	2.4%	2.4%	2.2%	2.3%	2.4%	2.8%	2.2%	2.3%	2.1%	2.2%

RELX's valuation has been consistent over the years, usually trading around 23 times its underlying EPS. Due to steady EPS growth over the past decade, and management's positive future outlook, we expect RELX's P/E to remain expanded, come down to 24X EPS, nonetheless. We note that RELX is one of the U.K.'s most consistent stocks in terms of growth with a big institutional presence. Investors have been willing to pay premium valuation over the past few years, even during the pandemic and during last year's shaky environment. As we've mentioned in previous reports, it could be the case that investors won't have an opportunity to purchase RELX shares at a discount, and this continues to hold true.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	49%	59%	63%	64%	48%	59%	59%	75%	65%	64%	53%	53%

RELX holds a sort of legendary status in the U.K.'s investing culture, posing as one of the safest growth stocks one can own, having achieved consistent market-beating returns. With prudent capital allocation, the company secures its future advancements while growing its dividends and maintaining a healthy payout ratio. The payout ratio currently stands at a relatively comfortable level of 53%, allowing for excess cash to be allocated in future acquisitions and share repurchases. Further, while RELX's net borrowings position is at a heavy $8.51 billion, operating cash flow covers interest payments by nearly 10 times. Hence, we believe the company should be able to absorb rising interest rates aright. We also find RELX's ability to withstand a potential recession strong, as the need for analytics is vital to operate any modern business. The industry, however, is under heavy competition. With new technologies in the sector being developed by the day, RELX must continually innovate and acquire other companies to stay ahead of the curve.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

RELX is a well-managed company with an impressive history of shareholder value creation. We believe that EPS and DPS will continue their upward trajectory. Its resiliency was proven in 2020, a year that revealed the vulnerability in many businesses, with all segments, excluding exhibitions, still growing. We forecast annualized returns of around 7.1% in the medium-term, as valuation headwinds could offset returns to be powered by our earnings growth of 6% and the 2.1% dividend yield. We rate shares a hold and feel the stock is suitable for dividend growth portfolios seeking limited risk, though investors shouldn't expect extraordinary returns either. U.S.-based investors should also be wary of FX-related risks, as the company reports its earnings in GBP.
