Overview & Current Events

Stryker is a global leader in the medical device sector. The company's product lines include surgical equipment, neurovascular products and orthopedic implants. The company was founded in 1941 by Dr. Homer Stryker because he felt that products that the medical device industry offered were not meeting the needs of his patients. Today, the company employs more than 46,000 people worldwide. In November of 2021, Stryker reorganized its businesses into two reporting segments: MedSurg and Neurotechnology, and Orthopaedics and Spine.

On August 3rd, 2023, Stryker announced second quarter results for the period ending June 30th, 2023. For the quarter, revenue grew 11.4% to $5 billion, which $170 million more than expected. Adjusted earnings-per-share totaled $2.54, which compared favorably to $2.25 in the prior year and was $0.16 above estimates.

Organic revenue was 11.9% for the quarter, driven by 11.5% volume growth and a 1.4% tailwind from higher realized prices. For the quarter, MedSurg and Neurotechnology had organic growth of 12.9% while Orthopaedics and Spine grew 10.6%. Results for both businesses were once again aided by double-digit growth in volume. Prices were up 1.4% for MedSurg and Neurotechnology and down 0.7% for Orthopaedics and Spine.

Stryker provided updated guidance for 2023 as well. The company now expects organic revenue growth of 9.5% to 10.5% for the year, up from 8% to 9% and 7% to 8.5% previously. Adjusted earnings-per-share are forecasted to be in a range of $10.25 to $10.45 for 2023, up from $10.05 to $10.25 and $9.85 to $10.15 previously. This would represent growth of 10.8% at the midpoint. We have updated our estimates accordingly.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Shares¹	378	379	373	375	374	373	380	376	377	382	383	368

Stryker has grown earnings-per-share at a rate of 15.1% per year since 2013. We reaffirm our earnings growth rate of 12% as it strikes a balance between the long-term and medium-term growth rates while also taking into account our expectations for increased demand for Stryker's products during the recovery from the pandemic. The company was very resilient during the last recession, only seeing a $0.01 decline in earnings in 2009. The company did see earnings declines in 2013 and 2014 as well, but growth quickly returned in the ensuing years.

Stryker has increased its dividend at an average rate of almost 12% per year over the past 10 years, though that growth has slowed somewhat in the medium-term. The company raised its dividend by 7.9% for the January 31st, 2023 payment. We see the payout rising to $5.29 per share by 2028, up from the current $3.00.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	25.9	35.2	25.2	25.4	28.7	22.8	24	26.9	29.4	26.2	27.5	24.5
Avg. Yld.	1.6%	1.5%	1.5%	1.4%	1.3%	1.2%	1.0%	1.1%	0.9%	1.1%	1.1%	1.2%

Shares of Stryker have decreased $9, or 3.1%, since our May 2nd, 2023 report. Based off estimates for 2023, shares trade at 27.5 times earnings. We reaffirm our 2028 target P/E of 24.5 to be more in-line with the average valuation since 2013. If shares reverted to our target price-to-earnings ratio by 2028, then multiple contraction would be a 2.3% headwind to annual returns over this time period.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	42%	53%	38%	36%	35%	27%	25%	32%	28%	30%	29%	29%

Stryker's strength during the most recent recession should give shareholders the confidence that the company can thrive in a difficult economic climate. As the leader in the medical device sector, Stryker's products are in demand around the world. For example, the company continues to see growth in its Mako robot installations, as well as a higher number of procedures performed. These figures are likely to grow as more surgeons become comfortable with using a robot during surgery. Another competitive advantage Stryker has over its peers is its organic growth. Over the past decade years, Stryker has consistently outperformed in peer group in the medical device sector in terms of organic growth. Investors are willing to pay up for that type of growth, which is why the company's price-to-earnings ratio has been higher than normal in recent years.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Following second quarter results, Stryker Corporation is now projected to return 10.4% annually over the next five years, up from our prior estimate of 9.3%. Our projected return stems from a 12% earnings growth rate and a starting yield of 1.1%, offset by a small headwind from multiple contraction. Organic growth continues to be strong for the company, with both segments seeing high demand. Shares still trade slightly ahead of our valuation target, but Stryker is one of the leading names in its industry. We have raised our 2028 price target $9 to $447 to reflect earnings estimates and now view shares of Stryker as a buy due to projected returns.
