Overview & Current Events

Telephone & Data Systems is a telecommunications company that provides customers with cellular and landline services, wireless products, cable, broadband, and voice services across the United States. The company's Cellular Division accounts for more than 75% of total operating revenue. TDS started in 1969 as a collection of 10 rural telephone companies. Today the company has a market cap of $1.9 billion and more than $5.4 billion in annual revenues.

TDS declared a 2.8% dividend increase to $0.185 quarterly on February 16th, 2023, marking its 49th annual increase.

On August 4th, 2023, TDS reported financial results for the second quarter of 2023. The company's total operating revenues were $1.27 billion, down 6% compared to the same period one year ago, and $30 million short of analysts' estimates.

Net income was $(19) million, down from last year's $18 million. Diluted earnings per share of $(0.17) also compared unfavorably to the $0.15 earned one year ago, and missed analysts' estimate by fifteen cents.

Postpaid ARPU of $50.64 was a 1.1% year-over-year increase. Total broadband connections increased 4.6% year-over-year to 523,600 connections and residential revenue per connection grew 3.9% to $61.97. During the quarter, TDS repurchased nearly 255,090 of its common shares for $3 million.

TDS and U. S. Cellular announced it is exploring strategic alternatives for U.S. Cellular. Considering TDS owes a significant chunk of U.S. Cellular; this is major news. In the five days since this announcement, the share price of TDS has increased by 62%. Still, there is no guarantee that any significant event or sale transpires and there is no timetable for the review.

Management reduced some of its prior 2023 guidance and expect service revenues at U.S. Cellular of around $3.05 billion (down from $3.1 billion previously). Total expected operating revenues for TDS remains around $1.045 billion.

TDS has an 82% stake in U.S. Cellular and essentially relies on this stake to achieve growth. In 2021, U.S. Cellular focused on connecting customers in underserved areas with their high-quality network, as well as market share expansion, increasing business with government customers in 5G and IoT, and improving network modernization and 5G programs.

TDS Telecom grew broadband revenue with an increase in customer connections and expanded the reach of their fiber and 1Gig services. TDS made investments in 2022 towards growing its client base, expanding into new territories, as well as improving their network technologies, in an effort to boost the company's competitiveness. In the year, TDS Telecom increased its footprint by 9% and delivered 133K new marketable fiber service addresses, bringing the total to 582K. As of June 30th, 2023, the company achieved 648K fiber service addresses and has a goal of achieving 1.2 million by 2026.

The company has exhibited a volatile earnings record. During the last nine years and five years, its earnings-per-share have shrunk considerably. Book value per share, on the other hand, has grown by 1.3% and 2.1% per year over the last nine and five years on average. The book value trend is much more consistent. We are projecting a book value per share of $52.89 by 2028 for a 2% average annual growth of book value per share over the next five years.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/B	0.67	0.70	0.74	0.73	0.75	0.73	0.73	0.50	0.49	0.38	0.35	0.40
Avg. Yld.	2.0%	2.1%	2.1%	2.1%	2.2%	2.2%	2.3%	3.4%	3.3%	4.3%	4.4%	3.7%

Due to the volatility in the company's earnings history, we believe that the best way to assess the valuation of TDS is by looking at its price-to-book ratio. TDS is currently trading at a price-to-book ratio of 0.35, which is much lower than its 10-year average of 0.64, reflecting depressed investor sentiment. If the stock reverts closer to its average valuation level over the next five years, it will enjoy a 2.6% annualized gain. However, when taking into consideration that TDS has $5.4 billion of licenses, goodwill and other intangible assets on its balance sheet, the tangible book value of TDS is negative, which paints a grim picture of the company's current situation.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	40%	---	28%	151%	44%	55%	64%	35%	70%	---	---	98%

TDS has raised its dividend for 49 consecutive years. It has grown its dividend by 3.7% per year on average over the past 5 years. Today, its 4.4% dividend yield is higher than the yield of the S&P. However, the dividend is not backed by earnings, thus it is in grave danger of being cut. As TDS and U.S. Cellular operate in a highly competitive business, the corporation lacks a meaningful competitive advantage. As U.S. Cellular generates the vast majority of the revenues and earnings of TDS and is currently its most important growth driver, any headwind that may show up in the way of U.S. Cellular will have an impact on TDS.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

TDS relies heavily on the performance of U.S. Cellular, and it is now undergoing a strategic review to determine its best course of action to unlock shareholder value, which could result in the sale of the company or its assets. The share price of TDS has more than doubled since our last research report but could still offer 8.2% average annual return potential over the next five years. Given the riskiness of the dividend and the volatility of its results, we assign TDS a hold rating.
