Overview & Current Events

Hawkins is a diversified chemical company founded in 1938 and went public in 1972. It specializes in manufacturing and selling value-added and bulk ingredients, chemicals, and services to industrial, manufacturer, and municipal customers. The company operates in three segments: Industrial (~50% of revenue), Water Treatment (~29% of revenue), and Health and Nutrition (~21% of revenue). Almost all revenue is from the United States with 58 facilities in 26 states. Key brands are Stevia, Hereditium, Fermentalg, Lipfoods, Epax, Aquamin, Covico, Panmol, pomma, nippi, and the Enzymology Research Center. The CEO is Patrick Hawkins, a member of the founding family. He owns about 1.5% of the company. Total revenue was $935.1M in fiscal year 2023.

Hawkins reported Q2 FY 2024 results on November 1st, 2023. For the quarter, companywide revenue decreased (-2%) to $236.5M from $241.2M, while diluted earnings per share rose 28% to $1.10 from $0.86 on a year-over-year basis. The top line fell because of weakness in the Industrial and Health and Nutrition segments, despite growth in the Water Treatment segment. Industrial segment revenue fell 14% to $98.5M from $113.9M in comparable periods because of the sale of the consumer bleach packaging business and lower volumes. Water Treatment segment revenue rose 17% to $100.9M from $86.5M on higher sales and prices, and acquisitions. Health and Nutrition segment revenue declined (-9%) to $37.1M from $40.8M in the prior year. The firm expects this segment to face continued soft demand.

In 2023, the company acquired Water Solutions Unlimited, Miami Products & Chemical Company, and EcoTech, adding to its water treatment business.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Hawkins' revenue has trended up in the past decade driven by organic growth and many acquisitions. The company typically acquires one to two smaller firms per year incrementally adding to revenue and earnings per share. Since 2011, Hawkins has acquired 11 companies with eight of those in water treatment. The strategy has proven successful over time, and operating income has grown for 19 consecutive years. The company likely has many more years of growth ahead of it. Bulk and value-added chemicals, ingredients, and services continue to grow. In addition, many small chemical companies exist throughout the United States as acquisition targets, especially in municipal water treatment. We are expecting revenue and earnings per share to grow at ~8% annually on average, less than the past decade, because of inflationary headwinds causing rising input costs.

Hawkins has a 38-year history of paying a dividend and a 19-year streak of increasing it. The payout ratio is conservative at approximately 18%, leaving much room for future increases. It also provides confidence about the dividend safety in a cyclical industry. We anticipate a ~5% growth rate per year, near the average for the past decade.

¹ All data is in fiscal year, which ends at the end of March or early April depending on the year.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	20.7	22.1	21.2	26.6	16.8	15.4	12.9	15.1	17.3	17.9	18.4	15.0

Hawkins' stock price is up again since our last report on good results and beating estimates. We raised our fiscal year 2024 earnings estimate to match the consensus value. Our fair value multiple is 15X, slightly below the 5-year average. Our fair value estimate is now $52. Our 5-year price target is now $76.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	44%	43%	48%	41%	--	40%	35%	26%	23%	21%	18%	16%

Hawkins' competitive advantage is its strong supplier and customer relationships. Additionally, the firm emphasizes its people and culture. The average tenure is 7 years, and the median salary is ~$95k, seemingly on the higher end for a chemical company. Long tenure ensures Hawkins' customers and suppliers deal with the same employee over time.

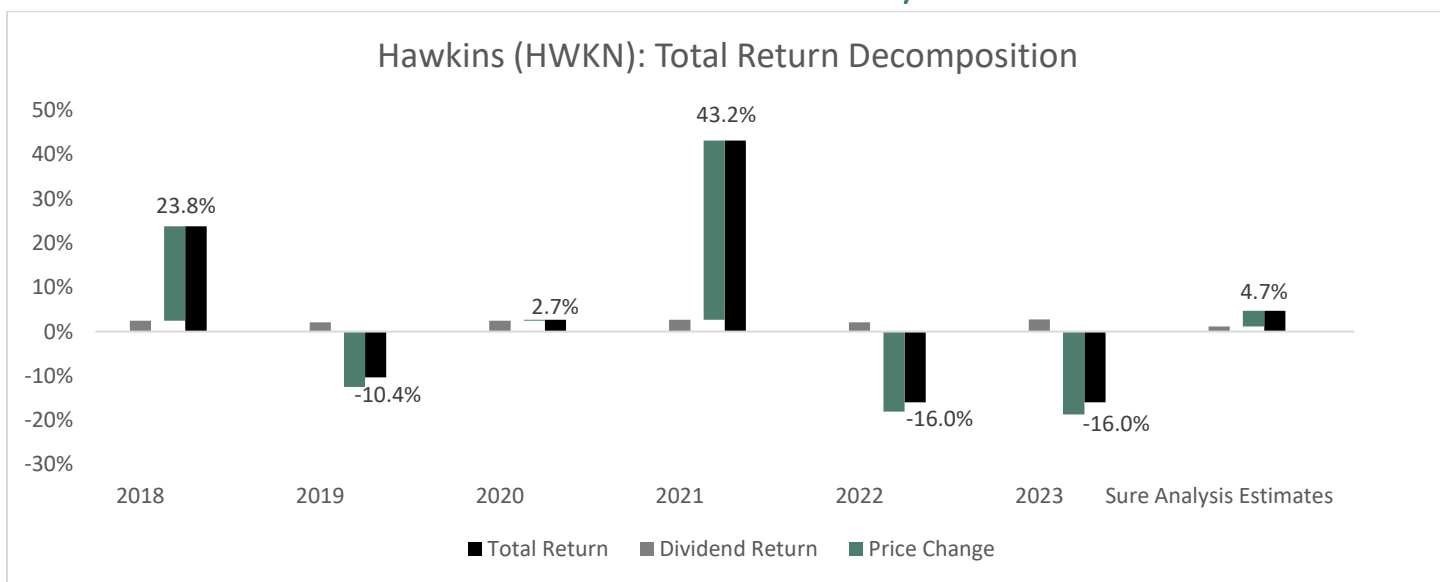

The chemical industry is not recession resistant. Hawkins Industrial and Health and Nutrition segments face challenges during recessions. The Water Treatment segment revenue and profits are less cyclical. The company's earnings have declined in the past before recovering.

The company makes conservative use of debt with only $9.9M in current long-term debt, $49.8M of long-term debt that is offset by $11.0M of cash and equivalents. Interest coverage is about 20X, and the leverage ratio is about 0.45X.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

At present we are forecasting 4.7% annualized total return over the next five years from a dividend yield of 1.0%, 8% EPS growth, and (-4.0%) P/E multiple contraction. Hawkins focuses on growth by investing in the businesses and tuck-in acquisitions. It is also returning cash to shareholders by dividends. However, the dividend yield is currently lower than the historical average, but the safety is high. At the current price, we maintained our hold rating.
