Overview & Current Events

Kimco Realty is a real estate investment trust that owns, develops, manages and operates shopping centers. Kimco, in particular, specializes in open-air shopping centers. The trust was founded in 1973, is headquartered in New Hyde Park, NY, and currently trades with a market capitalization of about $10.5 billion.

On October 26, 2023, Kimco Realty Corporation (KIM) announced its third-quarter financial results for the year 2023. The company reported a net income of $112.0 million, or $0.18 per diluted share, which is a significant increase from the $51.6 million, or $0.08 per diluted share, reported in the same quarter of the previous year. However, the reported earnings per share (EPS) of $0.19 fell short of market expectations, which anticipated an EPS of $0.392. The funds from operations (FFO) per share for Q3 2023 were reported as $0.40, which was ahead of certain estimates.

The financial report highlighted several key operational metrics including the leasing of 2.1 million square feet, achieving a pro-rata portfolio occupancy of 95.5%, and a pro-rata small shop occupancy expansion to 91.1%. The company also noted a 2.6% growth in Same-Property Net Operating Income (NOI) compared to the same period a year ago. Further, in a move to expand and enhance its portfolio, Kimco Realty agreed to an all-stock acquisition of RPT Realty (RPT), expected to be accretive to FFO and leverage neutral. The company also acquired Stonebridge at Potomac Town Center in Woodbridge, Virginia for $172.5 million and sold assets totaling 143,000 square feet for $40.1 million. As of the end of Q3 2023, the company held a liquidity position of over $2.4 billion, including $424.3 million of cash and cash equivalents. Additionally, Kimco's board of directors declared a quarterly cash dividend on common shares of $0.24 per share, up by 4.3% from the previous dividend of $0.23 per share.

As REITs have high non-cash expenses, primarily due to depreciation, their net earnings are usually relatively low and are therefore not reflective of the underlying earnings power and ability to generate cash flows. It thus makes sense to look at funds from operations, or FFO. Kimco Realty's FFOPS is substantially lower than before the financial crisis, but the trust has performed relatively well over the last couple of years. Kimco Realty should be able to grow its FFO through rent increases and rising operating income in the coming years as it has largely completed its portfolio repositioning program. The underlying operating performance of Kimco Realty is strong, which is reflected in positive same-property NOI growth, and it owns high quality assets in strong markets. The trust is not facing many problems due to e-commerce hurting sales at its properties so far as many of its tenants are relatively immune to e-commerce.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
P/FFO	16.2	16.4	17.3	18.8	13.5	9.9	13.7	9.0	18.6	13.9	11.0	10.0
Avg. Yld.	4.0%	4.0%	3.9%	3.6%	5.3%	7.8%	5.6%	5.1%	2.4%	4.3%	5.6%	6.4%

Kimco Realty trades for 11 times this year's expected funds from operations, which represents a premium to our fair value estimate of 10 times funds from operations. During the majority of the last decade, Kimco traded at a higher valuation, but we believe it no longer warrants a mid-teen multiple due to the decline in growth opportunities in bricks-and-mortar retail, and the lingering headwinds from fallout of the coronavirus pandemic alongside a potential recession.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	65%	66%	67%	68%	71%	77%	76%	46%	44%	58%	62%	64%

Kimco was forced to temporarily suspend its dividend due to weak economic conditions last year but has since resumed paying a dividend. However, it remains significantly below pre-pandemic levels.

Some mall REITs are under a lot of pressure due to declining traffic at the malls they own, which leads to lower occupancy rates and to lower rents at the same time. Kimco Realty's focus on outdoor shopping-centers has shielded the trust from such developments so far. Traffic at its properties is solid, and its tenant base is strong as well. Top tenants include Home Depot, TJX, Walmart, as well as many grocers. During the last financial crisis Kimco Realty did not remain profitable (using FFO), but during less severe recessions the trust would likely not be impacted significantly.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Kimco Realty is a retail REIT, but its shopping-center focus provides some protection versus the rise of e-commerce companies, and the underlying performance of Kimco's assets has been very solid in the recent past. Given that most e-commerce sensitive tenants have largely been pruned from the portfolio, per-share FFO should begin to grow again. That said, a looming recession threatens to postpone growth acceleration for a few years. Kimco Realty earns a hold recommendation from Sure Dividend as shares offer 6.5% expected annualized total returns over the next half decade due to expected multiple compression offsetting its mediocre per-share growth.
