Overview & Current Events

SpartanNash is a value-added wholesale grocery distributor and retailer. The corporation supplies 2,100 independent grocery retail locations in the United States. The company itself also owns 144 supermarkets. SpartanNash operates under retail banners such as Family Fare, Martin's Super Markets and D&W Fresh Market, to name a few. The company is also a distributor of grocery products to U.S. military commissaries. The food distribution company has a market capitalization of $764 million and trades on the NYSE under the ticker symbol SPTN. SPTN is headquartered in Grand Rapids, Michigan. The company employs roughly 17,500 associates.

The SpartanNash company was formed as a merger between Spartan Stores and the Nash Finch Company in November 2013. The Nash Finch company started as a family-owned business in 1885. Spartan Stores was created in 1917 when 100 independent retailers grouped together to purchase products in bulk and pass along savings to the customers. In 2017, SpartanNash acquired Caito Foods, a company specializing in fresh produce distribution and certain assets from Blue Ribbon Transport, a managed freight and logistics solutions company.

SpartanNash reported third quarter 2023 results on November 8th, 2023. Net sales of $2.26 billion was a 1.4% decrease from $2.30 billion in the same prior year period. Adjusted earnings from continuing operations decreased by 1.8% year-over-year to $0.54 per share and Adjusted EBITDA rose 6.3% year-over-year to $60.9 million.

The net long-term debt to adjusted EBITDA ratio improved by 10 basis points sequentially to 2.1X during the quarter, while long-term debt and finance lease liabilities increased by $40.6 million year-to-date in 2023.

Leadership reduced its guidance for fiscal 2023 and expects to see total net sales of around $9.75 billion, up from $9.6 billion in 2022. Adjusted EPS is expected to come in between $2.20 to $2.28 for 2023, compared to $2.33 in 2022.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028

SpartanNash's adjusted earnings per share have generated a solid, and mostly consistent track record of growing over the long-term. Over the last nine and five years, SPTN has increased adjusted earnings-per-share by 3.6% and 2.1% on average. We estimate going forward that the company can safely expect to grow adjusted EPS by 5.0% annually. These increased earnings will support 5.0% annual growth in the dividend over the next five years, which is fair in comparison to the 13% 9-year average growth rate and the 3% 5-year average growth rate.

The corporation aims to drive growth, increase efficiencies, and reduce costs. The COVID-19 pandemic increased customer demand for the food distribution business. The company has long-term targets set for fiscal 2025, which sees adjusted EBITDA of over $300 million (a 40% increase from fiscal 2021). Initiatives to achieve these targets include increasing sales through customer acquisition and continued expansion into value-add offerings, and achieving savings between $125 million to $150 million during fiscal 2021 through fiscal 2025 through its supply chain and merchandising transformation initiatives.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	Now	2028
Avg. P/E	11.6	12.4	14.4	13.3	14.3	11.1	13.1	7.1	10.0	13.4	10.0	11.0
Avg. Yld.	1.3%	2.1%	1.9%	2.1%	2.2%	3.5%	5.3%	4.4%	3.8%	2.5%	3.8%	3.5%

Historically, in the past nine and five years, SPTN has traded for 12.1 and 10.9 times adjusted earnings on average. SpartanNash's current price-to-adjusted earnings multiple is below its historical average. We peg fair value for the business at 11.0 times adjusted earnings. As a result, we forecast a small tailwind to total returns over the next five years.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2013	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2028
Payout	16%	27%	27%	27%	31%	39%	69%	31%	38%	36%	38%	38%

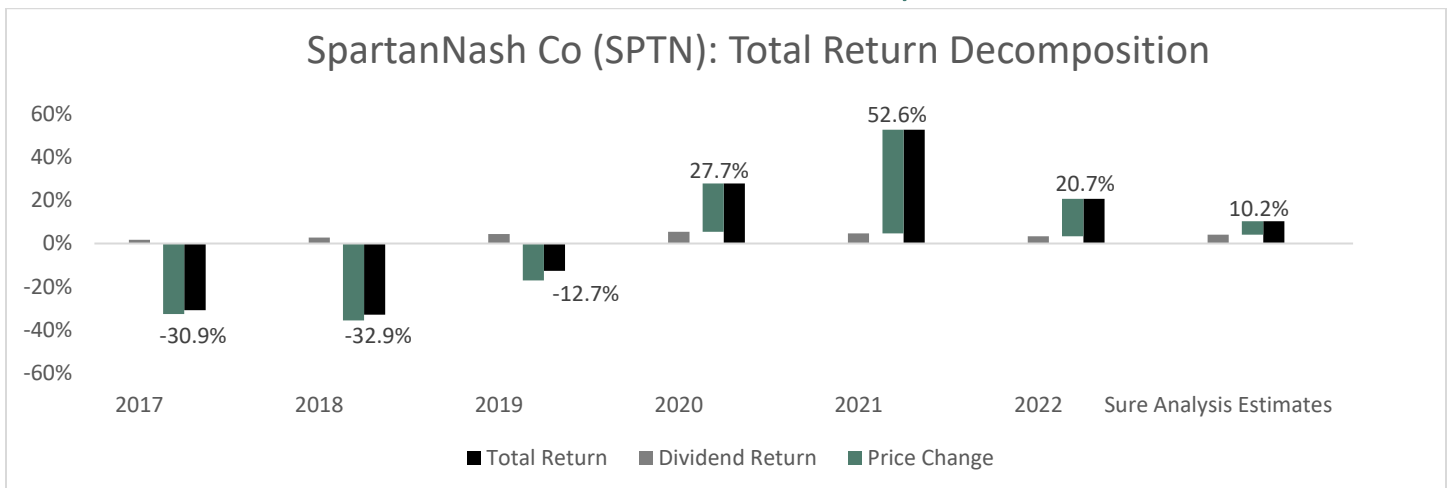

The company's payout ratio has steadily crept up to sit at around 38% of adjusted earnings in 2023. As a result, we expect future dividend growth to come in lower than it has historically. We forecast that dividend growth will continue, and the dividend does not appear to be under threat. During the great financial crisis, earnings fell roughly 25% from start to end, but the company was still highly profitable. People need to eat, and the food business is essential despite the economic climate, so SPTN has some built-in recession resiliency. Throughout the crisis, the payout was never at risk.

The company's competitive advantage is its unique business model of food distribution, retail, and military operations which allows for leveraging efficiencies of each segment, and at the same time supports the ability of its independent retailers to compete in the grocery industry long-term.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

SpartanNash has a unique history spanning over a century, and a unique business model which promotes high operating efficiencies in the grocery business. We believe shares are currently trading at 91% of fair value and offer 10.2% in annualized total returns over the next five years, thus we rate SPTN as a buy.
