Overview & Current Events

Lennox International (LII) is a company that manufactures and sells HVAC products (heating, ventilation, and air conditioning). About 94% of sales come from North America (particularly the US and Canada), and about 6% of sales are International. The company operates through 3 segments: Residential Heating & Cooling, Commercial Heating & Cooling, and Refrigeration. To preface this business, 75% of sales come from Replacements, and only 25% of sales come from New Construction – which means that this business’s performance isn’t directly tied to new home sales. On the Residential side of the business, the company is focused on geographic expansion of their store footprint, so they can continue to serve more households.

On January 31st, 2024, Lennox International reported Q4 and full-year results for the period ending December 31st, 2023. For the quarter, core revenue, which excludes Lennox’s European operations (for which the company has announced it is exploring new strategic options), was $1.2 billion, up 6% year-over-year. Revenue growth was once again driven by a favorable product and pricing mix, partially offset by lower sales volume.

Operating Income came in at $185 million, up 41% compared to last year, driven by a massive 400 bps operating margin expansion to 16.0%. Thus, the business earned $3.63 in adjusted earnings-per-share in the quarter, which beat analysts’ estimates by $0.20, and was up 41% year-over-year.

For FY2024, management introduced their outlook, projecting adjusted earnings-per-share to be between $18.50 and $20.00. We have utilized the midpoint of this range in our estimates.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Over the past decade, Lennox International has seen adjusted earnings-per-share grow at an average annualized rate of 16.2%, and over the past five years, the business has seen the same metric grow at 11.5% annually. For the full fiscal year 2024, we expect the company to earn $19.25 in earnings-per-share. We forecast that the business will continue to grow earnings-per-share at 9% annually from 2024 to 2029, which guides our 2029 earnings-per-share estimate of ~$29.62.

Over the past ten years, the business has grown dividends at 16.1% annually, and over the past five years, the business has grown dividends at 9.3% annually. Over the next 5 years, we forecast that the business will grow dividends at 11% annually. Lennox International has increased its dividend payments for 15 consecutive years.

We expect the business to leverage its investments in e-commerce and in more streamlined factory operations as the business continues to focus on growing its higher-margin Residential Heating & Cooling business. Recent improvements in Lennox’s distribution network should keep improving fill rates and costs, as seen in Q4’s massive margin expansion.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	20.4	22.4	20.5	22.2	22.3	22.8	24.7	25.2	17.0	17.9	22.7	21.0
Avg. Yld.	1.3%	1.1%	1.1%	1.1%	1.2%	1.1%	1.3%	1.1%	1.7%	1.5%	1.0%	1.2%

Over the past five years, Lennox International has averaged a P/E ratio of 21.5. This is also the case for its past ten-year average, indicating rather stable valuation levels throughout its history. We have set our fair P/E ratio at 21.0, as Lennox continues to grow earnings-per-share fast, while taking into account the rather elevated interest rates currently. Shares are currently trading at a P/E of 22.7, implying a modest premium. The stock offers a low dividend yield of about 1.0%, but investors might be more interested in this business's expected earnings and dividend growth.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	27%	26%	23%	24%	26%	25%	31%	28%	29%	26%	23%	25%

The business has averaged a very low payout ratio of 26% since 2014. We believe that the dividend is safe today and will continue to be over the intermediate term. The business doesn't have the strongest balance sheet because they have a lot of debt. The business has a negative shareholders' equity, but this really shouldn't be too concerning for investors, because the company has ample liquidity to pay off current liabilities, and the business can manage its long-term debt. The business has competitive advantages, including having a national presence and being a leader across many different industry verticals (including supermarkets, restaurants, discount stores, etc.) in the commercial space.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Lennox International offers investors an opportunity to invest in a growing business that serves an evergreen and growing market. Since the bulk of the company's revenue comes from replacing residential HVAC systems, they are not directly tied to new home sales, and they serve an industry that will always be around. At today's price, we rate the stock as a hold because total return prospects come in at 8.3% annually over the next five years. Total return prospects are derived from earnings-per-share growth of 9% annually and the 1.0% yield, offset by a 1.6% annual valuation headwind.
