Overview & Current Events

“Quality Communications” was started in the living room of Dr. Irwin Jacobs in 1985. The company’s first product and service was a satellite used by long-haul trucking companies that could locate and message drivers. Qualcomm, as it is known today, develops and sells integrated circuits for use in voice and data communications. The chip maker receives royalty payments for its patents used in devices that are on 3G, 4G, and 5G networks. Qualcomm has a current market capitalization of $159 billion and has annual sales of ~$38 billion.

On April 12th, 2023, Qualcomm increased its quarterly dividend 6.7% to $0.80, marking the company’s 21st consecutive year of dividend growth.

On January 31st, 2024, Qualcomm released results for the first quarter of fiscal year 2024 for the period ending December 24th, 2023. For the quarter, revenue grew 4.9% to $9.9 billion, which was $406 million above expectations. Adjusted earnings-per-share of $2.75 compared favorably to $2.37 in the previous year and topped estimates by $0.38.

For the quarter, revenues for Qualcomm CDMA Technologies, or QCT, increased 7% to $8.4 billion. Handset sales reversed previous declines and grew 16% to $6.69 billion. Automotive sales improved 31% to $598 million while Internet of Things declined 32% to $1.14 billion. Qualcomm Technology Licensing, or QTL, decreased 4% to $1.46 billion. Qualcomm repurchased 6 million shares at an average price of $130.67 during the quarter.

Qualcomm is now projected to earn $9.29 per share in fiscal 2024, up from $9.21 previously.

Qualcomm’s earnings-per-share declined almost 16% during the last recession. The company has grown earnings-per-share at a rate of 5.4% per year over the last decade, but that growth rate accelerates to nearly 21% for the last five years. An agreement with Apple and Huawei, a lower share count, and leadership in 5G should allow the company to grow in the coming years. We reaffirm our earnings-per-share growth rate of 7% through fiscal year 2029. Applying the expected growth rate to our guidance for fiscal 2024, Qualcomm could earn $13.03 by fiscal year 2029.

Updated February 1st, 2024 by Nate Parsh

Shares of Qualcomm have increased $18, or 14.5%, since our November 13th, 2023 report. Based off the earnings forecast for fiscal 2024, the stock trades with a price-to-earnings ratio of 15.3. Qualcomm's stock had an average price-to-earnings ratio of 14.8 for the last decade, but we feel that 16 times earnings is an appropriate valuation target given recent results and tailwinds from 5G. If the stock were to revert to our P/E target by fiscal 2029, valuation would be a 0.9% tailwind to annual returns over this period.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

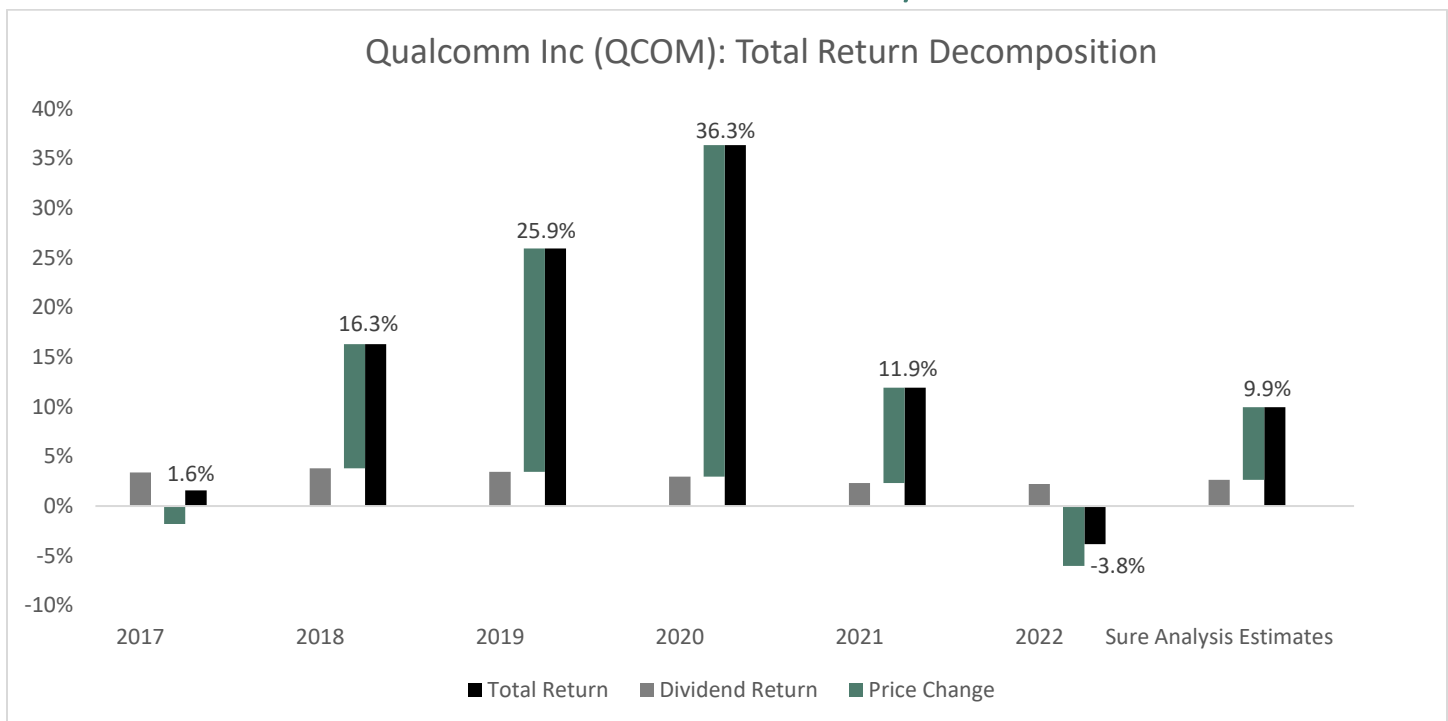

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	29%	39%	46%	51%	67%	69%	62%	32%	23%	37%	34%	34%

Qualcomm earnings declined during the last recession and would likely do so in the event of the next one. While handheld devices have become a necessity amongst consumers, the company would likely see a decline in earnings-per-share due to their high costs. The components that Qualcomm produces are considered to be the best available, so phone makers will likely continue using the company's products in future iterations of their devices. This is especially true as 5G launches continue to occur.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Following first quarter results, Qualcomm is projected to return 9.9% annually through fiscal 2029, down from 12.6% previously. Our expected return stems from a 7% earnings growth rate, a starting yield of 2.3%, and a small contribution from multiple expansion. Qualcomm's headset growth was a positive given the difficulty of the last few quarters following tough comparable periods. Earnings-per-share are projected to grow 10% in fiscal year 2029. Despite the gains since our last report, we expect that investors will see nearly 10% annual returns over the next five years. We have raised our five-year price target $1 to $208 due to earnings estimates for the fiscal year and continue to rate shares of Qualcomm as a buy due to projected returns.
