Overview & Current Events

The Hanover Insurance Group, Inc. (THG) is a holding company whose primary business is offering property and casualty insurance products and services. The company markets itself through independent agents and brokers in the United States. In 2023, Personal Lines accounted for approximately 42% of segmented revenues; Commercial Lines, 36%; Other Property & Casualty, 22%. The company operates an investment portfolio that is primarily exposed to fixed-income securities. The Hanover Insurance Group, Inc. was founded in 1852 and is headquartered in Worcester, Massachusetts.

On February 1st, 2024, Hanover Insurance released its fourth quarter and full year 2023 results for the period ending December 31st, 2023. For this quarter, the company reported a net income of $107.9 million, or $2.98 per diluted share, compared to a net loss of $12.1 million, $0.34 per diluted share, in the prior-year quarter. Operating income was $56.2 million, or $1.56 per diluted share, for the full year 2023, compared to operating income of $199.9 million, or $5.53 per diluted share, in the prior year, primary attributable to elevated catastrophe losses through the first three quarters of the year compared to 2022.

The company's fourth quarter combined ratio, excluding catastrophes, improved by 3.1 points compared to the same period in 2022, and improved by 2.4 points sequentially. This was driven by lower catastrophe and non-catastrophe losses, particularly in Core Commercial, and strong performance in the Specialty segment. The company achieved renewal price increases of 20.6% for personal auto and 29.1% for home and delivered net investment income of $81.6 million in the quarter, up 7.5% from the prior-year quarter. The combined ratio for the quarter was 94.2%, indicating a more efficient use of premiums earned for covering losses and expenses. Overall, net premiums written for the reported quarter increased by 1.5%, with notable growth in each segment. Renewal price increases of 20.6% were reported in Personal Lines, including 29.1% in homeowners, as well as increases of 12.4% in Specialty and 12.4% in Core Commercial. Rate increases were 13.2% in Personal Lines, 9.3% in Core Commercial, and 9.0% in Specialty. Furthermore, book value per share increased to $68.93, up 16.4% from the previous quarter, primarily due to an increase in the fair value of fixed maturity investments and strong earnings in the quarter. The company presented ambitious financial targets for the next five years outlined during an investor day². The Board of Directors presented a long-term ROE target of ~14% and an EPS growth target of 12% to 13%. The company has issued guidance for 2024, projecting its ex-CAT combined ratio to be in the range of 91% to 92% and expecting mid-single-digit growth in net premiums written. In light of the low EPS experienced in 2023, we forecast the earnings power to be approximately $8.90 per share for 2024.

The Hanover Insurance Group, Inc. (THG)

Updated February 10th, 2024, by Patrick Neuwirth

The Hanover Insurance Group long-term earnings growth track record shows instability, with the company's earnings-per-share having dropped in the fiscal years 2016 and 2022. We expect Hanover Insurance recover from the 2022 & 2023 EPS dip and grow its earnings-per-share by 8% per year on average over the next five years, mainly driven by premium growth, assisted by optimizing costs, recording greater gains on its fixed-income investment positions. This growth rate is more conservative compared to the company's expectations for double-digit growth for the next five years. The company has taken decisive action in response to elevated catastrophe loss trends, which we believe is essential to return to the target profitability objectives. We choose to evaluate future returns using earnings power instead of earnings per share, especially since the company is experiencing a drastic decline in 2023. To normalize EPS, we applied the earnings power method involving total current assets multiplied by the average return on assets over the last decade, divided by the share count. Hanover Insurance has a long history of paying dividends and has 19 consecutive years of annual dividend increases. In December 2023, the board increased the quarterly dividend by 4.9% from $0.81 to $0.85. Over the last five years, the average annual growth rate is 6.8%.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	12.0	12.2	19.4	19.7	17.2	15.4	11.5	13.2	15.0	13.3	14.8	15.0

The last few years Hanover Insurance's valuation has declined from the peak level (19.7) that it reached during 2017. During COVID, its share price declined to around $83 before climbing back to $150 levels in April 2022. During the past decade shares of Hanover Insurance have traded with an average price-to-earnings ratio of about 15 times earnings. We are using 15 times earnings also as a fair value baseline, implying the potential for a valuation tailwind.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	29%	27%	44%	43%	33%	30%	28%	33%	55%	208%	38%	38%

During the past five years the company's dividend payout ratio has averaged around 70%. With the current payout ratio of 38%, THG's dividend payments are just covered by earnings and is something to monitor. The Hanover Insurance Group is a diversified and solid insurer with a differentiated P&C franchise in a fragmented market. With their differentiating strategy, such as specialized products and distinctive agency partnerships, the company can strengthen its competitive advantages. Furthermore, Hanover Insurance has a S&P and AM Best "A"-rating and a stable outlook. However, the insurance industry is subject to fluctuations and volatility due to various factors, including weather events, regulatory changes, and economic conditions.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

The Hanover Insurance Group has a healthy balance sheet and ambitious financial targets for the next five years. The expected total returns for the shares are 10.5% per year, driven by 8% projected earnings growth, a 2.6% dividend yield, and a valuation tailwind. The company earns a buy rating.
