Overview & Current Events

Community Healthcare Trust is an REIT which owns income-producing real estate properties linked to the healthcare sector, such as physician offices, specialty centers, behavioral facilities, inpatient rehabilitation facilities, and medical office buildings, in the trust's target sub-markets within the United States. The trust has investments in 197 properties in 35 states, totaling 4.4 million square feet. Community Healthcare Trust trades on the NYSE under the ticker symbol CHCT and is headquartered in Franklin, Tennessee. CHCT has a market capitalization of $699 million.

On April 30th, 2024, Community Healthcare Trust reported first quarter results for the period ending March 31st, 2024. Funds from operations (FFO) per share increased to $0.53, from $0.09 in the prior year quarter. Adjusted FFO per share, however, declined by three cents to $0.59.

During the quarter, Community Healthcare acquired four real estate properties for $34.2 million. These properties were 98.6% leased with lease expirations through 2039. The trust has seven properties under definitive purchase agreements, with a purchase price of roughly $169.5 million, expected to close from 2024 through 2027.

The board of directors passed a 0.5% increase to the quarterly dividend to $0.46 per share, or an annualized rate of $1.84 per share. CHCT has increased its dividend every quarter since its IPO.

Community HealthCare Trust was made public in 2016, so there exists only seven years of complete financial results from which to base future estimates off. In the five-year period from 2018 through 2023, CHCT grew funds from operations by 10% annually, which is quite strong. Even throughout the COVID pandemic, the trust continued growing.

We expect that the trust can increase AFFO per share at roughly 7.0% annualized growth rate beyond 2024. The trust will grow its healthcare property portfolio through acquisitions of non-urban healthcare facilities, which provide stable revenue growth and long-term cash flows. CHCT avoids urban properties to avoid the competition from other REITs, which increases its potential for more attractive risk-adjusted returns. The trust acquires primarily individual properties worth between $5 million and $30 million. Healthcare-related real estate rents and valuations are generally more stable than other property types due to favorable demographic trends and the rising demand for healthcare, regardless of the economic climate.

The trust's network of relationships in the healthcare market has allowed for CHCT to acquire healthcare properties in target markets from third-party owners of existing healthcare facilities, physician owners and with healthcare providers through sale/leaseback transactions. Existing shareholders can expect to be diluted over the long term, as CHCT has increased its outstanding shares by 8% annually over the trailing five years. Despite this increasing number of shares, FFO growth still came in strong over that period, so CHCT appears to be making good investments.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/AFFO	---	---	14.5	18.0	18.4	23.7	21.5	21.6	15.2	13.5	10.9	14.0
Avg. Yld.	---	---	6.8%	6.1%	5.7%	4.2%	3.9%	3.5%	4.5%	5.4%	7.3%	4.5%

Since IPO, Community Healthcare has traded at an average P/AFFO ratio of 18.3. We peg fair value at roughly 14.0 times FFO. Thus, we believe shares today are undervalued, implying a valuation tailwind. The 7.3% yield today is above the average yield of 5.0%, which could further indicate that shares are undervalued here.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	---	---	---	111%	105%	99%	83%	78%	71%	72%	80%	63%

The trust's payout started off in dangerous territory above 100% of funds from operations. Still, the trust kept on growing the dividend every single quarter. As FFO grew over time, the payout ratio declined to fairer levels. The 83% payout ratio of 2020 was when the trust began covering the dividend with FFO, and it appears the payout ratio will continue to moderate as we estimate FFO to outgrow the dividend.

Community Healthcare is somewhat recession resistant, as it owns properties which must operate in both good and bad financial times, but this does not completely prevent the threat of its partners and tenants facing financial difficulties.

CHCT's competitive advantage lies in its management's strong network of relationships to take advantage of in making attractive acquisitions and its focus on non-urban healthcare properties which result in higher risk-adjusted returns, but we would only call this a moderately strong advantage amongst its peers.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Community Healthcare has a short track record of financial results; however, it has increased funds from operations in this time quite strongly. Additionally, the trust is dedicated to the dividend which has increased every quarter since IPO. We estimate that CHCT trades below fair value and offers 16.9% annualized total returns.
