Overview & Current Events

Expeditors is a global logistics company headquartered in Seattle, Washington. The company was founded in 1979 as a single-office ocean forwarder in Seattle. The company was publicly traded by 1984. Expeditors' services include the consolidation or forwarding of air and ocean freight, customs brokerage, vendor consolidation, cargo insurance, time-definite transportation services, order management, warehousing and distribution, and customized logistics solutions. Currently, the company has over 250 locations and ~17,500 employees worldwide. In 2023, the company reported $17.1 billion in revenue. The company has a market capitalization of $16.6 Billion, and the company has been growing its dividend for 29 consecutive years. The company is also part of the exclusive Dividend Aristocrats list, which has increased its dividends for 25 years or more.

On May 7th, 2024, EXPD reported first-quarter results for Fiscal Year (FY)2024. The company's diluted net earnings per share decreased by 19% to $1.17, with net earnings attributable to shareholders falling by 25% to $169 million. Operating income decreased by 22% to $215 million, while revenues declined by 15% to $2.2 billion. Despite these declines, airfreight tonnage volume increased by 4%, and ocean container volume grew by 2%.

President and CEO Jeffrey S. Musser highlighted the operational adjustments made since late 2022 to align with a broad marketplace reset. He noted that although the chaotic supply chain conditions of the pandemic have subsided, the industry remains volatile due to global conflicts, inflation, fragile economies, and uncertain demand. Musser emphasized the company's efforts to manage costs and improve efficiency in response to growing air and ocean carrier capacity, which continues to exert downward pressure on rates. He acknowledged the unpredictable nature of the freight market and expressed gratitude to the workforce for adapting to fluctuating volumes and rates.

Senior Vice President and CFO Bradley S. Powell reported a decrease in salaries and related costs by 8%, primarily due to lower commissions and bonuses aligned with reduced revenues and operating income. The company also reduced headcount by 7%, mainly through attrition, while increasing staff in information systems to enhance network security. Powell highlighted the company's commitment to investing in people, processes, technology, and strategic growth opportunities. Additionally, the company generated $257 million in cash flow from operations in the first quarter of 2024 and returned $361 million to shareholders through stock repurchases. Expeditors continues to navigate a challenging market with a focus on efficiency and strategic investment.

Growth on a Per-Share Basis

Over the past ten years, the company has seen earnings grow at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11.2%. It has decreased to 7.5% CAGR for the past five years. However, we see the economy slowing down; therefore, we expect the growth rate to slow down to about 2% for the foreseeable future. Net margin has expanded slightly from 7.9% in FY2022 to 8.1% in FY2023. This will help with to continue profit growth. EXPD has grown its dividend for 29 consecutive years, with a 10-year dividend growth rate of 8.9% and a five-year growth rate of 7.3%. We estimate future dividend growth to be 4% because of the earnings slow down. The company pays out dividends semi-annually. Most recent dividend increase was announced on May 7th, 2024, with a dividend increase of 5.8%.

Valuation Analysis

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	Now	2029
Avg. P/E	22.1	19.7	20.9	23	20	23	23.4	16.2	16.2	25.3	24.3	18.0
Avg. Yld.	1.5%	1.5%	1.6%	1.5%	1.3%	1.3%	1.1%	0.9%	0.9%	1.1%	1.2%	1.8%

EXPD shares have always demanded a high P/E multiple, averaging 21.0x for the past ten years. However, we will use a PE of 18.0x for our fair value estimate due to the slower growth expected. The company has a current PE of 24.3x, which is based on our FY 2024 EPS estimate of $4.86. This is above its 5-year average PE of 20.8x. Thus, EXPD looks to be overvalued at the current price. The current dividend yield of 1.2% is roughly in line with its past 10-year dividend yield average of 1.3%. While the dividend yield is not spectacular, it is very well covered with a payout ratio of 29% and the tendency to grow over time.

Safety, Quality, Competitive Advantage, & Recession Resiliency

Year	2014	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	2020	2021	2022	2023	2024	2029
Payout	33.3%	30.0%	33.9%	31.2%	25.9%	29.5%	25.6%	14.0%	16.2%	27.5%	29%	32%

Expeditor's competitive advantage is the global footprint and an extensive network of shippers and carriers, which produce a substantial value that would be challenging to replicate for new entrants.

During the Great Recession, EXPD decreased by 19% in earnings from $1.37 in 2008 to $1.11 in 2009. However, EPS bounced right back up to $1.59 in 2010. The company also grew its dividend during that period. There have been times when EPS came in lower than the previous year, like in 2012, 2016, and 2019. However, Expeditors adjusted and continued to grow earnings. EXPD has a strong balance sheet with a debt-to-equity ratio of only 0.2. The dividend is very safe; the dividend payout ratio has not passed 36% for the past ten years. Using Free Cash Flow, the company has a dividend payout of only 20%, which means that the dividend is very well covered with Free Cash Flow.

Final Thoughts & Recommendation

Expeditor has a long history of growing earnings and dividends. The company is expected to continue to grow its earnings for the foreseeable future and its dividend. We expect total negative return of $-(2.4)\%$ at the current valuation. As a result, we rate EXPD as a sell at the current price.
